THE NATION'S BIRTHDAY.

Columbia, gem of the west, Peerless thou art, alone dost stand, A continent by freedom blest, Bright banners float o'er all thy land.
From mountain peak to peaceful vale,
From ocean depths to bubbling rill, We ever hear the same sweet tale Of peace on earth, to man good will.

Of all the nations of the earth, What one can such a record show Of purity and sterling worth Among her men of years ago?
On histories' page forevermore Their names shall blend harmoniously As those who opened wide the door, Freedom for all posterity.

Unfurl our glorious flag once more, Ring out in clarion tones again, Amid the glare of cannon's roar,
The nation's yearly grand amain.
This day of days, alone it stands, A priceless gem of lustrous hue, Secured to us by patriot hands,
A loyal hand to right o'er true.

The stars and stripes, long may they wave, Grand emblem of a state that's free.
Might and oppression found one grave, Thereon was reared sweet liberty.
And while the golden sunset rays In radiance flash across the earth We'd offer up to God all praise For noble deeds that gave our Fourth.

at her parental home at Rogersville, Mich.

H. S. Wickware and family visited at Sam'l Elliott's, in Ellington, on Sunday.

Wm. Fairweather shipped a carload of stock to the eastern markets this week.

Hugh Walters, of the ENTERPRISE force, enjoyed a week's vacation last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Marr, of Caro, visited at E. F. Marr's and Mrs. R. E. Gamble's on Sunday.

Theo. Rittinger, of New Carlisle, Ind., father of Prof. and John Rittinger, is here this week.

Geo. Beach, station agent at North Branch, visited at his parental home in town on Sunday.

Laundon, Eno & Keating have secured a car load of sash and doors. Business is booming with them.

J. A. McDougall and Miss Lilly Wickware visited Mrs. S. Y. Kenyon, in Ellington, on Sunday.

E. B. Land reports having sold on an average of one McCormick mower a day for the past two weeks.

Celebrate at Cass City next Tuesday. Special rates on all railroad, steamboat and telephone lines.

A. H. Hitchcock took a short vacation last week, and visited several towns along the line of the G. T. R. R.

C. W. McPhail returned from Chicago Wednesday coming by the way of the great lakes and the island of Mackinac.

There will be ample accommodations for all in Cass City next Tuesday.
Come, and bring your family and all your relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Howe and daughter Florence returned the latter part of last week from their visit at the World's Fair.

H. Fritz, the well known druggist, stationer and wall paper doctory has an important announcement to careful buyers this week.

The P. O. & N. R. will sell round trip tickets to all points, including Detroit, on July 4. Tickets will be on sale July 3, and will be good until July 5, inclusive.

Dr. McLean was called to Elkton Monday in consultation with Dr. J. A.
Coll to see A. H. Ale, who was threatened with an attack of fever. We are glad to learn that Ale is improving rapidly.

A. G. Berney has returned from a seven days' visit at the Columbian Exposition. He says that his expectations were more than realized, and that he managed to get a glimpse of about half of the large exhibit.

Miss Ora Wickware entertained about thirty of her young friends on Tuesday, from 4 to 9 p. m. The occasion was her twelfth birthday, and she received several mementos, among which was a beautiful ring.

This evening (Friday) a strawberry social will be given at the residence of A. G. Berney, corner of Segar street and Garfield Ave., under the auspices of the Epworth League of the M. E.
Church. All are invited. Admission 15c; children 10c.

An exchange says: Parties who use either gasoline or oil stoves during the summer should consult their fire insurance policies, and if no permit to use such is attached to the policy one should be secured. A moment of attention to this may prevent the loss of insurance.

The following from the Belding Banner ought to be printed in letters of living ink and posted on every street corner: "If some of our young boys who are spending their evenings listening to gossip on the streets and other places where their company could be dispensed with would change the program and begin the systematic reading and studying of good books and papers at home, they would become men of influence and power and raise above the intellectual mediocrity of those whose education comes largely from the street and other unwholesome places for the youths."

Decorate for July 4.

Spend your fourth in Cass City.

Mis Quito now gives free evening concerts to large audiences.

Mr. Toohy, Jr., of Gagetown, transacted business in Cass City yesterday.

Mrs. W. D. Schooley's mother, of Canada, is paying her visit at present.

Sylvester Ale has recovered from his illness sufficient to take a ride out occasionaly.

T. H. Fritz and family, and I. A.
Fritz visited Dr. Fritz and family at Caro on Sunday.

Wm. and H. Fairweather's father and sister, of Imlay City, visited them over Sunday.

Judge Laing and wife, and Mr. and Mrs. O. K. James have returned from their World's Fair visit.

Mrs. Blinn, of Ypsilanti, is visiting her daughters, Mrs. S. M. Gilchiesse and Miss Lena Blinn.

H. H. Applin, state organizer for the Independent Order of Foresters, is in town in the interests of that order.

Someone borrowed a silk parasol and a gasoline stove from S. Champion's shop. Sum asks that they be returned.

