The death of H. P Mahoney occurred about three weeks. He had been in poor health for a number of years past, illness was brought about by a trip he made to Quanicasee, journeying thither on horse-back. The deceased has been a resident of Elkland township for about eighteen years, and was sixty-four years old at the time of his demise. The Journal says: 'Bad Axe,' the ong gaunt target of funmaking senators is no longer stationed at the door, but a man with whom there will be no foolng, George H. Bussey, of Detroit. Mr. Bussey has an excellant military appearance, and possesses a tact seldom seen in an official occupying his position. At this season when benign peace has an inning, and brotherly love is in the very air, the City of Mexico takes a place in the vanguard. It is announced that Yale will hereafter require an acquaintance with English literature as a condition of studential admission. This is pretty tough on the boys. ENGLISH courts have been for some time endeavoring to settle an estate of $2,000. HYDE PARK, one of the suburbs of Chicago, has been enjoying a cheap quality of an illuminant known as water gas. This gas is an odorless. fluid which has a way, now and then, of insinuating itself into a dwelling and destroying the inmates as thoroughly as would a dose of hydrocyanic acid. It has thus taken possession of several Hyde Park dwellings and as a consequence several Hyde Park people have received the tender attention of an undertaker. The kind of gas that ordinary nostrils can not detect the instant it begins to escape is a dangerous kind to fool with. and that is precisely the kind water gas is.

Good Roads an Important Question-The Miner Bill is Faulty---Free Passe Frowned Upon---State Institutions.

In compliance with the time honored custom I respectfully submit for your consideration the following suggestions and recommendations:

GOOD ROADS.

This important question is now attracting widespread attention. Its im-portance can hardly be overestimated. In these days of sharp competition farmers cannot afford to stand a four months' mud embargo on the getting of their products to market, nor can they afford to take one-half the weight they would with good roads at other times. What is true of farmers is true of all who do business with farmers, or have occasion to use the roads either for bus-iness or pleasure. My predecessor, in his inaugural ad-dress, strongly recommended that some action be taken for the improvement of the highways, which took form in the appointment of a highway commission, whose report will be laid before you, and of which I ask your careful considera-tion. While it is possible you may not conclude to adopt all the recommenda-tions made by the distinguished members tracting widespread attention. Its im-

THE MINER BILL, SO-CALLED. The last Legislature passed a law for the election of presidential electors, by single districts, instead of, as formerly here, and the almost universal custom elsewhere, on the general ticket. In the early history of the country this plan was practiced to a considerable extent, but gradually gave way to the plan of electing all on the general ticket. One of the reasons claimed for the discon-tinuance of the district system was that it gave the state no standing in the na-tional councils, and it certainly does have this effect. Michigan now has fourteen votes in the electoral college, or one-sisteenth enough to name the President, which gives us a commanding position in the nation, but if five belong safely to one party and six of the other, then there are cally three to contend for, and it reduces our influence in the ratio of this district system, in the abstract it should be adopted in all the states or none. This act has been construed by the highest judicial tribunal in the land to be constitutional, notwithstanding the universal practice of sixty years to the contrary. It is not for me to question either the correctness of wisdom of this decision, but my attention has been called to a great danger which may arise from the decision in thus conferring almost unlimited control over this matter on the Legislature, and to such other per-sons or boards as they may delegate this power to. Hon, F. A. Baker, one of the eminent counsel employed in this case before the Supreme Court, believes that the Legislature has power to declare the elector and alternate elector for President and Vice-President in those districts where they are not in accord with the majority of the people of this state, as shown by the votes cast at the last election, vacant, and to provide for the filling of these vacancies by men in accord with the majority of the people. If this can be done, and should be done, so that the Michigan electors should all cast their votes in accordance with the dominant party in t the election of presidential electors, by ELECTION LAW. The present election law is a great im-The present election law is a graat im-provement over the one in force previous to its enactment, but I would respect-fully recommend that in order to secure greater accuracy and remove opportunity for fraud, a law be passed providing for a separate board for counting the ballots; that the boxes be changed in the middle of the forenoon, at noon and in the middle of the afternoon; that as soon as the count of the first box is completed it shall be the duty of the canzasing board to put up in public view a bulletin showing how the vote; stands, and as soon as the several boxes are counted have the result bulletined at once. When the polls close there will be but few votes to count, and by 6 o'clock the result can be known, and as the result of the vote up to 3 o'clock has already been made public, there is little opportunity for mistakes or decep-tion. The board canvassing during the day's work as inspectors of election, is of itself a guaranty of fewer mistakes and greater accuracy in ascertaining the re-suit, and as it will inspire confidence it will reduce the number of demands for recount, with the expense and hard feel-ing engendered, in which the defated candidate and party invariably charge fraud. The expense would be but little if any, greater with two boards than with one, because the work would all be done in one day, for which under the present law usually two days' time is pald for. provement over the one in force previous present law usually two days' time is paid for. If the state canvass is made on the third Monday in November, instead of the second Monday in December, it will tend to accuracy as well as an early settle-ment of the election.

as the board of world's fair managers for the State of Michigan. This board consists of six members, the Governor ex officio, and a secretary, who have proceeded under the provisions of the act to erect a state building on the grounds and to make appropriations for an exhibit of the products of the farm, factory, forest and mine. They can do certain things with the amount already appropriated, make our people confortable while there, and make a fair exhibit. There are, however, certain in-terests, notably the vast live stock in-terests of this state, that will not be represented as they should be without a small additional appropriation. This interest is a very important one to the state, and should be encouraged. The expense of exhibiting there is very large, and few men can afford to exhibit on their own account. Unlike a manufactur-er, who is advertising for the sale of an unlimited stock, breeders are in the nature of things advertising a very lim-ited stock, and yet in the state. The board will submit on account of their expenditures, and an itemized estimate of the amount yet needed to do justice to our citizens and to keep our state up with her sister states at this exhibition, when the representatives of the nations of the earth will be present to view us and make comparisons. I recommend the appropriation of such an amount, under proper safeguards, as may be needed to carry out these objects. INSTITUTIONS.

