

A FEW FACTS!

There is a Great Advantage in Buying where you have the Largest Stock to select from.

The chances of securing What you Want and at the Prices you Want to Pay are greatly increased. The store selling the most goods gets the lowest prices in buying.

The firm that buys goods up in to the thousands can buy much cheaper than one buying a few hundred.

It is therefore not necessary to emphasize the fact that if you are in want of BOOTS, SHOES, SOCKS, FELTS and RUBBERS there is no place where you can do better as the following prices will show:

Men's Boots at $1.75 and upwards.
 " Calf Boots 2.00
 Women's Lace Shoes 1.00
 " Button Shoes 1.00

IS THE PLACE TO GET

GOODS CHEAP.

Too Much.

Professor W. O. Atwater, director of the agricultural experiment station at Washington, read a paper before the American Public Health association in Brooklyn, in which he declared that we Americans eat too much by half. His paper was a thoroughly convincing one. He showed how Americans eat far more than Europeans. Especially we eat too much meats and sweet stuffs. Dr. Jerome Walker had found that children were much better off for not eating all their appetite craved.

The true rule has been declared to be to eat just as little as will satisfy the hunger, without consulting the appetite. Following this rule, the quantity of food can in time be lessened one half, with the greatest advantage to the general health. When one begins to lay on fat over his muscles it is a sign he is eating too much, and he should slack up at once. Fat, according to the latest school of hygienists, is a disease, and a thoroughly uncomfortable and unsightly one.

Other doctors at the meeting declared with equal force that we dress too heavily and warmly in winter. In fact, we pat too much both on the inside and outside of us. We clog the skin and weight ourselves down by our thick and heavy clothing, and give nature no sort of chance to keep us warm. Consequently nature weakens and we suffer.

What did our prehistoric ancestors, who had no clothes at all to speak of, do? They certainly did not freeze to death or we would not have been here. Not Light clothing and brisk exercise, which warns us from the inside instead of the outside, and a light quantity of food, is the way to be healthy, wealthy and wise.

Cook Atkinson.

Mr. Edward Atkinson is known as the fairest idealist of his time. Lately, however, he has put one of his best ideas into the shape of an apparatus which may revolutionize old cooking methods. He calls his contrivance the Aladdin oven. Its design is to utilize the heat of an ordinary kerosene lamp for cooking, and the design is wrought out effectually. While one sits and reads by a lamp, or does other work, his food is thoroughly and deliciously cooked by the heat given off from the lamp at the same time. The oven is constructed of wood pulp, faced with tin. All kinds of food may be cooked with the apparatus. The saving in fuel, dirt, ashes, space, smoke and hullabaloo can hardly be computed.

Mr. Atkinson, unlike many reformers, uses his own machine at home. He also delivers lectures, exhibiting it in operation. One was given before the American Public Health association recently.

Will the Mormons Leave Utah?

There is rumor of a vast movement among the Latter Day Saints to gather together their household goods, shake the inhospitable dust of the United States from their feet and migrate in a body to some realm where each Mormon may have as many wives as his conscience dictates. Negotiations to this end have been in progress with Mexico, but for some reason they have been broken off, and now the Saints are looking elsewhere. It is said the Argentine Republic has offered them handsome terms, the prejudice against many wives not extending, apparently, to the South Americans. Mr. E. G. Sprague, an artist who spent some time sketching in Utah, asked a Mormon boy of 13 who the president of the United States was. The boy replied that it was George Q. Cannon.

It is not unknown that the Prince of Wales has expressed doubts whether he would ever reign over England. Recent reports of his health seem to justify his doubts, even though there should be no political revolution in England—not yet awhile. It is said now that the prince certainly has Bright's disease. Strange it would be if, like Emperor Frederick, of Germany, the English crown prince should go to the grave in the flower of manhood. What would England do then? But Victoria bids fair to live many years yet. She appears to have a better constitution than her weakling male descendants, probably because she has taken better care of herself. Her greatest shortcoming, next to her avarice, is said to be a weakness for British ale.