M. M. Wickware visited with C. A.
Stevenson at Bay City part of this week, and while there attended the Forepaugh show.

Many are wondering how the "Jolly Old Uncle Josh" managed to visit both Vassar and Caro on the same day, and at the same hour.

Cut down the burdock weeds and tall grass growing around your premises. Thousands will be here on July 4, and Cass City must look her best.

L. A. DeWitt showed us a stalk of rhubarb that measured three feet across the leaf, and the stalk was fully six inches in circumference. It's a product of his garden.

Caseville promises to become quite a popular summer resort again for Cass Cityites. Several families contemplate pitching their tents within a short time. For the past few years but few from here have visited that place.

A Mournful Day.

Algy—What are you dressed in black for, old man?

Weg—You evidently forgot, Algy.
That this is the Fourth of July.

The P. O. & N. R. R. have commenced running their Sunday excursions to Bay Port. The first train of the season was run on Sunday last. But few from here were among the excursionists.

The Caro Dramatic Club appeared at the Town Hall last night in their play, "Out in the Streets." The play itself is a very interesting, being very shallow. The singing by Mr. Hunt was highly appreciated, and Pete's song was nicely rendered.

Miss Helen McPhail, who has been teaching in Norway for the past two years, will spend her vacation in Cass City. She has been visiting the World's Fair and returned by the way of the lakes, in company with her brother, Mr. C. W. McPhail.

John Maywood, editor and proprietor of the Bad Axe Tribune, was a pleasant caller last week. Mr. Maywood recently retired from the postoffice, and is now pursuing his newspaper business with renewed vigor. He contemplates converting the Trib. into a semi-weekly.

Don't expect an advertisement, says Inter's ink, to bear fruit in one night.
You can't eat enough in a week to last you a year and you can't advertise on that plan either. People who advertise once in three months forget that most folks cannot remember anything longer than seven days. If you can arouse curiosity by an advertisement you have gained a great point. The fair sex do not hold all the curiosity in the world. Quitting advertising when times are dull is tearing out a dam when the water is low.

He treads on air. He lifts his hands and floats through space like a bird.
He breathes in ozone and expels it from his lungs in ripples of song and trills of flute like whistles. The smile he smiles commences at his toes and creeps along upon the muscles and nerves, gathering vitality and pleasure in its course until it expands in a wonderfully broad and blissful expression all over his facial outline, covering it completely from ear to ear and tip of chin to the top knot of his massive brow. He shakes hands with a cordiality only known to those who have suffered the joy that he is suffering. He buys the cigars with an alacrity that makes the greasy Grecian dame on the 10c pieces smile in unison. Who is this fortunate person? It is W. J. Cloakey, and his reason is a good one. He has sold that calf, and it will no longer bother him by scrambling up the stairway of his house and tying itself to the door knob; nor will it again disturb the slumbers of Dan'l McGilvary.

How many of the pathmasters are aware of this provision of the state laws: "The pathmaster may allow 25 percent of the road work on setting out trees, at 25 cents a tree, and the law says he shall cause at least 50 trees to be set out in his district."

"If you wear russet shoes, take a piece of ripe banana skin and grease the leather with it, then polish with a cloth. In this way all the discolora-tions are removed and a polish is obtained."—(Caro Advertiser. Brother Slocum, you should add, "Keep well coined and as far away from the sole of the shoe as possible.")

An admission fee of twenty-five cents to the fair ground on July 4 will be charged male persons over fourteen years of age, ladies and children free.
This fee will entitle the person to a ticket to the grounds during the day and for the use of a stall for his team.
It will be to the advantage of parties coming with rigs to purchase their tickets early, and thus make sure of good quarters for their horses.

That Mayville poet, who is at present boarding at the World's Fair, has composed the following which may be considered a parody upon his former parody: "Backward turn backward, oh! time in thy flight, feed me gruel again just for to-night; I am so weary of sole leather steaks, petrified doughnuts and vulcanized cake, oysters that sleep in a watery bath; butter as strong as Gol-lath of Gath; weary of paying for what I can't eat; chewing up rubber and calling it meat. Backward turn backward, for weary I am! Give me a whack at my grand mother's jam; let me drink milk that has never been skimmed; let me eat butter whose hair has been trimmed; let me once more have old fashioned pie, and then I'll be willing to curl up and die."

Wm. McKenzie, of this place, was done a double injustice while in Detroit last week. First, he was robbed of about twenty-three dollars in money, and secondly by an item that appeared in the Evening News to the effect that the robbery occurred in so and-so's saloon, and that Mr. McKenzie had shaken dice with a tall man who grabbed the money and hastily departed, etc. The only illustration how reporters some times gets things mixed.
Mr. McKenzie explains the occurrence as follows: Upon arriving in Detroit and after registering at a hotel he took a stroll down the street to where a fire engine was in operation.
After watching the firemen for a short time, he started to return to the hotel, but, feeling hungry, stopped at a restaurant on the way and obtained a lunch. Upon coming out he stood in front, when three men came up, one of whom shortly asked him if he was from Cass City, and then inquired about several of the leading firms at that place. The man who had done the talking started to leave, but turned around and asked one of his companions if he could give him change for a bill which he exhibited. Of course

He Wanted Them Charged.

