Take heaven out of the next life and you have hell in the present life. Take hell out of the life to come and you will find it set up on earth. These human monstrosities of unbelief and antagonsm who do not believe in the just udgment of God and a doom of woe for the wicked, should be made to know the certainty of a speedy human judgment in deliberate righteousness, and the pains of hell should take hold of them here. Unbelief has robbed life of its support and the future of its anchoring hopes, by telling us that life is a cold valley between two barren peaks of eternal silence, and death is a blind leap into an unknown darkness. #### Accident or Murder?

The body of William D. Hollister, the American express agent at Oxford was found on the Michigan Central railroad tracks at 11 o'clock Wednesday night. The body had been cut in two by a passing train. There was a huge gash in one side of the unfortunate man's head, and this had led to talk of foul play. Hollister was last seen alive about 8:35 o'clock. He had been very ill all day, and the symptoms became aggravated in the evening. He had a money package to deliver to the express messenger on the 8:30 train for Detroit.

Although he was suffering greatly he made the trip to the station and delivered the package, which contained $750. Whether he received any money or valuable packages from the messenger is not known. None were found on his person or near where he was found. Neither was his receipt book in evidence. The authorities are of the opinion that his death was an accident.

Will Serve Life Sentence. Lucius A. Weeks has been found guilty of murder in the first degree for the killing of Mrs. Jennie Parish on the night of June 5 last at Flint. When said that he thought the jury had been prejudiced against him because of the shooting of the president. Judge Wisner told the prisoner that the president's assassination had nothing to do with it, and that under the evidence the jury could have arrived at no other verdict. He then sentenced the prisoner to Jackson for life at hard labor.

The murder was a cold-blooded affair. Weeks was jealous of the woman and shot her because she received attentions from a rival. Weeks is a married man. He broke down when sen-

At precisely 3:32 o'clock Secretary Root ceased his conversation with the president and, stepping back, while an absolute hush fell upon every one in the room said in an almost inaudible voice: "Mr. Vice-President, I," then his voice broke and for fully two minutes the tears came down his face and his lips quivered so that he could not continue his utterances. Mr. Roosevelt's voice wavered at first as he replied:

"I shall take the oath at once in accordance with your request and in this hour of deep and terrible national bereavement wish to state that it shall be my aim to continue absolutely unbroken the policy of President McKinley for the peace and prosperity and honor of our beloved country."

An Impressive Scene. The president stepped farther into the bay window, and Judge Hazel, taking up the constitutional oath of office which had been prepared parchment, asked the president to raise his right hand and repeat it after him. There was a hush like ment in his mental attitude towards death in the room and the judge read a few words at a time and the president, in a strong voice and without a tremor and with his raised hand as steady as if carved from marble, re-State Fair Association, states that this year's fair will be brilliant in the line of specialties. Judge Hazel broke t, saying: "Mr. President, please attach your signature." And the president, turning to a small table near by, wrote "Theodore Roosevelt" at the botom of the document in a firm hand.

"I should like to see the members of the cabinet a few moments after the others retire," said the president, and this was the signal for the score of people who had been favored by witnessing the ceremony to retire. As they turned to go the president said: "I will shake hands with you people, gladly," and with something of his old smile returning he first shook hands James W. The statute providing for the succession to the presidency requires that congress shall be convened in case a member of the cabinet becomes president, but the statutory requirement loes not apply to the case of the vicepresident being elevated to the presidency through the death of the president. It is believed that since the law does not call upon him to do so, the new president will not summon congress in special session, but will allow the affairs of the different departments to remain in their present hands until congress shall meet in constitutional session December 2d, less than three months hence. This precedent was set by President Arthur after the death of Garfield. President Arthur did convoke the senate in special session, but circumstances are somewhat different in the present instance.

The Unspeakable Turk.