Michigan now has seventeen state institutions.

Reformatory-State Prison, Jackson; State House of Correction and Reform atory, Ionia; State House of Correction and Branca, of State Prison, Jackson; Lansing; Industrial Home for Girls, Adrian. These institutions, with their millions of permanent investments, and the large amount which is appropriated by the Legislature for their maintenance speak highly for the people of this state, who have so generously contributed of their means for educational institutions which istan decond to none in the country. No state or country ever dealt more gen-erously by the unfortunates within her boundaries than has Michigan. Her pris-ons and reformatory institutions are abreast of the times. Notwithstanding this almost unparal-leled provision for the unfortunate, fur-ther provision in some directions is ur-modations for insane are inadequate to medational accommodations for their care. The feeble minded and epi-leptics should also be provided for. While additional accommodations for these classes just noted are urgently needed, we have a surplus of prison room, nor is it probable we shall need it all for some time to come. The ques-tion whether the insane is worthy of your consideration. Besides, the saving in re-modating this building instead of build-ing another is the reduced cost of keep-ing prisoners when there are several hundred over that where but 100 are kept is on be necessary to have shop room and machinery in order to employ her in-mates. This is already provided at Jack-son and Ionia. These institutions are all needed, and are worthy of the care and support of the sam

are increasing. While every absolute need should be supplied, yet, in view of their numbers and multitudinous wants the same care should be exercised in making appropriations for their support that a practical man should exercise in his own business, so that a dollar in value is received for every dollar ex-pended. Things not absolutely needed may safely be postponed until they are needed. In other words, it is not neces-sary to finish them all this year, as oth-ers will come after us to care for their needs as they arise. For many years the government and control of our institutions has been by boards for each institution, who have either served gratuitously or for a mod-erate per diem compensation when ac-tually employed in the performance of their duties. In the case of the regents of the university and the State Board of Education a constitutional provision preseribes their powers and duties and lixes their compensation. During the more than fifty years this system has been in operation in the state each year has given additional evidence of the wis-dom of our predecessors in establishing it. Two years are the was changed, and all the institutions, except the asy-lums for insane, were placed under the charge of two boards. This system has been on trial but two years, and it is claimed by its advocates that it has not had a fair trial. That there is some force in this claim I do not deny. The boards are now composed of some of the very best efforts for the benefits of the in-mates of the institutions under their con-trol. Now, as to the benefits derived from the charge of a paying the paying the more the institutions of the regresed after paying the point of the in-mates of the institutions under their con-trol. In this claim I do not deny. The bornds are now composed of some of the very best cliizens of the state, who have given their best efforts for the benefit of the in-nates of the institutions under their con-trol. Now, as to the benefits derived from the change. After paying the salaries there has been no saving in expense of super-vision. I have not been able to learn of anything done by the rew board for the benefit of the institutions or their in-mates that could not or would not have been done by the old boards, and in the nature of things they could not be as fa-miliar with the control and management of the several institutions as the old boards would with the one institution. I think a system of boards, whose members serve without compensation except ex-penses, has more to recommend it than any other. Experience has shown that members become acquainted and interest-ed in the institution under their chargo, and they give the matter a painstaking care which cannot be purchased with unter become acquainted and interest-et in their own family and home affairs. In view of the number of institutions and their liability to loss or damage by lirc. I respectfully recommend that pro-vision be made to meet such an emer-gency without calling the Legislature to-gether, by providing that the Governor and Board of Auditors can authorize the for this, it would have been necessary from the fact that the state carries no insurance. In the case of the damage to the East-ern Asylum the board was able to rebuild on account of surplus earlings on hand But for this, it would have been necessary to have called the Legislature to gether, This is scene cleasing the for the state carries no insurance. The law passed by the last Legislature changing the method of inspection of illuminating oil has not reduced the price numinating out has not reduced the price to consumers, but has impaired its illu-minating qualities, and the loss of much property and some lives are directly trace-able to its use. As a large majority of our people are dependent on its use for light-ing purposes, it is hoped that no time will be lost in providing such a test as shall make it safe for use, and at the same time sive it greater illuminating power.

TAXATION OF RAILROAD COMPA-NIES. We have in our state a few railroads which were pioneers of their kind and whe have in our state a few rairoads which were pioneers of their kind and were granted special charters with special privileges. They are to-day among the most prosperous of our great system of railroads. They have contributed much to the growth and prosperity of our state, and have reaped a golden reward therefor. They have now become an aristocracy or privileged class of rairoads, both as to rates charged and taxes paid. This con-dition is unjust to the general law roads, and unjust to the general law roads, and unjust to the general law roads, and unjust to the people et the state. A state is no more justified in a breach of contract than an individual, but in some instances the railroads have themselves broken the contract, and when this has not been done the charters themselves provide a means for their repeal. It only needs to be stated that railroads, like in-dividuals, should be governed by the same laws and be subject to the same burdens for the support of the government. I trust this question will receive your early and careful attention. QUARANTINE. It is not unreasonable to expect a visi-

It is not unreasonable to expect a visitation of cholera to this country during the coming year. Several of the main the coming year. Several of the main lines of railroad run through this state, and the increased travel from the old country to the Columbian Exposition will menace the danger to the people of this state. The necessary legislation should be enacted to place unquestioned authority in the hands of some state authority for effective quarantine, and at the same time not unnecessarily interfere with travel and business. An amount sufficient to carry out the provisions of such an enactment should also be made. STREET AND HIGHWAY CROSSINGS STREET AND HIGHWAY CROSSINGS

OF RAILROADS.