The negro question in the south becomes more and more serious. It amounts simply to this: There are several millions of people in the south in a state of poverty, ignorance and shiftlessness. The color of their skin is of no consequence, one way or the other. They are increasing in numbers; they swarm in idleness through the southern cities, where there is not work sufficient for them. What, in time, will become of them and the white people in whose midst they are? Plainly the thing to do is to educate them and put them to steady work, and make them do it. The best statesmanship of the whole country must grapple with the subject.

Kansas has raised the largest crop in the history of the state this year. It is pleasing to record that the number of marriages have increased proportionally. In all nations, the marriage rate is a reliable index to the prosperity of the country, rising and falling with that. It is not out of place to hope that the Kansas divorce rate will not also increase accordingly.

There are now 200,000 tramps in this country, 60,000 of them boys. This, too, is at a time when city schoolhouses will not accommodate the pupils sent to them. The two facts go well together.

AROUND THE STATE.

"Minty" Ostrander, convict from Oakland county, climbed Jackson prison walls Monday and escaped. He was a "trusty" doing two years for burglary.

Mendon citizens banqueted Postmaster Ben. F. Osgood on his return from Grand Rapids, where he was acquitted of the charge of robbing the mail.

The case of John Cudily of Grand Rapids charged with attempting to assault criminally a little girl on July 20, has been adjourned 27 times and will next come up for trial Nov. 30.

Owing to the state law which regulates the size of net mesh to be used by fishermen the catch of white fish this year is wonderfully improved and increased on Lake Michigan shores.

Last week David Vandertill, of East Saugatuck, cleared at the customs house in Grand Rapids two boxes of books in the Holland language from Amsterdam, Holland, paying a duty of $40.20.

T. Schute of Marine City, aged 22, while at work coaling a steamer on Saturday night, fell from the gang plank into the river and was drowned. The body was recovered Sunday afternoon.

James Andrews, an old pioneer resident of Pontiac aged 91 years, died at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. Abiram Parker, on Monday morning. During many years in early times he was a successful foundryman and had accumulated considerable property.

John T. Leary, a Flint & Pere Marquette switchman of East Saginaw, while attempting to jump on the front board of a switch engine late Saturday night, fell across the rails and was run over, crushing both legs so as to require amputation above the knees. He died at 10 o'clock Sunday. He was a single man, 27 years old.

Joseph Schrott, convicted of manslaughter at the last term of the Huron County court, was brought before Judge Beach at 5 o'clock Monday and was sentenced to confinement in the state prison at Jackson for a term of eight years. The court room was filled with spectators while the judge was pronouncing sentence. The prisoner exhibited no emotion. Wm. Clark, convicted of sheep stealing, was sentenced to Ionia for two years.

Steps preparatory to a general option election are being taken in various parts of Van Buren county. Committees are now engaged in circulating petitions which, as soon as the required number of signatures is obtained, will be presented to the supervisors at a special meeting in December who will probably order an election early in 1890. Under the first law Van Buren was the first county to act and carried local option by 3200 majority.

Duane D. Burdick, for years engaged in business as dealer of meats in East Saginaw, was declared hopelessly insane a few days ago and was soon to be taken to an asylum at Guelph, Ont. His physical system had been undermined, and for some days, most of the time, was confined to his bed. Shortly before 6 o'clock Saturday morning he escaped from his nurse and from his house, and ran down toward the river. Reaching the Thompson street crossing he deliberately and quickly laid down and placed his head on the raised front of a freight car which was being switched, and was run over, his head being severed from his body. Deceased was highly respected and had been a resident of Saginaw for 30 years. He was 52 years old and leaves a wife and one child.