Fifty Armenian revolutionists, ac cording to Turkish reports, recently set fire to the Mussulman quarters at Mush, Turkish Armenia, where fighting afterward occurred, the Armenians retiring toward Sassoun. Massacres by Koords have already taken place in the Dainizra district of Armenia: 12 villages were destroyed and only the young girls were spared. History does not record a persecution more cruel that that which the Koords have made upon the Armenians. In two years between the fall of 1894 and the spring of 1896, it has been estimated that 80, 000 were killed. The sultan makes no pretense of giving the Armenians as agreed when a commission of the powers was sent to investigate the massa ere of 1894. To make up for the 80,-000 Armenians who had been killed, he pardoned some 24 people of that counry serving sentences, and comnuted the sentences of 54, who were to have been executed, to life imprisonment. Also he agreed to appropriite a certain proportion of the state' taxes to them for the construction of churches and schools. This last part

India's Army Elephants. Elephants in the Indian army are fed twice a day. When meal time arrives they are drawn up before piles of food. Each animal's breakfast includes 10 pounds of raw rice done up in five two pound packages. The ride is wrapped in leaves and then tied with grass. At the command "Attention!" each elephant raises his trunk and a package is thrown into his capacious mouth. By this method of feeding not a single grain of rice is wasted.

WHAT IS ANARCHISM? Now that our country is suddenly brought face to face with a shocking a devoted lover of religion—not in any illustration of the practical working of anarchism, it is worth while to consider briefly what anarchism really means, and what it proposes to effect. Anarchism or nihilism, for the terms are interchangeable, originated in the speculative writings of Prudhon, a socalled French philosopher of the 18th century, but it owes its developmens as a system to Michael Bakunin, a he grew older he became more devout whether they had money or not, but Russian agitator. Anarchism is a rabid hatred of superiority which un- to all just need, and to many unrealimited despotism and aristocratic ag- sonable claimants. He died as he been to keep stock, cattle, horses and gression have engendered in visionary lived. His last words, "It's God's sheep, off the railroad track, which minds. It will hear of no authority in heaven or on earth, of no God, of sion of his whole life. no government, of no civil or moral law. It is a plant native to the atmosphere of despotic institutions and wholly foreign to the soil of free and republican America. To wipe out and destroy is the immediate goal it aims to reach by wading through rivers of blood if necessary. It proposes to bring about a glorious millenium by striking down every principle of social order, all rulers, czars, kings or presidents, and all laws by reducing the present fabric of society to chaos, out of which it promises to bring something-no one knows what. Therefore it says to its disciples, using the satanic utterances of the Goldman woman:

"Use all your strength, all your cunning, to beat down the social structure which the labor of ages has built up; sweep away utterly all present institutions, good, bad and indifferent alike, for if any of them survive they will be the germs out of which the old order will spring up again; destroy the nation, break up the family, and shake off forever the ties and sentiments they involve; destroy all churches, all creeds, all states, all laws, sanctions, obligations; strive ever onward says: toward confusion and chaos, in the blind faith that therefrom will issue that it is this kind of meat upon men mentioned above and put in The in the fullness of time a future in which minds like Czolgosz feed. Poor their places three good, whole-souled, 21st.

Such in essence is the creed of Bakunin, the awful gospel of annihilation, of ruthless political murder, vhich overruns Russia and creeping into southern and western Europe has at last crept over sea like a poisonous serpent to the shores of the land of Lincoln, of Garfield-of William McKinley.

A BELIEVER IN GOD.

President McKinley was a Christian. He loved and honored human nature; he feared and reverenced his Maker: he accepted Christianity with a simple faith; he believed in the church and its permanency in its ordinances and its ministry. The glory of his Christian character outshines even his great talent as a statesman. He was precise, dogmatic form, but in its righteousness, reverence and charity. He was a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church for many years.