The increase in number and speed of trains and the increase in the amount of travel on our streets and highways make the need of some more adequate protec-tion at these crossings more important. The Commissioner of Railroads is author-ized to order gates and flagmen at such crossings as he may deem necessary. This is a difficult and delicate task, and by far the most responsible duty which the Commissioner of Railroads is called upon to perform. All grade crossings are dan-gerous. The expenses involved prevent ordering gates to all crossings, and it is a very delicate question to determine just where a crossing has become dangerous enough to require protection, and in any event the system is an expensive one to railroad companies and by no means pro-vides for anything like absolute safety. The Commissioner is also authorized to provide for the damage done to adjoining property when the approaches extend be-yond the right of way of the railroad com-pany. In some of our larger citles there is now rains and the increase in the amount of

CARSON & EALY DEAD MUTTON. But It Gavo the Butcher Boy the Liveli-SUCCESSORS TO A. T. SLAGHT & CO. est Kind of a Kick.

An amusing incident in which a leg of mutton, a festive butcher boy and a wandering current of electricity figured, took place at a meat market in a Western city latery.

The market in question is a onestory building with an iron front, and over its roof pass many electric wires, certain of which are, by means of insulators of course, attached directly to the iron front. One of these wires which conveys the subtile fluid by which the market was lighted became detached from its insulator on the afternoon in question, and thus came in contact with the iron front of the building.

From a steel hook on one of the iron door posts there depended the aforesaid leg of mutton, as tender and inviting as though it were a section of Mary's little lamb itself. when, after being fed chiefly on kindness and good advice by Mary and her teacher, it had reached maturity and the butcher after the manner of its kind.

This particular leg was intended to become a piece de resistance in the Sunday menu of a certain hotel, at which local epicures are wont to congregate. It was moreover to be taken to its destination at a late hour in the afternoon or early in the evening. Thereby hangs the tale of this particular sheep and the butcher boy. The day was . cold and dark and dreary-it rained," and at an early hour the shades of night came on apace. With these shades came, as usual, the electric current whereby the city is illuminated, and following -less rapidly, however-came the butcher boy for the mutton. When the current reached the market where the wire was detached it spread itself in great shape, and though the proprietors do a cash business this wandering current took the opportunity of charging the entire front of the building and the mutton depending from it, which had probably been charged enough for before.

The butcher boy came when this overcharging had been accomplished. and, advancing with outstretched arms, prepared to deposit the mutton in the cart. He grasped the leg, but instantaneously a change came over his spirit, for he gave one wild, weird property when the approaches extend be-yond the right of way of the railroad com-pany. In some of our larger citles there is now an urgent demand for some means to avoid the danger, annoyance and delay incident to these grade crossings. It would seem that the time has come when some provision should be made by law for the separa-tion of the grade of streets or highways and railroads, which should have in view the gradual but final abolition of grade crossings of streets or highways and rail-roads. Such a law would be in the in-terest of true economy in maintenance and operation on the part of railroads, and a saving of time, annoyance and life and limb on the part of railroads, and a saving of time, annoyance and life and limb on the part of the people. You are intrusted with the vast re-sponsibility of legislating for two and a quarter million of people. It is for you to determine what laws shall be passed for their government and control, how much and for what purpose money shall be appropriated, and who shall be the rep-resentative of this great commonwealth in the highest legislative body in the world for the next six years. was found first the most fertile and easily tillable land. Later, the river, if deep enough, furnished means of reaching the outer world by boat and ship navigation. Still later, waterfalls were utilized to furnish power. The invention of electrical power, into which all other power may be changed and stored, has changed this. States that have great water power will in the future find the cheapness of stored electricity giving its people great advantages for all manufacturing enterprises, and undoubtedly in time for doing many kinds of work on the farm that now must tax human and horse muscle.

THE intermittent general protest in the press against the custom of tipping has recurred. The protest is grounded on reason, but it is quite useless nevertheless. The practice has been imported from Europe and it is here to stay. It is spreading year by year, and will continue to spread. "I don't believe in tipping, but I always tip," remarked a gentleman, and he accurately expressed the attitude in of the average American who is able to pay for what he wants. Time was in this country when the proffer of a tip would have been resented by any waiter, barber or other citizen of the republic who made his living by rendering personal service. But with the increase of population and wealth and progress toward the social organization of the old world that spirit of manly independence has disappeared.

Mone reprehensible than the idiotic practice of discharging "unloaded" firearms is that of locking children in a house while parents or guardians seek pleasure elsewhere. From a boy he was a close observer of nature, and when only 19 years old, in the remarkably cold winter of 1799. he experimented by putting snow and salt, together and noticed that it produced a degree of cold equal to the coldest day of the year. The Sandycroft Mystery.

DY T. W. SPEIGHT.

As Ivor Penleath had said, the best trained brains in England should be set to work to ferret out the truth; meanwhile, it seemed to him that the next step to take was to see his Uncle Godfrey and enlighton him as to the fresh complexion which the affair had assumed since the meeting of himself and his sister in New York. Accordingly, Ivor and Enna went down to Sandycroft by the evening that without me be would be of little gruesome object of old Osawatomie s train, leaving Mrs. Bosworth and Roden together. Ivor had telegraphed the news of their proximate arrival. and they found the brougham waiting for them at the station. That both

Nothing was said by either Ivor or ner was over, and Uncle Alwyn had retired to his own room to smoke his dearly-loved, after-dinner pipe. Byand-by he would reappear, and then ho and his nieco would sit down to their customary game of backgam-mon, which had been perforce intermitted during Enje's absence. Brother and sister, between them, now proceeded to tall their tale.

A little ejaculation now and again was the colonel's sole comment till the narrative had come to an end. Then he said: "The story you have just told me is a strange one, but not more strange, perhaps than one or two other romances in real life which have come under my notice in the course of a rather wide experience of the world and its ways. Of Noden Bosworth, what can I say, except that his action has the ring of true heroism about it. To do what he did necessitated courage of a lar higher kind than that which is needed-say-to carry offen wounded comrade under a heavy fire from a battle-field."

There was something in her uncle's mood which Enna lailed to understand. She had looked to see the light of a great gladness shine out of his eyes when Roden's inno ence was made clear to him, instead of which his face expressed a sadness such as she had rarely seen on it before.

"Of course." said Ivor, "the first thing to be considered is what steps it has now become needful to take in order to track down the real criminal."

