INTERESTING AND IMPORTANT ITEMS IN BRIEF.

The Lady Maccabees Will Organize a Supreme Hive of the L. O. T. M .--- Benton Harbor and St. Joseph Have a Quarrel---Items.

Supreme Lodge L. O. T. M. The lady Maccabees have made all arrangements to institute a supreme hive, auxilliary to the supreme tent of the K. O. T. M. The list of officers has not yet been completed, those from other states not having been elected, but the following have already been chosen: Past supreme commander, Miss Leota L. Becker, Saginaw; supreme record keeper, Miss Bina M. West, Port Huron; supreme finance keeper, Mrs. Kittie C. Warner, Flint; supreme medical examiner, Dr. Mary M. Danforth, Muskegon.

The Twin Cities Quarrel.

Benton Harbor is now at loggerheads with St. Joseph over the sewer age question and the question is likely to occupy the attention of the courts for some time. Contracts were let sometime ago to lay new sewers from this place to the St. Joseph river, but in order to reach that point it was necessary to go through the streets of St. Joseph. The people of that town objected to this and the work was stopped by an injunction from the cir-cuit court.

His Head Blown to Pleces.

Timothy E. Evans, a miner at the Black Biamond in Sandstone, near Jackson, aged 23 years, went out hunting. Failing to return a searching party was organized late at night and after hours of search the body was found in Martin Bradford's field with his head liberally blown to pieces. He had evidently attempted to get over a fence and his gun had been discharged. The charge entered under his chin and tore the head and face in a frightful manner.

ally fine in Monroe county. Warden Davis of the state prison is seriously ill with bilious fever Peter Barbier, of Edwardsburg, is the owner of a violin 200 years old. John Oli of near Hancock, accidentally shot himself, dying shortly after. St. Clair county is talking of building a new court house to cost $100,000. The value of the city of Cadillac for purposes of taxation is placed at $1,216,125.

An Ishpeming man has been arrested on a charge of habitually horse-whipping his wife.

Potatoes are a good crop in Otsego county, and the price being good farmers are happy.

Mana N. E. Ed mistook laudanum for tonic. The doctors saved her.

A dog poisoner is doing a wholesale business at Muskegon. J. Stearns of Ludington, has purchased 75,000,000 feet of pine in Wisconsin.

An Indian basket factory, employ-ing 200 hands is to be moved to Pentwater. Forty thousand dollars' worth of fine horses were killed in a freight wreck near Dallas, Tex. It is estimated that $1,500,000 will not cover the cost of Chicago's Columbus day decorations.

Mrs. N. E. Edmonds, of Burlington mistook laudanum for tonic and the undertaker barely missed a job.

Wright & Ketcham, of Saginaw, have 231 square miles of big spruce timber on the St. Lawrence river.

Alex. Clermont, 84 years old, walked from Depere, Wis., to attend the World's Fair dedicatory exercises.

John Palmer, the Owosso wife-beater, who was recently flogged by white caps, has had three of his assailants arrested.

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union for the Twelfth district held a convention at Marquette. About 50 delegates attended.

James W. Ferguson, deputy post-master, of Battle Creek, dropped dead Thursday. He had been in the postal dopartment 20 years.

Henry May Brent, aged 50, for seven years charge d'affaires and minister of the United States to Lima, Peru, was found dead in bed at Bay City.

Mrs. Martin Hitzelberger, a noted character of St. Joseph, attempted to put an end to domestic trouble by taking a dose of morphine. She will live. Superintendent Potter of the Car-negie Steel company, of Homestead, Pa., has been succeeded by C. M. Schwab of the Edgar Thompson mills. The Y. M. C. A., of Atlanta, Ga., through Gov. Northen, has extended to President Harrison resolutions of profound sympathy for the illness of his wife.

Walter Graham, a non-union miner, was shot and slightly wounded by masked men at Gem, Idaho. It is thought his assailant was a discharged union man.

Hawks, the railroad employe who on Aug. 15 killed his wife and wounded her paramour, at Baldwin, has been convicted of murder in the first degree and sentenced to Jackson for 15 years.

350 Beautiful Ceremonies at the Chirstening of the Little Daughter of the Emperor and Empress of Germany---Terrible

Flood Visits a Village in Sardinia.

Victoria Louise.