Willie—Mamma says to let me have a bunch of firecrackers.

Storekeeper—Yes, my little man. Does she want them charged?

Willie—Well, if they ain't you'll hear from me.

he couldn't, and the man then asked Mr. McKenzie. The latter took out his wallet and commenced counting out the change, when the man who had asked the favor, grabbed a roll of bills from the wallet and hurriedly departed. Mr. McKenzie reported the affair to the police headquarters, and the thief, who is well known to the officials was arrested and was identified by Mr.
McKenzie. The two other men who stood in front of the restaurant, were undoubtedly the pals of the thief, and the game they worked was probably an old one. It was an easy matter, for the purpose of inspiring confidence in their victim, to look his name and address up on the hotel register, and ascertain the names of several firms in Cass City by consulting a volume of the Michigan Gazetteer. Mr. McKenzie was greatly displeased with the New's report of the affair, and thinks that the reporter must have taken the thief's story for it, whose defense was that he had shaken dice with Mr. McKenzie, and won the money fairly.

Paller, languidness, and the appearance of ill-health being no longer fashionable among ladies, Ayer's Sarasaparilla is more largely resorted to, as a tonic-alternative, nerve, stomach, and builder-up of the system generally.
This is as it should be. Ayer's is the best.

pear in society with a grizzly beard,

Married.

Rittinger-McClinton.—On Friday evening, June 23, 1893, at the residence of the bride's parents, Cass City, Mich., by the Rev. Gerrit Huyser, Pastor-elect of the Presbyterian Church, Mr.
Charles Frederick Rittinger, principal of the Cass City schools, formerly of New Carlisle, Ind., to Miss Rachel Catherine McClinton, eldest daughter of Nathaniel McClinton, M. D.

The marriage was to have taken place in the Presbyterian Church, and one hundred invitations issued, but, owing to the illness of Prof. Rittinger, was very quietly celebrated. There were present besides the members of the family and officiating clergyman, John Rittinger, a brother of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Crosby and Mrs.
Gerrit Huyser. Claude, the little sister of the bride, acted as maid of honor.

The ENTERPRISE extends congratulations and best wishes to Mr. and Mrs. Rittinger, and hopes for a speedy recovery of the former. The many friends of the young couple will be glad to learn that Prof. Rittinger is improving, and will rejoice to see him among us again.

A reception will be held later.

Kind Words.

Our readers will pardon us for giving space to the following, which are a few of the many complimentary notices that have been accorded us by exchange:

Caro Democrat: "The Cass City Enterprise came out as a seven column eight page paper, last week. It was also printed on a new Taylor cylinder press. Cass City people have every reason to feel proud of their paper."

Holly Advertiser: "The Cass City Enterprise has added to its already well equipped office, two new presses, an engine and other modern improvements. The Enterprise is worthy of the patronage of the business men and others."

Minden Herald: "The Cass City Enterprise comes to us this week presented quite a surprising change for the better. It is printed throughout from new type, by a new press, run by a new engine, and has been enlarged from a six column quarto to a seven column quarto. Its office also included in a new job press. The Enterprise deserves success."

Caro Advertiser: "The Cass City Enterprise came out last week enlarged to a seven column, eight page paper, being now the same size as the Advertiser. The publishers have added a new power press, a new engine and made other improvements so that the paper bears quite a metropolitan appearance. Here is hoping that they will get business enough to justify the investment they have made."

Bad Axe Tribune: "The Cass City Enterprise came out last week on its own new press and type and enlarged to a seven column paper. The improvements indicate the prosperity of our neighbor in all of which we extend congratulations. The Enterprise is worthy the liberal patronage it is receiving, and with its improved facilities will be of immeasurable benefit to its town."

Unionville Crescent: "The Cass City Enterprise has put in a new cylinder press, engine and a new job press, a cut of which appears in their last issue. Their paper has been enlarged to a seven column quarto which is a good sign of prosperity, and we have no doubt but the new proprietors will keep the Enterprise with the times."

Port Austin Post: "We congratulate the Cass City Enterprise on its fine appearance, its solid contents, its new machinery and its several signs of push, pluck, prosperity and patriotism."

Kosciusko Co. (Ind.) Standard: "We are glad to see by the last issue of the Cass City (Mich.) Enterprise that they have put in a new Taylor improved fast press, a new Gordon jobber and a cylinder and engine, besides a new dress for their paper. We are glad the citizens of Cass City will appreciate the spirit and enterprise exhibited by their home paper and give it their undivided support."

Brown City Banner: "The Cass City Enterprise came out last week in an entirely new dress, printed by a new press. It is also increased to a seven column quarto and is brim full of news, demonstrative of the enterprise and hustle behind it."

Vassar Pioneer: "The Cass City Enterprise came out last week enlarged to a seven-column quarto and printed from new body type, and on a new 'Taylor' cylinder press. A new job press and steam power are also other new improvements. This is evidence of prosperity on the part of the Enterprise, and the people of Cass City should show their appreciation by giving the paper the liberal support which its publishers richly deserve."