He served for three years and soon came to be recognized as an able and fearless advocate of the people's rights and he succeeded in securing the passage of several measures of great benwfit. The abolition of fees in the of-Mco of the county clerk and the abolition of the joint power of the board of aldermen in the mayor's appointments were among those of special benefit to the city of New York. Another important work done by him was the investigation of the city govornment, and particularly the police department, in the winter of 1884. Another important service was securing the passage of the civil service reform Jaw of 1884.

It brought criticism and vituperation upon him, but he persisted. Navy's Assistant Secretary.

In April, 1897, Mr. Roosevelt was nominated by President McKinley to be assistant secretary of the navy. He pushed repairs on the ships and worked with might and main, forseeing a conflict with Spain. He left nothing undone to secure the highest efficiency in the navy.

On May 6, 1898, Mr. Roosevelt resigned this place to muster in a cavalry regiment for the Spanish war. Life in the west had made this a fitting ambition. As a hunter of big game, used to the saddle and the camp and an unerring shot with rifle and

With the Rough Riders. From the time of landing until the fall of Santiago the Rough Riders were giant figures in the campaign. Their work reached a climax on July 1, when Lieut.-Col. Roosevelt led the regiment in the desperate charge up San Juan hill. He had shared all the hardships of his men, and when he broke the red tape of discipline to complain of Gen. Shafter's camp and its dangers from disease the army was with him and the war department listened to his judgment. On July 11 he was commissioned a colonel of volun-

Elected Governor of New York. Scarcely two months later the new military hero was nominated for gov ernor of New York. In the convention he received 753 votes, against the 218 cast for Gov. Frank S. Black.

Col. Roosevelt entered into the campaign with characteristic energy. Men of all parties supported him and he was elected by a plurality of more than 18,000. His administration was very satisfactory to his state.

As reformer, official, military leader and state executive, he has carried his earnest dashing personality into it all.

As a Writer. As a writer of outing papers his varied experiences on the trail have served 'him well. In biography, his life of Thomas H. Benton and of Gouvernour Morris have been praised. Essays and papers dealing with political life have added to this reputation.

Of his latest work, "The Rough Riders" has been pointed to as "one of the most thrilling pieces of military history produced in recent years." When his name was first proposed for the vice presidency, Mr. Roosevelt declined the honor, preferring to remain governor. He finally consented, after much pressure.

Mr. Roosevelt's Family.

Mr. Roosevelt has been married twice. His first wife was Miss Alice Lee of Boston; the second, Miss Edith Carow of New York. He is the father of six children, ranging from 16 to 3 years of age.

His domestic life is ideal. Whether ensconced in winter quarters at Albany or New York, or at the famous Roosevelt home at Oyster Bay on Long Island, he is an indulgent father and romps with his children with as much zest as the youngest of them. The youngsters are known as the Roosevelt half-dozen, and all reflect in some manner the paternal characteristic.

All Bright Children. The oldest girl is Alice, tall, dark and serious looking. She rides her father's Cuban campaign horse with fearlessness and grace. The next olive branch is Theodore, Jr., or "young Teddy," the idol of his father's heart and a genuine chip of the old block. Young "Teddy" owns a shot gun and dreams of some day shooting bigger the train with the casket containing game than his father ever did. He Shallow Lakes for Fish.

Prof. Marsh of Wisconsin, in speaking recently of the peculiarities of Lake Winnebago, said that it is remarkable for its shallowness. Although it is about twenty-eight miles in width, it has a depth of only twenty-five feet. This is due to the fact that the lake's outlet is constantly deepening and that its inlet is gradually filling its bottom with a sandy or earthy deposit. But Winnebago's shallowness makes it remarkably rich in fish; indeed, it is one of the most productive known. Shallow lakes always have more fish than deep ones, chiefly, perhaps, because there is more vegetation on the bottom of the shallow one. Vegetation does not flourish in deep water,

To My Many Friends-I am pleased to make a report to you of the pleasant visit my wife and I had in Western Canada.