As the colonel was crossing the hall a little later, one of the servants came up to him carrying the Croft post-bag. "The evening post has only just arrived, sir," said the man. .. It seems the mail cart broke down two miles this side of Sherrisford, and that it was some time before the driver could got assistance. He says, sir, that he hopes you wont be put to any inconvonience by the delay."

The colonel nodded to the man as understanding what he had said, and taking the bag, emptied the contents on the table. In all there were only some half dozen letters and newspaers. Conspicuous among the lot by its bulk as by its appearance was a square, black-edged envelope, scaled with a big splash of black wax, which the colonel at once picked out from the rest. Before proceeding to read the letter the colonel glanced at the signature, and started as ho did so. Then he sat down and began to read it, leaving all the other contents of the bag unheeded. He had just finished the letter and taken up the sheets of foolscap, when a servant came to announce that the brougham was in readiness. Not till half an hour later. not till he had read the last line of this singular document which had come to him in the black sealed envelope. did Colonel Bernage rise from his chair. When he did so, although his face was paler than usual, there was a glad light in his eyes, such as had not shone out of them since the night when he came on Captain Dary.II's dead body in the smoking-room. Oh: thank heaven - thank heaven for this." he exclaimed fervently. . Do they not say that the darkest hour of all is that which procedes the dawn? And so it has been in this case. At longth the cloud is lifted-at length the mystery is solved. What happiness to find my poor Alwyn guiltless! And Rodon too! What a change tomorrow will bring to him-to all of us! Oh, thank heaven!" The door opened softly, and Enie. with her pale face and great luminous eyes, stood on the threshold. She had come in search of her uncle. For a moment or two she stood looking at him, and he at her. Then with a little cry, she sprang forward. . You have heard some good news, uncle. I can read it in your eyes." she ex-He put his arms round her, and drew her to him. and pressed his lips to her hair again and again. . Oh. my dear-my dear! STOCKBRIDGE AGAIN.

CHOSEN UNITED STATES SENA-TORBY REPUBLICAN CAUCUS.

One Ballot all that was Cast to Make the Choice which was Made Danimous-Hen. Cyrus G. Luce Makes a Hard but Futilo Fight.

The hardest battle, for the position of United States senator from Michigan, which has been fought since the overthrow of Zach Chandler has taken place at Lansing. Senator Francis B. Stockbridge and ex-Gov. Cyrus G. Luce were the leading candilates and they and their friends had been hustling ever since the Repub-lican victory in Michigan at the last election.

Matters were at fever heat when the caucus of legislators gathered to make their selection. State Senator Clapp, of Battle Creek, placed the name of Hon. Francis B. Stockbridge before the caucus and Mr. Ewing, of Hillsdale, did like honor for Hon. Cyrus G. Luce, while Mr. Chamberlain, of Gogebic, suggested Jay A. Hubbell. Several others were mentioned and seconded and a rising vote was taken which resulted as follows: Irancis B. Stockbridge, 48; Cyrus G. Irancis B. Stockbridge, 48; Cyrus G. Luce, 29; Jay A. Hubbell, 10; William Hartsuff, 2; J. G. Ramsdell, 2; O. L. Spaulding, 2; James O'Donnell, 1; B. M. Cytokcon, 1; J. C. Fitzgerald, 1. The sole was then made unanimous.

An Heir Wanted.

Hemans Wood, of Chelsea, has riches thrust upon him just now. Mr. Wood is trying to ascertain the whereabouts of a lost heir. The particular heir Mr. Wood wants to find can have $7,500 by just standing up and being counted in. His name is J. Dunning and he was last heard from in Little Rock, Ark, three years ago. Since Mr. Dunning left this part of the country, his uncle at Unadilla, Ingham county, died, leaving $50,000 in cash and bonds. Of this $15,009 went by will to J. Dunn-ing's father. The latter being dead, the money falls to a sister of Mr. Dimining and to the lost heir, who is a locomotive engineer. Mr. Wood is administrator and has advertised all over the country for the lost heir. Dunn ing's former wife lives at Jackson. She has married again and has a daughter by the first marriage, who is her if her father is dead, which seems likely.

Wasn't So Green as He Looked. A bogus check drawn on the Potoskey City bank by the mythical firm of O. W. Smith & Co., in favor of L. W. Haight was for several weeks until a few days ago, the inoffensive and somewhat green-appearing young clerk in Wilson's grocery store, when he disappeared. Soon bogus checks began to make their appearance, cashed in various places but at first nothing could be found of his whereabouts or to connect him with them. Now it is learned that he deserted a wife when he went to Petoskey and that he abused the trust

CHRONICLE OF NEWS

OF THE TELEGRAPH.

The Governors of New York and Pennsylvania Make Some Very Interesting Hits

at Well-Known Abuses-Striking is Lawful-The Reading Combine Scored.

Striking is a Just Method to Obtain Justice Gov. Flower, of New York, in his message to the legislature of his state made some very strong points. Touching the Buffalo strike the governor announces the expenditure by the state to have been $192,647, and then adds: "Employes have the right to strike and peacably persuade others to join them, and in their carnest and lawful efforts to benefit their condition they may always feel sure that public sympathy is with them and against selfish corporations. But every citizen and corporation, every employe and employer must observe and respect the authority of law and government. Honest recognition by corporations of just demands from employes will solve many a labor difficulty and prevent The death of another convict at the many an opportunity for lawless strife and civil disorder." The governor urges the passage of a carefully guarded compulsory education law." He hits the coal combina-tion thus: "The consumers are at the mercy of the combination. It can raise the price of anthracite coal as high as it can find purchasers. The only apparent limit to the extortion is the refusal of the people to buy." Attention is given to election bribery, has broken out. He ordered the and the governor wants the corrupt penitentiary authorities not to allow a practices act extended to effect political agents and committees and he urges such legislation as will make proof of bribery on the part of candidates or their political agents or committees sufficient cause for forfeiture of office. On the subject of quarantine Governor Flower says: "I am not opposed to a national quarantine, but to an exclusive national quarantine. The place to detain cholera is on the other side of the ocean, not in New York Bay."