The ceremony of christening the infant princess born to the German emperor and empress on September 13, took place in the Jasper gallery of the Potsdam palace. Doctor Dryander, superintendent of the Lutheran church, officiated. The empress surrounded by her six young sons, the Princes Friedrich, Wilhelm, Adalbert, August, Osear and Joachim, sat beneath a baldachin of red velvet, which had been placed in front of the altar at which the christening was performed. The emperor led the grand duchess of Baden into the gallery, and after them followed a brilliant train of princes and notable personages. The grand duchess of Baden held the princess in her arms during the ceremony.

The whole affair was invested with much pomp and solemnity, the emperor evidently desiring that his only daughter should receive all the honor which the occasion warranted. The names bestowed on child were Victoria Louise the first being the name of the emperor's mother and the other that of his father's sister, the grand duchess of Baden. Rt. Hon. Sir Edward Malet, the British Ambassador to Germany, represented Queen Victoria, who was one of the princess' numerous and distin-guished godparents. The persons se-lected for this function numbered 16. The water which was used in administering baptism was brought for this purpose from the River Jordan.

HUNDREDS DROWNED.

A Town on an Italian Island Depopulated -Something of the Place.

Rome cable: A most appalling calamity has befallen the village of San Sperate, situated a short distance from Cagliari, on the Island of Sardinia. It is estimated that not less than 200 of the villagers have been drowned. The flood swept through the village with sudden fury and in a moment the streets became rivers that carried verything before them. Houses were lifted from their foundations and whirled through the streets like corks. Their occupants did not have an opportunity to attempt to save them-selves. Many of them were asleep when the torrent came and they were awakened only to find themselves struggling in the water. Men, women and children were drowned before an effort could be made to save them. Half the houses in the village were swept away. The place is isolated by the flood and access to it is difficult. Sardinia is the largest island in the Mediterranean sea after Sicily and forms with its surrounding islands a

A DEMOCRAT VICTORY

FAMOUS MINER LAW UPHELD BY THE SUPREME COURT

Of the United States, and Now the Presidential Electors Will be Selected by

Districts---The Finding of the Michigan

Supreme Court Confirmed.

The United States supreme court, by Chief Justice Fuller has affirmed the judgment of the Michigan supreme court, upholding the constitutionalty of the famous Miner law, providing for the election of electors by congres-sional districts instead of by the state as a whole. The court holds that the fourteenth amendment did not limit the right of a state to fix a mode of choosing electors.

'Chief Justice Fuller in announcing the conclusion of the court in the case said that the court made the announcement at this time because of an exigency suggested by counsel requiring early action. Hereafter the court would file a full opinion setting forth more fully the grounds on which it had decided the case. In his brief an-nouncement of the decision the court said that in the case of McPherson vs. Blacker, the secretary of state of Mich igan, in which was drawn in question the public laws of the state of Michigan (the Miner law providing for the election of presidential electors by con-gressional districts and for the election of electors-at-large by dividing the whole state in two parts), the 'supreme court of Michigan had ruled adversely to the plaintiff in error upon the validity of the local law. In so deciding the federal ques tion was necessary to be passed upon and the validity of the constitution and laws of the United States had been drawn into the question because of this federal question. The chief justice said that this court ruled that it has jurisdiction of the case under section 709, revised statutes (the Democrats having raised the point that the question was one of local law, in which decision of the state court was final.)

