Tired Nervous

When you feel languid, tired, nervous and irritable, your vitality is low—your supply of nerve energy exhausted, and your system running down for lack of power.

The organs of the body are working poorly, or not at all, and you are not getting the nourishment needed. This soon impoverishes the blood and instead of throwing off the impurities, distributes it all through the body. This brings disease and misery.

Feed the nerves with Dr. Miles' Nervine, a nerve food, a nerve medicine, that nourishes and strengthens the nerves, and see how quickly you will get strong and vigorous.

"My wife suffered with nervousness previous to a recent attack of typhoid fever, but after her recovery from the fever, she was much worse, and could hardly control herself being exceedingly nervous when the least excited. She was very restless at night, and never had a good night's rest. She also suffered much from nervous headache. Dr. Miles' Nervine was recommended by a friend. After the first three doses she had a good night's rest, and at the end of the first week's treatment she was wonderfully improved. Continued use of Nervine has completed her entire cure."

1021 Cherry St., OTO KOLB, Evansville, Ind.
 Dr. Miles' Nervine is sold by your druggist, who will guarantee that the first bottle will benefit. If it fails, he will refund your money.
Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind.

Mrs. W. D. Hinkley received word this week of the serious illness of her brother, Beecher Myers, at Mexico City, Old Mexico. He was twenty-six years of age and his untimely death will cause sincere regret.

The last issue of the Sanilac Republican contained the following paragraph under Justice Court items: "Thos. Agar of Evergreen was tried before Justice Dawson the first of the week charged with assault by Jessie Lozee of the same place. Discharged." Mr. Agar is considerably incensed at the reports which have gained circulation regarding the affair, and states that they are positively without foundation, as shown by the result of the trial, and he believes it to be an attempt at blackmail.

A. A. Livingston announces an auction sale of his farm stock and implements at his farm three miles south and one and one-half miles west of Cass City. Mr. Livingston has decided to leave the farm and just recently he completed a deal with A. L. Bruce whereby he becomes the owner of the latter's stock of general merchandise at Deford. Mr. Livingston is well and favorably known and the Chronicle joins with his friends in wishing him success in his new venture. Mr. Bruce who has done a thriving business in Deford for many years says that he expects to engage in business elsewhere. Mr. Livingston takes possession of his newly acquired property Oct. 1.

A BIG PEACH CROP.

Tuscola county is not a peach growing country, but a drive through any section of it will convince anyone that there is an abundant crop of peaches wherever there are trees, says the Tuscola County Advertiser.

Representative McKay who was at the big peach festival at St. Joseph recently says that not in ten years has southwestern Michigan produced such a large crop as this season. This peach yield has no record in statistics. So bountiful has been nature that human agencies seem unprepared to reap the rewards for man. Growers are worried over the prospects of securing sufficient help to harvest their crops and transportation companies admit that their facilities cannot guarantee the proper handling of shipments.

In peaches, Kent county has always set the pace for the entire state, with Allegan a close second, but as a general fruit center Berrien county is entitled to the honor of the "garden spot of the fruit belt." Every variety of fruit has given a yield above the average with the exception of apples. Heavy rains during the blossoming season almost entirely wiped out the crop.

With an estimated total of 308,584 acres of fruit under cultivation in Michigan the crop will represent an estimated value of $6,750,000 to the growers. This amount divided would give something over $2.25 to every man, woman and child in the state.

"Did you tell Mabel of my engagement?"
 "Ye-es, but I told her not to tell it to a soul."
 "That's exactly what she says every time she tells it."—San Francisco Examiner.