> Responsibility for the Homestead Affair, Gov. Pattison, of Pennsylvania, in his message refers to the spirit of insurrection at Homestead where, he says, "Under the plea of correcting abuses, civil authority was suspended and the officers of the law were defied." The use of the national guard at Moorewood cost the state $35,350 and at Homestead $430,056.

"There was really no effort made on the part of the civil authorities to sup-press the disorder. The entire community seemed to surrender to the dis-orderly element. At the beginning, 50 determined men, moved by a love of order and a patriotic spirit, would have suppressed this whole disturbance. I therefore suggest to the legislature that the costs incurred in suppressing local disturbances in which the civil authorities call upon the military power of the commonwealth should be placed upon the county calling for troops. In this connection legislation should be made looking to the prevention of the introduction of armed bodies of men without the consent of the authorities of the county or state."

The governor repeats his well-known

A Collision on the B. & O. Results in Big Loss of Life.

Two trains collided on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad at Buena Vista, 29 Indes east of Pittsburg. It appears that a worktrain was standing on the track when a heavily loaded coal train ran into it. Both engines and a large number of cars were demolished. Some of the workmen were on the cars while others were engaged at work near by. The shock was so great that all the men were thrown from the cars, and they, with those on the ground, were buried under the wreck. Eight men are reported as killed outright and others still alive in the debrish

Both trains took fire from the wrecked engines and the flames spread so fast it was impossible to rescue those in the ruins.

There will be two floors in this $250,-000 elephant-the main floor and the grand promenade and dancing hall, with a gallery, and the "stomach floor," where will be located a great restaurant.

Saloonkeepers Responsible.

A case of exceeding interest to the saloon keeping fraternity has been decided in the Muskegon circuit court. Mrs. Marshaline Deto, an old lady residing in Montague; brought suit for $5,000 damages against Robert Diamond, a saloon keeper. She claims that her son, some 30 years old, was her sole support, and that he had been ruined in Diamond's saloon. On the stand young Deto told a disgusting story of his own depravity, and ap-parently gloried in his shame. He told a straightforward story of his life in the Diamond saloon for a number of years, and the jury gave the plaintiff a verdict for $200 and costs. The case goes to the supreme court, as saloonists claim that if this is law every shop in the county will have to close.

Mexicans are Loyali.

Special from the City of Mexico: Stories to the effect that there is great dissatisfaction throughout Mexico with the Diaz government, and that battles with revolutionists are being fought on the northern frontier as published abroad, are denied here. It is declared that the country was never more pacific or less inclined to revolution. A published interview with Gen. Reyes, in command on the northern frontier, contains the following: "These 'bandits' do not exceed 250 in number. They are scattered along the Texasside of the boundary. Gen. Estrada is loyal. The statement that he held only an unimportant command is untrue."

A Reform Worth Following.

D. Walkingshaw, the new sheriff of Calhoun county, has inaugurated the system of employing the tramps committed to the county jail in breaking stone. A shed has been constructed for that purpose and stone drawn thereto. The prisoners don't take kindly to this new enterprise, and one of them rebelled. For this he was punished by being closeted in the jail dungeon.

A Cripple Commits Suicide.

Louis Clipson, a man about 30 years of age living in Saugatuck, committed suicide by cutting his throat with a razor. He went out of the house into the back yard. Not returning, the family instituted a search, and found him in an out-house dead, his throat cut and the razor yet in his hand. Mr. Clipson was injured by the discharge of a dynamite cartridge while at work in a mine. The discharge tore off one hand and injured his head, so that he has been subject to fits ever since. HIS PARTING WORDS.

GOV. WINANS' LAST MESSAGE TO THE STATE LEGISLATURE

High Praise for State Boards of Charities and Corrections and the State Schools, Reformatories and Asyluris-State Geological Survey-Better Roads.

Lansing, January 4 .- The following is the message of the retiring Governor, Edwin B. Winans:

Gentlemen of the Senate and House of Representatives:

representatives: I am required, at the close of my offi-cial term, to submit by message to the in-coming Legislature information of the condition of the state, and to recommend such measures as seem to me expedient. The general condition of our people for the past two years has been prosperous, and peace and quietness have prevailed throughout our territory. EUNANCES FINANCES.

throughout our territory. FINANCES. The financial condition of the state is excellent. The Treasurer reports a large amount of money on hand, and as we have no bonded debt to be paid, it would seem that our people should be free from excessive taxation in future, especially as no large expenditures for public buildings are needed, and the revenue from the growth of corporate wealth should in-crease with coming years. By constitutional provision specific tax-es must either be applied to pay the in-terest on our bonded debt, or be credited to the primary school interest fund. As we have no bonded debt, the entire spe-cific tax goes to the primary schools. At the time this provision was made the amount received in specific taxes was comparatively small, but it now amounts to about $1,000,000 annually, and will con-tinue to increase. In many school dis-tricts the money received from the appor-tionment of specific taxes, together with the proceeds of the mill tax, is sufficient to maintain the schools. In other dis-tricts the money received from these sources exceeds the necessary expendi-tive, and results in a surplus. Every dis-trict is a authorized to meet any deficiency by a district tax, and it would therefore seem that the time has arrived when some limit should be fixed to the appor-tionent of specific taxes among the primary schools, and all above a certain amount be applied for the reduction of affrect state taxation. Any change in this policy involves an amendment to the con-stitution, but the disposition of the pres-ent and prospective increase in specific taxes should receive serious considera-tion. STATTE INSTITUTIONS.

STATE INSTITUTIONS.

STATE INSTITUTIONS. The real is calminable condition. The build-ings and grounds are well kept, the in-dustries pursued afford good returns, and good order, discipline and economy pre-vall, as may be seen by reference to the special report from each institution. No serious epidemics of disease or losses by fire or otherwise have occurred in the past two years except by the fire in the Eastern Aslyum, by which no lives were lost and no property destroyed aside from the building. This has been re-stored with many improvements by the use of the surplus funds of the asylum. PENAL AND REFORMATORY INSTI-TUTIONS. TUTIONS.