Having established its jurisdiction in the matter, the court then dashed to pieces the hope of the Republicans, who had appealed the case from the Michigan supreme court, by affirming the decision of the Michigan court, which had ruled that the Miner law was constitutional. The chief justice said that the court ruled that, in view of the language of the clause of the constitution giving to state legis-latures the right to determine the method of choosing presidential electors and of the contemporaneous construction, it cannot now be held invalid for want of power in the state legislature to pass such a law. The following is the full text of the preliminary opinion rendered by Chief Justice Fuller in the Michigan case: No. 1170. McPherson et al. vs. Blacker, secretary of state. In error to the supreme court of Michigan. We are of opinion that the objections to act-No. 50 of the public laws of Mich-igan of 1871, based upon matters of local law, having been ruled by the supreme court of Michigan adversely to plaintiffs in error, whose conclusions in that regard we are not authorized to revise, the decision of the federal questions involved was necessary, and the validity of the law as repugnant to the constitution and laws of the United States having been drawn in question and decided, and the decision being in favor of its validity, this court has jur-isdiction under section 709 of the revised statutes. 'The judicial powder of the United States extends to all cases of law and equity arising under the constitution and laws of the United States and this is a case so arising, for the reason just stated We concur with the supreme court of Michigan that so far as act No 50 conflicts with the act of Congress of February 3,1887, in the particulars pointed out and in respect of which congress possesses the power to legislate, it is inoperative only to that extent, but that the act is not for that reason void and may stand as so modified. We also hold with that court that in view of the language of the second clause of the first section of article 2 of the constitution, and the contemporaneous and subsequent construction of that language in practice, this act can-not be now held invalid for want of power in the state legislature to provide for the appointment of electors of president and vice-president of the United States, as therein prescribed, and we are clear that that clause of the first section of article 2 has not been changed by the fourteenth amendment to the constitution and Oa Ry Ba Mc La that this act is not obnoxious to the objection on the ground of conflict with that amendment. We make the announcement at this time because of an exigency suggested as apparently requiring immediate action under the state statutes and will hereafter file an opinion stating fully the grounds of this decision. The judgment of the supreme court of Michigan is affirmed and the mandate will issue at once. Wholesale Naturalization. Five hundred Swedes were made American citizens in a bunch at Rockford, Ill. Headed by a band and the stars and strips, and each wearing a small American flag on his breast, they marched through the street to the court house, where they took out their naturalization papers. Gen. Poe and the Lake Waterways.

Fen. Poe, engineer in charge of the river and harbor work on the great lakes has submitted his project for the deep waterway scheme between Buf-falo, Detroit and Chicago and as soon as it is approved by Acting Secretary Grant, Gen. Poe will be authorized to advertise for proposals for the entire work. It is estimated that the aggregate cost will approximate $2,000,000 and that it will require three or four years to complete it. It is under-stood that Gen. Poe's plan pur-poses to deepen the upper end of Ste. Mary's river above the canal, and the lower portion between the foot of the locks and the Bay lake channel, to dredge out a 20-foot channel through Mud lake and in such other places as may be necessary through the Georgian bay, then to come down and deepen the canal through the St. Clair Flats and the channel in Lake St. Clair where necessary. After that the up-per and lower end of the Detroit river need attention and when all this is accomplished, there will be a first-class. channel of a uniform mean depth of 20 feet between Buffalo and Chicago, and Buffalo and Duluth.

WEEKLY TRADE REVIEW.

WEEKLY TRADE REVIEW. New York, October 24.-R.G. un & Co., in their weekly review of trade say: There is still no cloud in the business sky, unless the state of foreign trade be one. All home trade is of enormous volume, making an aggregate of bank oxchanges outside New York thus far in October never equalled in the same month of any previous year. Prices are low, but merchants are prossing for more business at the same rates. All domestic industries are crowded with orders, and works as a rule are fully employed, many being pushed to overlime by the urgent demands resulting from an unprecedented distribution of goods. Money markets are fairly supplied, and there is reason to hope that some return of gold from Europe is not far distant. Speculation has not been very active, except in cotton. Wheat is 12 cents lower; corn 1 cent and oats ½ cent with moderate trade, and oll 1 cent lower, bur pork products and coffee are higher. Coppor is stronger. Stocks have a turn of wealeness since proceedings began angainst coal carrying roads, but the decline for the week averages scarcely half a dollar per share. The business failures occurring throughout the country during the last seven days number 203. For the correspond-ing week of last year the figures were 247.

THE SEXTON'S STORY.

For some time I had heard the ominous muttering of the distant with the beauties of the scenery that I had not realized the fast approach. ing shower cill the first great drops which herald the coming tempest pattered around me, now and then one striking me and going through my tain summer coat.

I looked up and saw that I was just passing the gate of a country cemetery, and a short distance from the gate 1 espied a clump of trees, under which I thought I might find temporary sielter from the dash of rain that I knew would soon be upon me.

Passing through the gate. I went up the pathway a short distance and discovered a rustic house in the conter of the group of trees which I had seen from the road. I started toward this house, when a flash of lightning nearly blinded me.

When I recovered from the shock, the clouds had gathered so thekly that I peered into darkness as I approached the rustic hou c. As I was ontering the door an apparent appartion arose before me, and 1 started back at the sight of an old man, all in white, with a long, snow-white beard and hollow eyes, who looked as if he m ght be the tenant of one of the old graves near by.

But a welcome from him, uttered in a ve y pleasant vo.ce, reassured me, and I entered just as the shower burst in all its fury.