FARRAGUT's old flag-ship, the Hartford, whose scuppers ran half full of the blood of heroes more than once, is to be put in commission next year with a battery of modern ordnance. She is a glorious reminder of naval prowess and will be maintained chiefly on account of her patriotic associations.

CONCURRENCES are rife these days. The German elections took place on the anniversary of the day when his barons made King John sign magna charta. As the reichstag is to meet on the anniversary of the American declaration of independence it may adjourn on the anniversary of the destruction of the Bastille.

PRESIDENT CARNOT of France is to be commiserated. It is not so much that affairs of state have weighed him down as that he is troubled by the presence in his distinguished person of a sluggish and irritable liver. The burden of carrying a large republic may be endured, but coupled with this kind of a liver it becomes a hardship.

NO MORE must the almond-eyed denizen of Amoy read Confucius of an evening by the fitful light of American kerosene. Boss Toatsi has said it, and what he says in Amoy "goes." But there is plenty of kerosene to be had from Baku in Russia, so that the natives of Amoy will not suffer serious inconvenience from this order. It is the Yankee importer who will suffer.

AN effort is again being made to discredit the Eads jetties at the mouth of the Mississippi, it being alleged that sandbars are forming at the head of the South pass. Taken all in all the jetties would appear to have demonstrated their utility better than a majority of river improvements, and if it is necessary, as was anticipated at the time of their construction, they may be extended at any time.

IN Mexico, through the alleged neglect of a mining superintendent, sixteen laborers were roasted or suffocated. The superintendent is held on a charge of murder. Such extreme severity would seem strange in the United States, although it must not be inferred that the culprit would escape unscathed. He might be censured by a coroner's jury, and even admonished not to encourage the episode to repeat itself.

A CITIZEN, having knocked a tooth down the throat of another citizen sets up the defense that the tooth was false. If he can prove that a hand-made incisor is more digestible than the natural one, or drops into the surprised stomach with a more congenial klopknuck, it is possible that the defense will be regarded as of a mitigating character. It is well, however, that there are judicial minds trained to tackle such problems.

RAILROAD managers declare that they are in business not for sentiment but for money, and that they propose to keep their fair rates at such a figure as will make the most such a figure. If by this statement they mean that they will invite travel by reasonable rates, their expectations will be fulfilled. If, on the other hand, the intention is to keep fares up to a point unattainable except by people of easy circumstances, they will be disappointed.

THE demand for domestic help in Chicago has increased so rapidly and so invitingly become the field there that it is said New York city. Chicago's only rival, has been evacuated altogether by the artists of the chamber and the cuisine. Domestic help is as scarce in New York as it is generosity, and that states the case as plainly as it is possible to state it. The devoted Old Knickerbockers are thus reduced to a diet of canned goods, and thus in the development of the species is the can opener made to take the place of the once skillful housewife.

THE heroic and successful effort of a quick-witted negro named Basil Lockwood, at rescuing men from the Ford's theater death-trap ought to be passed along. When Lockwood discovered frenzied men in windows about to jump to the pavement and certain death, he called to them to keep back, and climbed a telegraph pole hard by the windows. Then he attempted to improvise a bridge by stretching the ladder from his perilous perch to the windows, but to the horror of those waiting the ladder lacked a few inches of reaching. Instantly Lockwood again thrust the ladder out to the windows, catching the end next to him on his toes, thus completing the precarious bridge. The men on the crumbling walls crawled over this fragile support, slid down the telegraph pole, and were saved.

NOW that it is authoritatively announced that the common hog is capable of being trained to an exhibition of higher intelligence than any other animal we sincerely hope that his manners in street cars and other public places will be carefully looked after by somebody.

THERE has been a boom in retail business in London, all on account of the approaching marriage of Princess May. Every shopkeeper in the big city wishes there might be a royal marriage in Britain every summer.

THE TRANSPORTATION BUILDING AT THE FAIR.

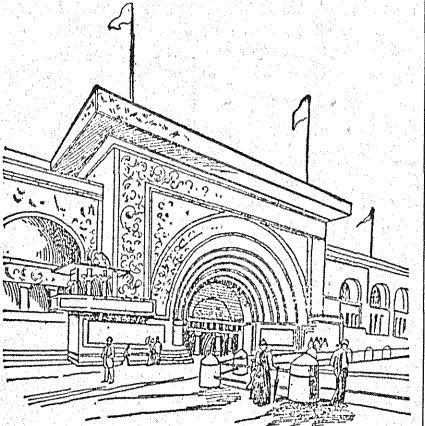

To Walk Through It and Just Glance at the Exhibits Without Halting It Would Take a Whole Day—Some of Its Grand Wonders.

[World's Fair Correspondence]

TRAMP OVER the extensive acreage of the Transportation Building is a day's work, and it would be several days' work more if one attempted to get much information out of the haughty colored porters who stand about among the American trains and cars, and freeze one with their awful dignity.

The Golden Door, of this Transportation edifice is celebrated—just as a black sheep is—because it is so different from its fellows. This palace is unlike all the others in color and general design. It is nearly a thousand feet long, and one quarter as wide, and is surmounted by a cupola 165 feet high, in which eight elevators are constantly running.