TUTIONS. Our penal and reformatory institutions were placed by the last Legislature un-der the control of a single non-partisan bean fully windicated by the results. I ask your special attention to the reports of the State Board of Inspection and of the several wardens and superintendents. They afford a most gratifying showing of economy in expenditures and increased earnings to the state, while the mainte-nance, discipline and comfort of the in-mates have received careful attention. The successful management o, these large interests requires business men and businterests requires business men and bus-iness methods, and the policy of those who would use our state institutions as a means to reward party zeal, or who view them as existing for the benefit of the towns in which they are located, schools of general instruction, but it is one of our established institutions and should receive from the Legislature a just and fair recognition. SCHOOL FOR THE DEAF.

SCHOOL FOR THE DEAF. The School for the Deaf, at Flint, is one which enlists the sympathy and good wishes of every visitor. The in-mates, because of their infirmity, their bright, expressive faces, their quick in-telligence and chestful dispositions, ap-peal to our liberality for every advantage which can be afforded them. The special training and education furnished here enable many of these unfortunates to become useful, self-supporting citizens, and lives which would otherwise be passed in solemn loneliness are rendered endurable and even cheerful. The school met with a great loss in the death of Supt. Monroe, who had long been a faithful and beloved teacher, but his place has been supplied by one who brings the best credentials, and the man-agement is in all respects admirable. SCHOOL FOR THE BLIND.

SCHOOL FOR THE BLIND.

The School for the Blind, at Lansing, s the least expensive of our charitable astitutions. The unfortunate inmates, institutions. The unfortunate inmates, especially the young, appeal strongly for every provision by which a Christian society can lighten their misfortune. The school is under the supervision of a kind matron and an intelligent superintendent, and deserves your favorable attention.

STATE PUBLIC SCHOOL. The State Public School at Coldwater is The State Public School at Coldwater is the refuge of the neglected children and waifs of the state. They are infants and young children whose only offense is their existence, and who are there cared for by kind hands until homes can be found for them in respectable families. Humanity demands this work, and it is done at this institution as tenderly as in the homes of more fortunate boys and girls. The school is prosperous and doing good work, and I can suggest nothing better for its in-terests than that it be continued, together with the School for the Deaf and the School for the Blind, under the manage-ment of the Central Board of Control. STATE PRISON. The most important of our penal insti-ment of the Central Board of Control. STATE PRISON. The most important of our penal insti-tutions is the State Prison at Jackson. The position of warden is a very re-sponsible one, because of the character of the inmates and the magnitude of the in-terests under his supervision. The state is fortunate in the present incumbent, whose administration has been a marked success. In the past two years, for the first time in its history, the prison has paid its own running expenses, and in addition has earned a handsome revenue for the state. A new cell block has been complet 1 and occupied, new shops, new walks and a new wall have been built, and many other improvements made. Dis-cipline has been maintained, the inmates have been well fed and otherwise pro-vided for, and the general condition of the prison is highly satisfactory. The re-port of the warden is a concise state-ment of what has been accomplished, and contains many practical and valu-able suggestions. In the management of a great penitentiary it is a condition and not a theory which must be met, and it is the practical man who will succeed. HOUSE OF CORRECTION AND RE-

HOUSE OF CORRECTION AND RE-FORMATORY.

FORMATORY. FORMATORY. The State House of Correction and Re-formatory at Ionia was found to be in need of extensive renovation and repairs. The existing contract for the output of the prison, as well as tho general condi-tion of the whole yard and plant, was unsatisfactory to the board of inspec-tors, but by unremitting attention on the part of the board and the warden a great improvement has been made. Extensive repairs have been made, new machinery put in operation, and the institution is now a credit to the state. The disciplike and management are highly commended by the Board of Corrections and Charities and all who are interested in prison mor-als. All these improvements have cost money, and financially the returns to the state suffer in comparison with the state prison, but the foundation is now laid for better results in the future. MARQUETTE PRISON. The branch of the State Prijon at Mar-

MARQUETTE PRISON. The branch of the State Prion at Mar-quette has a fine modern building, and its fittings and accommodations are of the most approved character. Considering the increased cost of supplies in the upper peninsula, the administration has, per-haps, been fairly economical, but there exists no good reason for its continuance as a prison. All its immates could easily be accommodated at the other prisons at far less expense. There is little probabil-ity that it will be needed as a prison for years to discontinue the maintenance of prisoners there at unnecessary expense, and to utilize the building for some other purpose.

HOME FOR THE FEEBLE-MINDED. Michigan lacks one institution to com-plete her system of state charities, namely, a home for the feeble-minded. No spe-cial provision has been made for the care of this class of unfortunates, and they are to be found in our poorhouses, our asylums and our state schools. The pres-ence of feeble-minded children and epi-leptics among the youthful inmates of the Reform School and Industrial Home is detrimental to the welfare of the others. and the law does not contemplate their admission, but they are sometimes re-ceived before their condition is known, and the is estimated that there are now nearly 200 in our various institutions, and there are many others throughout the state. They are everywhere rec-ognized as proper subjects for public char-ity, and the state should provide a suit-able home for their reception. The need of such an institution is so manifest that its establishment could not fail to meet popular approval. HOME FOR THE FEEBLE-MINDED. popular approval.

GEOLOGICAL SURVEY.

GEOLOGICAL SURVEY. I invite special attention to the re-port of the State Board of Geological Survey, now laid before the Legislature for the first time in twelve years. It con-tains matters of public interest which cannot be discussed in detail, but if you care to learn what has become of an an-nual appropriation of $3,000, continued through twenty years, from which few of our people have received any benefit, the information is there furnished. I trust the recommendations therein made will meet your approval, especially that relating to the Commissioner of Mineral Statistics, whose duiles could better be performed by the State Geologist or one of his assistants. The geology of our state is of large interest to our citizens, and the subject, as it now stands, calls for heroic treatment. The survey should either be abandoned, or provision made for its early completion. GOOD ROADS.