As I took a seat beside the old man, he said:

"Rather a dismal place to be caught in a thunder shower. isn't it?"

"Well yes " I answered. "It 's so. I am glad I have company. But how happened you to be here at this time? if I may ask.

"Why, certainly you may ask such a quest on. I am here to prepare a place for one of my tenants. You see I have been secton of this cemetery for 40 years and I have come to

. For a long time the girl refused to comply with this demand, but at length when it became evident that her father could not recover, she consented.

"And so Thomas died. and it was understood that his will provided that Edward, and in case she passed her cousin he would take the property the same.

"As Edward grew older he showed signs of dissipation, and after a few years it became a common thing for him to go home at a late hour in the night, very mu h under the influence thunder, but had been so absorbed of liquor. A path ran up through the cemetery where that driveway is and this made a short route from the village below to the Edmunds mansions on the hill. This path Edward used to travel when returning from the village.

"During the night we had a heavy thunder shower, and in the morning when I came down everything looked unusually bright in the clear, morning sunlight. I came up the path and started back in astonishment to see a man lying in the bottom of the grave. On close examination it proved to be Edward-dead. He had probably wandered aside from the path in the darkness, and falling, h s head struck the opposite side of the grave, breaking his neck.

·1 hurried down to the village for help, and there I found great ex citement prevailing. Squire Edmund s mansion had been suruck by lightning the night before and both the old gentleman and his invalid wife had been killed. One chimney was demolished and the end of the mansion hadly shattered, but no fire was discovered.

abroad. Thus it fell out that young Bosworth and Enna Penleath dwelt under the same roof for some half do en years, till in fact, the former was aged sixteen and the latter eleven.

No one took more pride in Roden's advancement in his profession than Colonel Bernage; and when. after his return from Italy, the young painter intimated his intention of settling in London and making his future home there, the colonel had the rooms in the clock tower at Sandycroft specially fitted up for him, and insisted upon his occupying them, if not as a permanent home, at least as a cosy pied-a-terre, which would always be kept in readiness for him, and whence he could wing his flights to London or otherwise, as his vagrant fancy or the needs of his profession might dic-

> CHAPTER 111. Complications.

It was the fact of Miss Penleath's marriage, imparted by Mrs. Bosworth to her son while he was on a visit to her about a month previous to the opening of our narrative, of which no faintest suspicion had ever entered the young painter's mind, that had so changed the current of his mner life.

It may here be remarked that Mrs. Bosworth had never forgiven herself for her, share in Miss Penleath's marriage. Her objections to it had been overridden, in part, by Enna herself, after she had once made up her mind to the step, and in part by Darvill's specious protestations, and his assurance, repeated again and again, that four or five months at the most should see his marriage made public, and himself back from Egypt to claim his bride. Bitteriy did Mrs. Bosworth rue the part she had played in the affair the far-reaching consequences of which were now beginning to make themselves seen and felt.

It had been arranged that Captain Darvill should write to his wife under cover to Mrs. Bosworth, who would repost his letters to Enna. For two years the letters reached her with more or less regularity, but at the end of that time there came a break of three months, then a solitary letter, and after that silence the most absolute. For eight months no line written by her husband had reached Enna. Those were days of mental lotuseating for the young wife, to whom. with every month that passed, the image of her far-away husband was becoming more vague and impersonal -more of a myth and less of a reality. She asked only that they should go on, that nothing should interpose to break their sweet, placid continuity. When the awakening came it was sharp and sudden. One morning. about a fortnight prior to the 18th of April, Colonel Bernage received through the post a copy of the Times, in wh ch was a certain marked para. graph. The paragraph in question was an announcement of the marriage at Florence of Captain Vivian Darvill devising the sum of six hundred Pendleton, Esq., of Rio de Janetro." After sundry e aculations the colonei read the announcement aloud.

Surgery in Japan.

Surgical operations are very successful in Japan, and the healing process is rapid, owing probably to the abstinence of the people from alcohol and their not being flesh eaters. The Japanese are unsusceptible to scarlet fever and smallpos, which was rife among them having been checked and almost exterminated by voluntary vaccination. The mortality of Tokio. a vast city which covers 100 square miles of ground, is only 20 per 1,000. The infant mortality is high, owing to the too early exposure of new-born children. look on all the inmates as my tenants."