A dispatch from Big Rapids dated the 23d inst. says: Particulars of a terrible outrage are just received. Geo. Jackson, a young man, works in a mill at Sherman City. His wife, aged 19, keeps house on a little property in the township of Fork, this county. About 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon a tramp, about 35 years old, stopped at house, which is a mile or two from any other habitation and demanded food. It was readily furnished, and after eating the same the fiend feloniously assaulted the woman. Telling her he would be back in an hour and would kill her if she spoke he left the premises. As soon as the woman got over her fright she made her way to the mill and informed her husband. By dark the alarm had been sounded and the male population began a search. This has been going on till to-night when Constable McKaine of Fork came here for a warrant to get the sheriff and his force out. The whole township is up in arms and swear to lynch the fellow if they catch him. Mrs. Jackson is reported to be seriously ill.

WOMEN IN EUROPE.

That a Yankee Working Woman Saw While Among Them.

Mrs. Barry Says Their Social Condition Is Much Inferior to That of Our Working-Women—Sees in Three Cities—"Thank God I Am an American Woman."

Women in Paris are employed as waiters, theater ushers, dressmakers, cloak makers, tailors, milliners, flower-makers, saleswomen, etc.; at there are few manufacturing or productive industries employing women in this large city, mostly all such work being done in the country towns of France...

I saw very many women in Paris packed into carts, hauling market produce and merchandise of all kinds. Sometimes the woman pulled the great lumbering cart unaided, but sometimes she was assisted by either a dog or a monkey.

At Crefeld, in Germany, noted for its silk industry, I visited several looms in which silk is manufactured, and here the methods are an entire departure from any I have seen.

For weaving the finest quality of lowered silk—360 threads; three colors—an operative gets 2 marks and 20 pfennigs per meter.

In Scotland I saw women working in brick yards wheeling and piling bricks; also binding grain; but as this was while on route I could glean very little information concerning them.

As far as my observations went, the social condition of the European working-women is much inferior to that of American working-women. They seem to receive a secondary consideration in all the countries we visited.

In Paris there seemed to me to be little or no home life, as all classes of society seemed to find their homes on the boulevards.

Among the poorer classes of Paris, where father and mother are both employed during the day, night lodgings are all the home the family enjoys.

New York has its Mott, Orchard, and other streets where poverty and its kin—sin, misery, and vice—abound, but they are not to be compared to...

places where similar conditions exist in other countries. Manchester has its Angel street, London its Strand and Whitechapel district, Paris its Rue St. Antoine, Brussels its Market square and surrounding alleys, Rotterdam its Hoog street, Edinburgh its Cowgate and Grass market, and Glasgow its Argyle street and Glasgow green, in all of which a similar strata of society may be found, some worse than others, it is true, but all a blot upon the Christianity, civilization, and progress of the afternoon of the nineteenth century.

In conclusion, let me say, none who read these lines will feel how incomplete and inadequate they are to the requirements of the subject more than myself. But one thing I will say, without fear of contradiction, and that is to my sister working-women of America, that no woman of any land enjoys the same privileges and opportunities that we do...

Can You Tell Me? Can you tell me why this should be, In every land, on every sea, Why sun should always shine for some And shadows over others come?

Can you tell me why honest toil Should be defrauded of the spoil; Why poverty, and grief and pain, Should be so great, and sweetness small?

Can you tell me why buds unmade Should blossom, and then droop and fade; Why little children, pure and free, Should sin with men and women be?

Can you tell me why woman's lot Is so ill-cast, and man's is not; Why she, the weaker of the pair, Must still the greater burden bear?

Can you tell me when all is done, The curtain dropped at set of sun, Why man of men speaks words of praise When he needs not the wasted lays?

—John G. Temple.

Something About Western Lumber. The great lumber-producing states of the west are Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota. White pine is the principal timber, with spruce second.

On the Pacific Slope the chief lumber-producing points are along the coast from San Francisco to Puget Sound, the timber consists chiefly of pine (so-called, though really fir) and redwood—the fir being the great lumber-producing material, and resembling the so-called pine of the gulf states.

Thought It Was Meant for Him. Just before the train going east left Buffalo a heavy-set, red-headed man with a grip-sack, got into a dispute with an engineer at the door of the baggage-room.