We visited the territorties of Alberta, Assiniboia, and Saskatchewan, and found them far surpassing our imagination, but little did I expect to find such rich, loamy soil, so much of it, and so uniform in its level prairie lay. I do think the soil of Canada as a rule equals if not excels the finest prairie farm lands of Indiana. The waters may subside here, but the Orinoco will be a raging torrent for days to come. I fear the ships that were on the river when the storm began are by now swept out to sea."

"Ah, the knife!" said Tempest. Well, if this is all, it must be made to do." Hastily seizing it, he crept again through the aperture, closed the panel carefully and went down into the underground passage and out in the terrible torrent.

Above the storm he heard a shrill scream as of a horse in mortal terror, and blindly following the sound as well as he was able to locate it, he soon found himself at the stables.

The stables upon which he had come were not the well-kept stables where the family horses of Salvarez were kept, but the sheds of the artillery and cavalry beasts. They consisted of little more than a long, peaked roof with outreaching eaves, supported by strong posts. Under this roof the horses stood tied in rows.

Tempest plunged in among them and severed the leather halters with quick strokes of his knife, and set the horses, one after another, free.

This took him some time, and his irm was weary when he had finished. When there was but one horse left, he flung himself upon its back, and, cutting the halter, clung to its mane, giving it perfect_liberty to go where it would.

And with an abiding faith in the sagacity of the beasts he had liberated, Tempest clung tenaciously to his position and was borne swiftly over the marshy, storm-beaten ground. (To be continued.)

As a young man he worked and starved in a garret, and disappointment preyed upon his nerves till he fell ill. A young actress, Mlle. de Brecourt, took compassion upon him, nursed him back to health, and introduced his work to the famous actress, Dejazet, through whom he was first acted. Sardou fell in love with and married his benefactress, whose death, ten years later, was the one great sorrow of his life. Sardou has made more money than any other dramatist, and he is probably the only man who ever gave Sarah Bernhardt a shaking. The incident occurred at a rehearsal, and at a period when the divine Sarah was less eminent than she is now. They differed as to the way in which a passage should be declaimed, and Sardou, losing his temper, seized the actress not reach it for a few hours at least. by the shoulder, and gave her a shaking. Memorial to the Man Who Opened Up the Japan Civilization. The amity existing between Japan and the United States was recently emphasized at Kurihama, where a monument, erected to Commodore Perry, the American naval officer who first opened Japan to the civilization of the western world, was unveiled. The memorial marks the place where Commodore Perry landed, in 1853, preparaholding the lantern to light his way, tory to signing the treaty which has resulted in the phenomenal progress made by Japan since that time.

The monument is a simple though enduring one. The shaft is a solid block of stone weighing 19 tons and the whole monument, the face of which is suitably inscribed, is 33 feet high. At the dedicatory exercises the officialdom of Japan was generously represented. The United States vessels the New York, New Orleans and Yorktown, were represented. One of those taking part in the ceremonies was Rear Admiral Beardslee who served under Commodore Perry at the time of the landing.

Congressman Bankhead's Statement. Congressman J. H. Bankhead of Alabama, one of the most influential members of the House of Representatives, in a letter written from Washington, D. C., gives his indorsement to the great catarrh remedy, Peruna, in the following words:

"Your Peruna is one of the best medicines I ever tried, and no family should be without your remarkable remedy. As a tonic and a catarrh cure know of nothing better."-J. H. Bankhead.

Samuel R. Sprecher, Junior Beadle Court Angelina No. 3422, I. O. O. F., 205 High St., Los Angeles, Cal., writes: "I came here a few years ago suffering with catarrh of the kidneys, in search of health. I thought that the climate would cure me but found that I was mistaken, but what the climate could not do Peruna could and did do. Seven weeks' trial convinced me that I had the right medicine and I was then a well man. I know of at least twenty friends and members of the lodge to which I belong who have been cured of catarrh, bladder and kidney trouble through the use of Peruna and it has a host of friends in this city."-Samuel R. Sprecher.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.