The grand portal, or "Golden Door," faces the lagoon and the shores of "Wooded Island." It consists of a series of receding arches entirely overlaid with gold leaf. As a contrast to the eternal white of the fair, it is pleasant, and it maketh the jays to wonder. But its general effect is gorgeous and not harmonious. Along the stairways which lead from the entrance are typical statues—a brakerman, a helmsman, Stephenson, Fulton, Watt, the apostles of Progress, the Aristocracy of Invention.

A very interesting exhibit is the old locomotive "Samson," one of the first engines ever introduced into America. This engine was built in 1836, at New Sheldon, Durham, England, and brought to this country about the same time.

It was used in the Albion coal mine, near St. John's, Nova Scotia, until a few years ago. Accompanying the locomotive is the passenger car. It is a clumsy affair, containing two seats, with room for about four or five passengers. The doors open on the sides, the same as many English coaches of to-day. The engine and coach are in a pretty fair state of preservation. The tender in those days went ahead of the locomotive, while the engineer stood on the rear. The engine is a standard gauge, inverted direct-acting, with four-foot drivers.

Two other ancient locomotives are also among the exhibits, the "Albion" and "Old Ironsides." Both of these are more primitive in their construction than the "Samson" and are not quite so large.

The original "John Bull" is standing on the New York Central tracks, and the Detroit Union, with its historic train of coaches, is also here in its counterpart.

One of the gigantic exhibits in the south end of this Transportation Building is the model of the great 23-ton steam hammer of the Bethlehem (Pa.) Iron Works. The original hammer weighs 1,386 tons. The model is of staff and wood.

It is exhibited here because the Bethlehem hammer forged steamship shafts and cranks, as well as guns and armor plates. It is shaped like a letter A. Its highest point stands 90 feet above the floor line, and is 38 feet wide. The supports are each composed of two parts, the lower ones weighing 71 tons each and the upper ones 45 tons each. The Bethlehem hammer is one-quarter larger than the 100-ton hammer used in an Italian dock yard.

In the southern section of the Annex there are fine displays by the Philadelphia & Reading, the Old Colony, and the Chicago & Northwestern Railroads.

A WEDDING PROCESSION IN CAIRO, MIDWAY PLAINANCE.

The latter exhibits the "Pioneer," a little puffing billy-goat of an engine, the first ever sent into Chicago. The Pennsylvania Railroad is richly represented.

The marine exhibit of America is good; I can but briefly allude to it. Perhaps the most striking thing is the section of an Atlantic liner, showing the interior arrangements; it is so realistic that it fairly makes you seasick. Here is an exquisite model of the Puritan; and here are steam and electric launches, dories, schooners and racing yachts until the wearied vision can no longer contain them.

Presto change! Here we are in France! Here is the Gaelic "marine," vigilant, compact, well uniformed, keeping guard over a beautiful exhibit. More than sixty thousand square feet are covered by this exhibition of land and sea travel in France. The French line mail steamers are well represented, the display consisting principally of six large paintings or dioramas, representing an arrival at

New York Harbor of two of the company's steamers, "Going on board at 'Havre,' showing the dock with one steamer ready to go, and taking passengers and baggage, and a special train arriving from Paris; the dining-room of a steamer at night, lighted with electricity; the arrival of an African steamer at Marseilles; a view of Algiers, with blue sky and sea, and steamer in harbor; the coast of Penhoek in St. Nazaire, with two steamers in process of construction.

These pictures were painted by Philpot, Hofbauer, Montenard and Motte. The remaining portion of the exhibit consists of models of coast steamers. Just to the right of the main entrance is the British section, extending through the main building into the annex. In front is a carriage and saddle exhibit. Then comes the splendid marine exhibit of Great Britain.

Nearly all the great ship building firms are represented by models, one, that of the warship Victoria, being thirty feet long, and cost $30,000. It is said to be the finest marine model ever made. The Fairfield Shipbuilding Company, builders of the new Cunarders, shows models of merchant marine.

The Thames Iron Works and Shipbuilding Company has models of every variety of war vessels. There are exhibits of naval armament and coast defense. In this section is a model twenty feet long, of the great bridge over the Frith of Forth, in Scotland. The railway section of the British exhibit includes a complete frame and locomotive shown by the London & North-Western Railway Company, the first exhibit of its kind in this country.

This company also shows models of railway stations, and one of the original Stephenson locomotives, the "Rocket." There is also shown the Trevithick locomotive, the first that ever drew cars. The London & North-Western exhibit includes a section of the actual railway, on which the Trevithick locomotive ran in 1804. The latter exhibit includes two of the original cars, the whole shipment having been sent directly from Wales, and weighing five tons.

The Great Western Railway Company of England exhibits in this section the original seven-foot-gauge locomotive, "Lord of the Isles," built in 1851 for exhibition at the first World's Fair.

The Canadians show a complete trans-continental train, such as are in use on the Canadian Pacific. The cars are of solid mahogany and lighted by electricity.

In striking contrast with this is the "dog train," such as is still in use in the far Northwest, with the energetic dogs obeying the commands of the half-breed drivers.