I looked a little way from where we sat and the pile of fresh earth indicated the place where he had made preparation for the new tenant. Another blinding flash of lightning made me involuntarily start, and as the peal of thunder which followed died away I said:

.Forty years! that's a long time. I suppose you could tell some interesting stories from your experience here?

•Yes," answered the old sexton; "if I had the faculty of story-telling I could find enough to make many stories."

.Whose grave are you making ready now?" I quor.ed. "Mrs. Trescott's," he said;

musing manner, and I asked:

"And who might Mrs. Trescott be?" The old sexton sat in a study for a moment, and then replied:

"Who was Mrs. Trescott? Well. I'll have to begin at the beginning. Sixty years ago Thomas and Robert Edmunds came to this town from England. The two men were brothers and had married sisters. Thomas, the eldest was a widower with one daughter, three years of age. Robert's wife was an invalid, and their family consisted of a son, also three years old.

"These two brothers built those two houses that you can get a glimpso of over the tops of the trees yonder. The houses stand side by side, and in the rear between the two stands a gardener's house, where lived Richard Trescott, a gardener whom the Edmunds brothers had brought with su e your father intended to make them from England. Richard Trescott's wife was a thorough lady, and they had one son, Richard, Jr., four years of age.

"The two brothers built the large woollen mill which you passed just below here, and for many years the business went on. The brothers intended that Edward and Alice should wed at an early age, and the property thus be kept in the family.

Richard Trescott had been gardener for the family for many years in England, and had succeeded his father, and so he had grown up with the brothers. It was only natural. therefore, that little Richard should he the playmate of Edward and Alice.

•All was well for several years but when the cousins were 12 or 13 years of age a slight trouble commenced. Edward had a hasty temper and an overbearing disposition, and so, on account of his superior standing and the knowledge that Alice was his intended wie, a jealousy was aroused by the strong friendship existing between Alice and Richard and this jealousy had frequent outbursts.

Young Richard was a manly fellow, and stood Edward's insults in a shall marry." -calm and quict manner, never resontjing any of his indignities.

hill. .At the funeral Alice was accom-

"The next day after the funeral Alice received a note from the lawyer. summoning her to call at his office.

Good morning. Miss Edmund. said Lawyer Atwood, as Alice appeared in answer to his summons I beg pardon for intruding in the midst of your sorrow; but there is a matter of business which must be attended to very soon. I believe your 21st b rthday will occur next Monday. will it not?"

"Yes, sir,' answered Alice.

... And I suppose you understand that the desire of both your father and your uncle was that you and your cousin Edward should be married. and so keep the property in the family?'

·· · do, ' Alice replied.

"Now.' continued the lawyer. your Uncle Robert's will provides that Edward shall inherit all his father's property at the age of 21. In case he died before that age it should come into your possession on your 21st birthday. That gives your uncle's half of all the property to you nest Monday. But your father's share stands in a peculiar manner. In case of your death be ore the age of 21 it was to go to Edward; that part of the will is clear; but knowing that the objection to the un on was all on your part, and wishing to make this union provisions that if you passed your 21st birthday without marrying Edward the property should pass into his hands. Of all this you are aware. but your father also willed that at Edward's death your portion of the property which he had inherited should go to the town to found a hospital and a public library.

...According to these provisions you would inherit your uncle's part of the property next Monday and your father's part would go to the town. .Here the lawyer hesitated a moment and then continued: ... I don't like this way of forcing young people to marry against their will, and I don't think a promise wrung from one at such a time as your promise was made should be binding. I have studied your father's will carefully, and I find that the language used in the document leaves. by a technicality one chance for you to ac uire the whole property.

" The will provides that if you pass your 21st birthday "without sight, it does not specify whom you punish you."

.And with a pleasant good-morning' the lawyer bowed Miss Alice out. tion of his anatomy.

CHEWING GUM.

Parts of Its Make-up Are Secrets Known Only to Manufacturers.