GOOD ROADS.

GOOD ROADS. At the late special session of the Legis-lature I was authorized to appoint a com-mission who should report a plan of legis-lation looking to the improvement of our highways. I submit herewith the report of the commission. In their opinion no valid legislation can be enacted, under our present Constitution, which will meet the requirements of modern road-making, and you will be asked to submit to the people at the next election an amendment to the Constitution, which, if adopted, will en-able the Legislature to put in operation a general system of road improvement. The importance of this subject is attract-ing attention in every part of our country. Conventions are held, societies organized and public sentiment ratoused to the ne-cessity for better roads. It is admitted on all hands that our present system, or lack of system, involves a waste of time, labor and money, without permanent bene-fit, and no other question of internal policy demands greater, attention at your hands. nands

STATE TROOPS.

STATE TROOPS. Michigan has reason to be proud of the character, discipline and efficiency of her state militia. Their conduct in camp, their improvement in military knowledge and their soldierly qualities insure prompt and efficient service in case of lawless-ness or domestic violence. I fully concur in the recommendations of the adjutant-general, to which I invite your attention. BAULROADS. RAILROADS.

IN A SCHOOL-ROOM.

Such a Room as Should Be Found in Every District.

The scene l encountered was a glimpse of fairy-I was in a room full of bright land. and happy children. whose eyes weredirected toward the teacher, not because they were forbidden to look in any other direction, but because to them the most attractive ob ect in the room was their teacher. She un-derstood them, sympathized with and. loved them, and did all in her power to interest them and make them happy. The room itself was charming. The window-sills were filled with living plants, and living plants were scattered here and there throughout the room. The teacher's desk was literally strewn with nowers, and upon each of the children's desks flowers had been placed to welcome the little ones to school. The book used during the reading lesson was the book of nature-the plant they had just been studying. The scene presented by the happy little children each with a flower in his hand, surrounding the teacher who was smiling upon them, was truly beautiful. For reading matter the children were called upon for sentences expressing thoughts concerning their flowers. The sentences were written upon the board by the teacher, and when a number of them had been written the pupils began to read them. The children were interested because they all took an active part in the lesson from the beginning to the end. They were all observing, all thinking. Some of the little ones even committed the crime of laying their hands upon the teacher, and she so far forgot herself as to fondle them in return. Yet the discipline was perfect. What is perfect discipline in the class-room but perfect attention? There was no noise there were everywhere signs of life. and such signs of life as become a gathe" ing of young children.

DARWIN'S THEORY APPLIED. How a Berlin Professor Succeeded in

Drowning a Pet Herring. In Berlin there lives says the Indepedance Roumaine, a savant who is an ardent votary of the theory of evolution. Not long ago, when at the seaside, he caught a live, herring on which he resolved to test the accu-racy of the Darwinian doctrines. Every day the gentleman took a spoonful of sea water out of the aquarium in which he had placed the herring substituting in lieu thereof a spoonful of fresh water. He con-tinued this process until the aquarium contained nothing but fresh water The necessity for some form of relief contained nothing but fresh water, or the Supreme Court becomes more Its occupant was then consigned to a large glass bowl. The herring continued live and healthy. Still our learned professor had by no means

The Live Stock Sanitary Commission report a healthy condition of stock throughout the state, and no serious epidemic or contagious disease has pre-valled. Such diseases are always found to some extent, but by prompt attention and the slaughter of infected animals the commission have held them in check. The interest involved is large and the commission is doing good work at very small cost to the state. BUILDING AND LOAN ASSOCIATIONS. Within a few years a large number of weaks its "tamer" noticed that it small cost to the state. BUILDING AND LOAN ASSOCIATIONS. Within a few years a large number of building and loan associations have been organized and are operating in this state. More than one hundred Michigan associa-tions, and many organized in other states are now doing business here, and their agents are diligently canvassing every section of the state. People of all classes are induced to subscribe for stock, and make small payments from time to time under an agreement that they shall be entitled to draw out a certain sum at the expiration of a fixed period. The terms offered are so advantageous that they are accepted by thousands of peo-ple. The subscribers have no means of knowing that the associations will be time comes, and the business has as-sumed such large proportions that stock-holders should be protected by having the business placed under competent state supervision, so that the financial condi-tion of these associations may be known by those, who are asked to invest in them. Associations doing legitimate busi-ess would have no cause to complain of such supervision, and the business to their responsi-bility. LEGISLATIVE SESSIONS. WHAT NATURE CAN DO.

The six institutions controlled by the State Board of Inspectors are similar in character, though varying in the age, sex and de-gree of criminality of the inmates. The success which attends them is largely due to the business ability and experi-ence of the board, who can survey the whole field of operations, and compare, suggest and direct for the best interests of each institution. Such general over-sight is promotive of economy and effi-dient service, and discourages time serv-ing and favoritism. The beneficial effects of the acts of consolidation will be more apparent as time is afforded for their full development, but some additional power should be given the Board of In-spectors to grade, classify and transfer inmates from one prison to another as occasion may require. The promiscuous mingting of young offenders, susceptible to both good and evil influences, with harkened and professional criminals, is directly against the interests to society. Experience has shown that the courts send all classes of offenders to the same institutions, and the board should be empowered to separate them. CHARITABLE INSTITUTIONS.

CHARITABLE INSTITUTIONS.

CHARITABLE INSTITUTIONS. The State Public School at Coldwater, the School for the Blind and the School for the Deaf have also been placed un-der the supervision of a central board of control. The substitution of one board for three has resulted in a substantial saving of expense, and these institutions are in admirable condition and are model chari-ties of their kind. The opportunities af-forded a single board of using the knowl-edge and experience gained in one school for the advantage of each of the others are manifest, and comparison of methods and prices of supplies assizts in reducing expenses and promoting efficiency. The policy of uniting similar public institu-tions under one management will as su, a-ly be for the interests of each as the union of great private interests results in a common benefit. This policy having been adopted with good results should be con-tinued and extended. STATE UNIVERSITY.