The German exhibit covers the entire southern portion of the main building and a part of the annex. All the decorative features of the exhibit, which are elaborate and beautiful, were furnished by the German Commission. A special feature of the display is an exhibit of the Siemens & Halske system of interlocking switching apparatus. Two locomotives and all kinds of railway cars, including ambulance cars used by the Red Cross Society in war time, are shown.

There is a great track museum from Osnabruck. One of the superbly varnished composite vehicles for first and second-class passengers, which belongs to a line running into Leipzig, was taken by an old woman in "specks" and a black veil, who approached me as I was looking at it, for a royal carriage.

"Humph!" she said, "I suppose them dukes and princes are terrible when they're ridin' around in them gilded cars! It could be a judgment on 'em if they wuz to run plumb off 'n break 'n'ir necks!"

What else can I tell you of such a vast show? Here is everything relating to transportation; here are bicycles in every stage of development; sedan chairs from Turkey and "rickshaws" from Japan; Mrs. French-Sheldon's lanquatin, in which she is carried in Africa; Mexican leather hammocks; Spanish mule trains; dahabees of the Nile and flatboats of the muddy Mississippi.

It is the museum of go; the epitome of push; the summing up of our modern material progress.

England's Leading Medical Man.

London Correspondence. Sir Joseph Fayrer has received a two years' extension in the Presidency of the India Medical Board as a reward for exceptional services. Few official "disappointments" have earned the indulgence so well as Sir Joseph, who won reputation as a zealous and capable doctor just forty years ago, when Lord Dalhousie especially promoted him for his services during the siege of Rangoon. At Lucknow, he greatly distinguished himself; but his subsequent achievements have been in more peaceful fields.

He has held medical charge of the Duke of Edinburgh and the Prince of Wales during their respective tours in India. In his own country he has held a host of important offices. Sir Joseph has been for nearly twenty years at the India office, is a copious author and belongs to the governing bodies of several medical institutions.

Increase of Home Consumption.

One of the strange features of dairying in this country is the fact that we are steadily developing an appetite for cheese, and while the exports show a steady falling off, the imports show steady gain, until we now import nine million pounds yearly of fancy, high-priced cheese, paying for it, at least three times per pound what we receive for ours. Just why our cheese makers do not develop some export along these lines of manufacture and supply the demand for this class of cheese is hard to see. Some of these high-priced imported cheeses are skims, and why pay 20 to 25 cents for a foreign cheese, and sell our own skims at 3 cents? That Canada picks up hundreds of tons of our best cheese and ships them to Europe as their own make, does not balance the thing up by any means. Why not discuss this phase of the dairy problem at the dairy conventions, and see if there is not a better way to dispose of part of the milk, at least, of this country, than to make one fashion of skim cheese? John Gould in Hoard's Dairyman.

JUST LIKE MOST WOMEN.

LIONS AND ELEPHANTS ARE AFRAID OF MICE.

Experiments With the Animals of a Circus Which Prove That the Kings of Beasts Have a Horror of Rodents.

Some interesting experiments with the larger animals in Barnum & Bailey's circus were made at Bridgeport, Conn., by "Tobey" Hamilton and a number of newspaper men. The party under the leadership of Mr. Hamilton entered the winter lair of the great beasts and found them looking very well after their holiday. We were accompanied by an attache who carried a cage containing a number of rats and mice, writes a correspondent of the Baltimore Herald, and one of the mice was thrown into the elephants' inclosure. It produced an immediate sensation. The immense creatures, twelve in number, perceived it at once, and at first stood transfixed with motionless trunks and frightened eyes.

Then they crowded and pushed together in nervous, jostling fashion, finally elevating their long, prehensile trunks into the air, trumpeting loudly and retreating from the object of terror—the little mouse—in one furious stampede, each seeking the furthest possible corner and violently striving to reach there first. Nothing was now visible of them save ponderous posteriors and nervously twitching tails, though occasionally, as an old elephant furtively glanced with an apprehensive side glance to the rear, an agonized eyeball, rolling in finest frenzy, conveyed to the astonished spectators some idea of the state of fright from which the animals were suffering.

The notable exception, however, to this ignominious defeat was the intrepid demeanor of one solitary elephant, who stood his ground with a majestic and immovable front. In fact it was easy to fancy that the heroic beast's trunk was curling at the tip with suppressed scorn at the pusillanimity of his inglorious brethren. One moment he stood his ground, and the next, with unmistakable decision, set his big foot down upon the foe.

Our next move was to the tigers' cage, where several gorgeous animals reposed blissfully ignorant of the advent of their tormentors. Now, although his usual aspect is calm, Grover—the tiger, not the president—is possessed of an extraordinarily wicked disposition, and is unlikely to permit any liberties to be taken with his royal personality. It is hard to imagine his being frightened at anything, however much he may be calculated to raise the hair of the onlooker.