The driver knew the voice. He evidently feared Boone May far more than the robbers. "Geedap," he shouted to the horses, and the team dashed into the shallow but rapid stream.

The train started and rushed along for fifty or sixty miles, and then something gave way on the engine and we came to a stop. It was 11 o'clock at night, and the brakeman who ran back fell into a ditch and broke his leg and lantern at the same moment.

Accommodating. Gotham lady (to guest): "I am obliged to apologize for our drinking-water. The Croton water, never very good, is worse than usual since the heavy rains."

A TERROR TO ROAD AGENTS.

How Boone May Ended the Career of a Desperado. New countries develop wonderful men. The Black Hills is no exception to the rule.

Boone's greatest adventure on the road occurred in the fall of 1878. One Towle, a noted desperado, had robbed a Union Pacific express train near Green river. He was as cool and determined a cutthroat as ever appeared in the west.

The Green river robbery made the Union Pacific road too hot for the gang. It broke for the Deadwood line. Towle had his eye leveled at the treasure coach. At that time it carried from $50,000 to $250,000, and left Deadwood twice a month.

They dashed after the stage at full gallop. Old Woman's Fork was fifteen miles away. Boone and Zimmerman were a few rods behind the coach when the fork was reached.

It is impossible to estimate the number of deaths among women for which the use of arsenic is responsible, owing to their secrecy in using the drug.

Cracks in Pretty Woman's Lips. Early in the autumn the winds cause fissures or cracks in the lips that are not only extremely unpleasant to look upon, but are exquisitely painful.

Didn't Go Out. Judge Underwood of Belleville, Ill., was a gallant soldier in the confederate army, says the St. Louis Republic.

Like Any Other Standing Army. General Booth says the Salvation Army has 2,700 societies, 8,000 officers and an annual income of $4,000,000.

The American Highway.

Elsewhere this morning is printed a synopsis of an address at Syracuse yesterday by Col. Albert A. Pope of Boston on the subject of improvement of highways, to facilitate travel of all kinds.

The enormous increase in railroads has resulted in a proportionate neglect of ordinary roadways. The average country road is far from being what it easily might be, and even its present condition is not maintained in an economical manner.

The earliest communities to recognize and act upon this truth will be the first to benefit by it.

Throughout this state and the whole country are farms, eight or ten miles from the railroad, whose value are at a minimum, yet which, were the roads intersecting them of the first class, would at once rise in value were they twice as far from steam transportation.

The Sidewalk Question.

EDITORS ENTERPRISE: I am very glad to get an answer to my questions as to "why this was thus" in sidewalk matters, even though it is by asking other questions.

1st. Why was the sidewalk on West street not built in 1887? The council of 1887 commenced in good faith, but found the ordinance relative to sidewalks defective, and as some of the walks would have to be built by the village and the cost of construction levied upon the property improved, which tax could not be collected under a defective ordinance, it became necessary to frame and pass a new set of ordinances.

2nd. Why was the sidewalk on West street not built in 1887? Now, will the president tell us why it has not been attended to in 1889? The village is out of debt, money in the treasury and all summer to do it. Do not answer by asking a lot of questions, but give it to us straight, and then ask all the questions you choose. Mr. DeWitt is very much shocked at my saying the people on West street were foolish in obeying the order of the council and still having to walk in the mud.

In the spring of this year a walk was ordered on the south side of church street, between Segar and Oak streets. The council of 1887 or '88 had nothing to do with it, the summer has been fine, money in the treasury and all the conditions have been favorable.

PROBATE ORDER.

State of Michigan, County of Tuscola ass. At a session of the probate court for said county, held at the Probate office in the village of Caro on the twenty-second day of November, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-nine.

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the condition and payment of a certain mortgage, whereby the power of sale therein contained has become operative, made and executed by E. W. Gerrish, J. F. Street, J. R. Hooper, A. P. Cooper, N. M. Richardson, Riley Ross and Wm. N. West, comprising the board of trustees of the First Universalist Parish of Caro, Michigan.

D. S. WHEAT Attorney.