A great many false statements have been made as to the composition of ordinary chewing gum. Of course, where spruce gum is used, everyone knows what the basis of it is, and the article is sold to-day pure and in good quality at from .0 cents to $1.50 per pound. Most of this gum, ac cording to the Indian Rubber World. is gathered in the Green mountain regions of Vermont, and is sold through the West, as other kinds are n ore popular on the Atlantic seaboard. The gum, however, that is sold from candy stands and in drug stores to day is of totally different origin, and, as a rule, it is a manufactured product. To a certain extent this is a secret, as all India rubber compounds are secret to ordinary ob ervers." What is known as Yucatan gum is male of gum chicle, sugar and a variety of flavors. with certain ingredients which are kept secret, but help to make a homogeneous mass. The flavors that are used are pepermint, wintergreen, licorice, pineapple and some few medicinal ingredients

Experts in chewing gum manufacture can tell in a minute whether good havors are used, whether the best gum is incorporated and just what the quality of the compound is, but in o.der to tell this accurately they are obliged to test it by chewing. The gum has a certain quality of sugar added to it to sweeten and say it means that the plague will to ridicule that his conduct when make it palatable. It will be noticed that in chewing gum, alter it has been in the mouth awhile. the sugar and flavor is entirely gone, and what remans is the rubber-like product, which is the chicle gum nearly pure. WORLD'S FAIR BUILDINGS FOR-MALLY TURNED OVER

To the Country-An Event in American History-The Spectacle of the Marching Soldiers and the Dedicatory Exercises Magnificent Beyond Description.

CHICAGO, Oct. 22.-The ceremonies of the Columbian week reached culmination this after their noon in the dedicatory exercises at Jackson Park. Under the noble roof of the manufacturers' hall the all but completed Columbian buildings were formally tendered by the local corporation to the national commission and then to the Vice President of the United States (acting for the Presi-dent), who in turn dedicated them in impressive terms to the memory of the great Genoese and the honor and glory, of the republic. And thus the Columbian exposition passed at length into the keeping of the nation. No circumstance, save only the lamentable absence of the President of the United States, was wanted to contribute to the solemnity and impressiveness of these ceremonies. On the rostrum where they were enacted sat 2,000 of the choicer spirits from every quarter of the globe. The Vice-President was fianked by the memof the Cabinet of his bers gathered for the first chief. time in the history of the government at a point a thousand miles removed from the capital. For the first time, also, since the republic was born, the Chief Justice and his associates of the Supreme Federal bench came together outside of their court. The Senate and the Representative House of Congress sat together almost en masse. The chief officers of the army and navy were present, surrounded by the flower of their respective staffs. One of the two living ex-Presidents of the United States held a seat of honor. Uncle Sam's preliminary to the great crowning event of months of labor, the dedication of the world's fair, in the shape of a beautiful military parade and review, at Washington park today, was an unqualified success. Fully 50,000 people thronged that beautiful pleasure ground, and in undulating lines checked by hempen ropes an inch in diameter the citizens and strangers added their cumulative shouts of approbation to the reverberations of the nineteen ear-piercing salutes from the cannon of Rodney's battery, located parochial schools formed an important behind a clump of trees north of the part. Gen. M. D. Leggett acted as mere. It was a battle of Gettysburg on a level moor without the clash of troops, the whizzing of grape and cannister and the shouts of the wounded. Chicago was never more fortunate enough than to witness a review such as Emperor Frederick would inspect at the great maneuver grounds at Charlottenburg, but the review in the 200 acres of meadow at Washington park was by far the grandest that this city has ever seen. Imagine any fifty guard mounts that you have seen at State or military encampments and place them all before your eye in the perspective of 200 acres, and a fair conception of what Gen. Miles' review was to-day can be gained.

The dedicatory ceremonies were formally opened by the performance of Prof. John K. Paine's "Columbus March and hymm," in the manner of Wagner's 'Kaiser March.". It is a stirring composition, full of stirring effects, and well calculated to awaken the echoes of patriotism in the soul of every hearer.

After the opening march Bishop Charles H. Fowler, D. D., of California, offered a magnificent prayer.

When Bishop Fowler had closed his eloquent prayer and the orchestra had made the immense building echo again and again with the strains of beautiful music, Directer General George R. Davis, as master of ceremonies of the dedicatory services, made the introductory address, telling of the cause and the aims and objects of the Columbian exposition.

When Col. Davis had concluded his address he introduced Mayor Hempstead Washburne, who tendered the freedom of the city to the guests. When Mayor Washburne had finished his address of welcome and the guests in the great building felt that the town was theirs, Mrs. Sarah C. Miss Lucy Younglove. of Bad Axe, is visiting friends here at present.

A flag floated over the school house last Friday. Two yeterans, the teacher and 36 scholars saluted it. The exercises were patriotic and interesting.

W. J. Williamson will raise his barn one day this week if all is well.

A number of our people went over to Canboro last Monday evening to hear Major Henderhot drum and tell about Lou Rickor's mule.