STATE UNIVERSITY.

STATE UNIVERSITY. Our State University is first in import-ance among our institutions. The high standing it has attained among the great schools of the land, and the superior ad-vantages afforded by its faculty and courses of study, result each year in an increased number of students from all parts of the country. The attendance has increased from 1,580 in 1586 to 2,400 in 1590 and nearly 3,000 at the present time. The question presents itself, shall the attend-ance be limited to the present capacity of the university or shall accommodations be provided for all who may desire to come? I believe the latter course to be the wise one, and that you cannot be too liberal in granting the appropriations asked by the board of regents. Their management has been cameful and conservative in the past and I am confident that every dollar you may grant will be wisely used to pro-mote the usefulness of the university. AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE.

AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE. The Agricultural College at Lansing is now a school of greater value and import-ance than is generally known even to our own people. In its early days, struggling under many disadvantages, the Impres-sion got abroad, especially among farm-ers, that the school was of little value to the class particularly interested in agri-culture. At present no reason for such an impression exists. The college has stead-lly progressed and expanded until it stands at the head of this class of insti-tutions and is one of the most practical and useful of our public scheels. I com-mend its interests to your favorable con-sideration. STATE NORMAL SCHOOL.

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL.

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL. The State Normal School at Ypsilanti maintains its high reputation for its special work. The school is well man-aged and prosperoits. It is among the least troublesome of the wards of the state, and no unreasonable demands upon the taxpayers will be made in its be-half.

MINING SCHOOL.

MINING SCHOOL. The Michigan Mining School, at Hough-ton, is doing good work, although, its course of study being a special one, the attendance is limited. As with all new schools time is required for its develop-ment, and a large attendance may be ex-pected as the advantages offered be-come better understood. The general public do not, perhaps, appreciate its importance as thoroughly as that of mates are well contented.

REFORM SCHOOL.

REFORM SCHOOL. The value of the Reform School at Lansing is apparent when we consider the large number and youthful character of its inmates, and the fact that 90 per cent of them are reclaimed from evil habits and tendencies, and become useful citi-zens of the state. A visit to the school, where one can look those 400 boys in the face, impresses one with the value and importance of this reformatory work. The late superintendent having declined to remain at the present salary, the state was fortunate in securing the present superintendent, under whose management the high efficiency of the school has been maintained at a reduced expense. It has an able and eilicient board of trustees, devoted to their work, and a superintendent whose services are of the highest value. The inmates num-ber a thousand, but with the completion of the new cottage all are comfortably provided for. I am impressed with the desirability of the cottage system and farm attachment for our asylums. Only a small percentage of our insane require confinement in wards. The majority are better with the freedom of cottage and farm, and the system allows classification which should be made general. I find the general condition and management at Kalamazoo highly satisfactory and de-serving of commendation. EASTERN ASYLUM.

EASTERN ASYLUM.

EASTERN ASYLUM. All that has been said in praise of the board of control, the superintendent, and the general management at Kalamazoo is equally true of the Eastern Asylum at Pontiac. The perfect order and discipline³ which prevail were demonstrated at the time of the fire which destroyed the north wing of the asylum building. Too much praise cannot be given the officers and attendants for their successful ef-forts to prevent loss of life and property. The board of trustees used the surplus funds of the asylum to restore the build-ing, and the incident demonstrates the value of such a fund for use in case of emergency. The appropriations which this board will ask may safely be granted. NORTHERN MICHIGAN ASYLUM. Of the Northern Asylum at Traverse NORTHERN MICHIGAN ASYLUM. Of the Northern Asylum at Traverse City I regret that I cannot speak from personal observation. No criticism of the management has reached me, which fact is the best proof that none is justi-fied. In leaving this class of our public charities I repeat my conviction that further additions to the accommodations at the asylums should be in the direction of the cottage system, both on the score of economy, and for the welfare of the inmates. Power should also be given the board of trustees to classify their popula-tion and exchange inmates from one asy-lum to another. SOLDIERS' HOME.

Acids are death to the cholera bacillus, say Dr. Koch and several other experts. There is sufficient acid in the secretions of a healthy stomach to destroy the bacillus. Sulphuric acid is one of the best preventives and disinfectants known. If the acid theory of rheumatism is true-that it comes of acid in the blood-then rheumatic persons will be the ones least apt to get cholera. Some of the best physicians of the day believe that diluted sulphuric acid taken in lemonade in the proportion of twenty drops to a tumblerful will surely pre-

The Greatest Society of All. The editor of The Popular Science Monthly fears that in the multiplicity of societies and clubs, benevolent and otherwise, we may be tempted to forget one society that is greater than all the rest, one which might be called the Society of Human Endeavor.

We all belong to that. We were initiated into it when we were born. We must be members of it till we die. Its requirements are that each of us shall do all the good he can to everybody who comes in his way-

Helping, when you meet them, Lame dogs over stiles.

The society does not require that we shall always give money in charity. Its kind of benevolence demands that we shall be helpful to mankind in the way that will help mankind most, showing them how to take care of themselves, how to be honest and clean, and to do as they would be done by. We can help them most by being and doing these things ourselves.

That we are as good as we are, that we know how to take care of ourselves, is owing only to the fact that strong and kindly members of this great human society who went before us and lived and died in the right path showed us the way by their example. What these noble past masters in the brotherhood of humanity gave to us we owe to those members who are all around us to give to them.

It Tallied.

A stranger, when dining at a foreign hotel, was accosted by a detective, who said to him:

"Beg your pardon, we are in search of an escaped convict, and, as a matter of form, you will oblige us with your passport.

"Do I look like a convict?" "Possibly not. In any case I shall require to see your passport." The stranger, feeling annoyed, presented the officer with a bill of fare, and the latter commenced to read, "Sheep's head, neck of mutton, pig's feet." "Very good," he observed; "the description tallies. You will please come along with us."-Dundee Weekly.