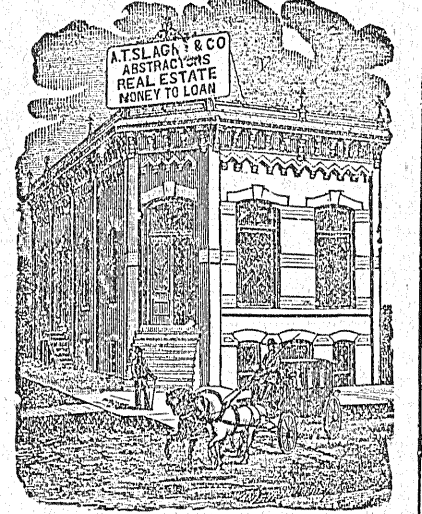

A mouse was introduced into his cage and the effect was as immediate as unsuspected. He was lying with his forepaws extended, and when the intruder appeared gradually drew them back, finally springing into a sitting position upon his haunches. He inclined his head forward fixing his eyes earnestly on the mouse; then he began to tremble at first slightly, but ending with a violent tremor which shook his huge body like an aspen leaf. A series of most melancholy howls soon began to leave his capacious mouth when suddenly and with evident effort he pulled himself together and ran away to the remotest possible point where he crouched and covered blinking uneasily at the mouse and continuing to utter cries.

Hitherto the mice, which had been exclusively used for our purposes, were fully as much frightened as the beasts themselves, but as we drew on to visit the lions it was resolved to experiment with some small rats and discover whether there was any appreciable difference in the result. To attain our purpose two or three of these were put into the lions' cage and affairs assumed an entirely new complexion. Queenly Jennie, the star lioness, was suddenly astounded by the receipt of a sharp bite upon the nose, whereupon the royal lady shrieked with a vehemence and shrillness thoroughly characteristic of her sex, and reminded the spectators irresistibly of what they might have expected from a woman under similar distressful conditions. The aggressive initiative of the little rats was by no means responded to by the lions, for they quickly followed the example of the other animals.

The fierce rodents, however, nothing daunted, continued to jump around the lions, endeavoring to get in an odd bite here and there with occasional success. The big beasts, a slight tap from one of whose paws would have effectually ended the strife forever, seemed to think only of their personal safety, and with growls and howls trotted round and round in very eccentric circles until they must certainly have grown dizzy from their efforts to escape their pursuers. At length the rats were placed hors de combat by being accidentally trodden on by the cowering lions, whom we now permitted to enjoy a well-earned repose.

Instinct in Birds. Man prides himself on his stupendous reasoning powers, but it is doubtful whether other creatures have not the same faculty in a much greater degree when in connection with their peculiar needs. There is little doubt but often the same bird comes to the same location it frequented the year before, though it has migrated hundreds of miles during the season. It requires judgment to distinguish between what the bird has or has not seen, so as not to take the wrong path, and judgment is the residuum of reason.

OUR MOTTO:

PLUCK, PERSEVERANCE AND PATRIOTISM.

A GIVE-AWAY.

How few women realize what a reflex of their character is imprinted on their faces. Were they to know the stories that eyes, cheeks and brows tell to the keen observer, they would be less ready to give way to pettishness, to fretting and to endless worry that slowly but surely are placing indelible marks on their countenances that may be called crow's feet, but which are really the shadows left by a cloudy temper. Complexion specialists may advocate massage, vapor baths and sundry other supposed to be beauty producers, but the women who desire real lasting beauty must not do those things that bring wrinkles and worn looks, and then hope to efface them by the remedies advocated above. A contented mind does more toward making a beautiful body than all the famous receipts of world-renowned beauties. A pure soul dwelling in one shines through the eyes, and sets its halo marks on the clear, unruddled brow. Kind and gentle thoughts will illumine even the plainest countenances, while discontent, envy and worry are the greatest wrinkle producers of the age. We can to a great extent govern our own expression, and on this feature largely depends the facial attractiveness. Many an otherwise lovely face has been marred by an unhappy, cruel or deceitful expressions that is the outward indication of the inward thought. Look to it, all ye beauty loving women, that you cultivate those thoughts and emotions that tend only to produce sweet and glorifying reflections on your countenance for the world to read. Place not too great confidence in the efficacy of pastes and powders, but pin your faith to the goodly thoughts that produce happier and more lasting results.

Our roads on the county line will undoubtedly be improved greatly ere long as both the commissioner of Grant and Elkland have made an effort to have them made. We can hardly say fixed, for they never have been good for anything in some places.

Messrs. Lippman Bros., Prop. P. P. P., Savannah, Ga.

Gentlemen,—I feel it my duty to inform you of the cure your wonderful medicine, P. P. P., wrought in my case. I have suffered for two years with dyspepsia and malaria in the worst form, and was a daily sufferer from sick headache. My bowels did not act but twice a week and I frequently only once a week. I could not retain food and my stomach was always uncomfortably heavy; I have tried pills, all kinds of medicines, but only found temporary relief in them; I was despondent and was hoping to soon be relieved in death. Seeing your P. P. P. advertisement I decided to try it and requested Dr. Peak to get me a bottle; I have taken two bottles and will soon get another, and I can now eat in peace and enjoy everything, and can sleep like a top. My headaches have ceased and my bowels are regular. I would advise all sufferers like myself to give P. P. P. a trial, and they will write you as I have that P. P. P. beats any medicine on the market. Yours truly, Curtis Collier, Artist Painter, Orlando, Fla.

this land. Men are such because lazy by nature and depraved by rum. They make a living by either appealing to the tender side of nature or to its fears. Success has made them bold, and idleness, dirty, drunken and filthy. All other human beings work for a living. The tramp will not so long as false charity harbors him and feeds him. In those places where he is compelled to work for the public in consideration of support he isn't found. A vigorous closing of the door to the tramp, or making him work for what he now gets for begging, would soon rid every community of the nuisance.

Vassar Pioneer: "A good, live newspaper is a town's best enterprise, and the business men should show their appreciation of its value by giving it a substantial support in the way of advertising patronage. There is occasionally a merchant who does not buy space in his local paper. If all should do likewise, what would become of the newspaper? Yes, and what would become of the town? Did you ever stop to think?

It should be the imperative duty of the village council to see to it that every dog within the corporation limits is either chained up or properly muzzled during the hot summer months. If there is not an ordinance to that effect one should be enacted at once. Such precaution is only in the line of public safety, and its importance demands immediate action.

KARR'S CORNERS.

The? is where are you going to spend the fourth?

Mrs. Ward has returned from her visit at Melvin.

David Jeneraux, of Wickware, is building John Muma's house.

Mr. McPherson's son, from out west, is at present visiting at his parental home.

Charley Snarey is visiting friends in this part at present. Give us a call Charles.

Our item last week should have read Edith and Mabel "Wilkinson" instead of Williamson.

Indian David was in this part last Saturday. Dave is through this part quite frequently lately.

Mrs. Nathan Knight has gone to visit with her parents, somewhere on the other side of Saginaw Bay.

Words, oaths, blows—reason put down, passion enthroned, ignorance manifested. Result, a black eye.

James Muma was over to Soule town on Saturday last. The boys who came to have their hair cut may come again next Saturday.

Mrs. Parmer Karr has returned from her visit with her son. Her granddaughter accompanied her and will remain for a visit with relatives here.

George Dewey has rented a house from John Murphy and has started keeping bachelor's hall. However we are not prepared to say how long Geo. will remain bachelor.

School in district No. 4, Grant, closes next Friday with a picnic on that day. The teacher Miss Spurgeon, we are informed, has done her work well. We feel pleased to report of his work, as being good and wish him future success.

Savannah, Ga., May 19th, 1892.
Messrs. Lippman Bros., Savannah, Ga.
Gentlemen,—For the benefit of all suffering from dyspepsia and general debility I beg to submit my testimonial to the efficacy of your P. P. P. (Prickly Ash, Poke Root and Potassium) as a positive cure for all their distressing complaints. My system was also full of malaria, my condition was growing very serious, I had no appetite, was losing strength and was completely broken down in health, but now my health is fully restored and I can eat like a field laborer without the slightest fear of any serious results. I really feel like a new man. I take great pleasure in telling the world that P. P. P. did the grand work of restoring me to my accustomed health. Yours truly, 6-23-4 W. S. Cherry.

It does the work, Mr. Chas. Gocha, Gaylord, Michigan, says: "I am asked, 'Did Brant's Balsam do you any good?' Well I should say it did! LaGrippe left me with a serious cough and lung trouble, for which I took about all the cough remedies I had ever heard of, without benefit. Mr. Russell, our druggist, suggested Brant's Balsam. As it was a large bottle for 25 cents I took one. It helped me. I used six bottles and was cured completely. (Cost $1.50.) Can heartily recommend it; it's a great medicine." 25 and 50c bottles at Fritz's Drug Store.

HEART DISEASE 30 YEARS.

GRAND ISLAND, NEB., April 8th, 1892.

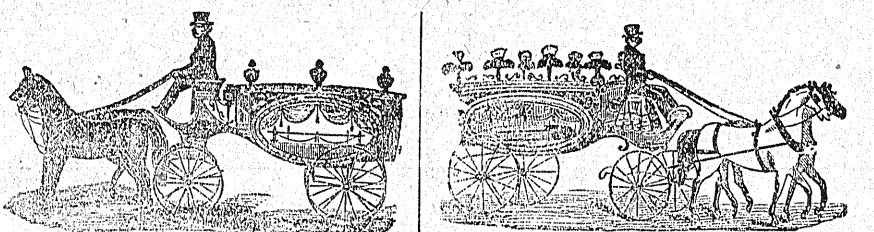

Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind.

GENTLEMEN: I had been troubled with HEART DISEASE for the last 30 years, and although I was treated by able physicians and tried many remedies, I grew steadily worse until I WAS COMPLETELY PROSTRATED AND CONFINED TO MY BED WITHOUT ANY HOPE OF RECOVERY. I would have died but for the fact that I had seen your advertisement, and it was with the greatest difficulty that my circulation could be started. I have now been cured, and I am able to do a good day's work for a man of 68 years of age. I give you my word that I have never felt so well since I have taken any, although I keep a bottle in the house in case I should need it. I have also used your NERVE AND LIVER PILLS, and think a great deal of them. Z. AVERY.
