A sad accident occurred three miles west of Carsonville on Monday, June 10th. Geo. Hayes was thrown from his wagon and instantly killed. He had just hitched up his team and started to go to a shingling bee in company with a brother and nephew, when the horses became frightened and ran away, throwing him out. The hub of the wheel struck him in the left side, breaking his ribs and crushing them into his heart. He was a prosperous young farmer 30 years of age, and a member of the K. O. T. M. A farmer near Carsonville asked $3 for a setting of his fine Wyandotte eggs, but none of the admirers of Wyandotte chickens would pay so much. Finally they heard that he was selling eggs for eating purposes to a certain grocer, so several purchased eggs at the regular market price and placed them under faithful sitters. But at the end of 21 days there were no signs of chicks. They have since learned that the clever farmer boiled the eggs slightly before he sold them, killing wanted to get something for practically

BRIEF ITEMS ABOUT MICHIGAN PEOPLE AND THINGS.

Free Silver Men Organize a Secret Society to Push Their Interests in the State. Lightning's Fatal Work at a Camp Meeting near Ravenna.

A Secret Free Silver Movement.

There has been organized at Grand Rapids a secret organization, the ob-Lect of which is to promulgate the doctrines of free silver coinage. The supreme organization is made up of seven executive officers and an advisory board. The executive board is as fol lows: Sybrant Wesselius, Geo. D. Bostock and A. F. Schafer, of Grand Rapids; Jas. M. Turner, Lansing; Chas. B. Chase, St. Louis; and C. Waterbury and J. T. Mathews, Ithaca. Some of the members of the advisory board are C. Sligh and ex-Congressman Richardson, Grand Rapids; Geo. P. Hummer, Holland; C. P. Black, Lansing; H. S. Pingree, Detroit; ex-Gov. Luce, Cold water; S. O. Fisher, Bay City, and A. B. Webber, Ionia. The regular sessions of the subordinate bodies are to be secret, but open sessions will be held for debates, etc. The organization is known as the "Honest Dollar Club," and is for the free and unlimited coin age of gold and silver at a ratio of 16 to 1

Killed by Lightning at Camp Meeting. The Free Methodist camp meeting at Ravenna opened with a sad occurrence. During the afternoon rain began falling and the people took to the tents for shelter. Suddenly there was a flash, followed quickly by a deafening crash. It was the only lightning of the day, and it struck a tent, instantly killing Mrs. Burleson, of Wayland, but left no mark upon her. Her sister, Mrs. Hilliard, was seriously shocked. but will recover, and her son, aged 21, was badly burned about the hip. Sixteen others were badly shocked

Shot and Killed an Indian.

Geo. Love. a prominent farmer near Elk Rapids, shot and killed an Indian squaw named Solomon, aged 90 years. The woman's ponies had been bothering him for some time and he locked them up. The squaw came and demanded them, but Love told her to pay dam-ages or leave them alone. She paid no attention to this. Love warned her to get out and shot her when she failed to obey. Love was arrested.

A Mad Mother's Awful Deed.

Mrs. Herman Becker, aged 34, and two children, a boy and girl, aged 4 and 5, were found in a little back cellar at their home at St. Louis with bullet holes in their heads. It is claimed that Mrs. Becker was not of sound mind, and there has been trouble in the family of late. She left a letter, saying that she was sick and so were the children, and they must die.

Is it a Murder?

Mrs. Benjamin Henderson, aged 60, of Highland Station, was found in a dying condition by her husband on return home from work. There were marks on her throat as if made by the fingers of a strong man. She was seen by neighbors several times during the day. A trampish looking man who was seen leaving the house by the back way is suspe

Woman's Press Association. The annual meeting of the Michigan Women's Press association was held at Lansing, with the president, Miss Emma E. Bower, of the Ann Arbor Democrat, in the chair. The women visited the industrial school for boys, Agricultural college and other points of interest. An enjoyable event was the reception tendered by Gov. and Children and Matches. Three small children of a farmer named Craig, living two miles north of Greenville, went to the barn to play and build a bonfire. The youngest child, 5 years old, was burned to death. The other two were badly injured while attempting to rescue the other. The barn was destroyed.

An Old Pioneer Burned to Death. Lewis Winters, an old pioneer of Newton, Calhoun county, was burned to death. The supposition is that children set fire to a pile of brush near the fence, and the old man, in fighting the fire to save the fence, became exhausted, fell over into the fire and was burned to death.

TALKED ABOUT SILVER. Convention of White Metal People Held at Memphis, Tenn. Probably the largest assembly ever held in this country to discuss a single theme of political economy was the gathering of 1,500 people representing every state south of the Ohio river and east of the Mississippi, at the free silver, or "honest money," convention at Memphis. The delegates were Democrats, Republicans and Populists, but all were united in the desire for free silver. Among the prominent speakers were Senator Turpie, of Indiana; Alexander Delmar, of California, and Congressman Jos. C. Sibley, of Pennsylvania, whom the silver advocates are urging forward as their candidate for president in 1896. Mr. Sibley aroused greatenthusiasm and made some severe ittacks upon President Cleveland and Secretary Carlisle for which he was greatly applauded. Senator Stewart, of Nevada, was the principal speaker at the second day's session and his speech was red hot. There was much intense feeling shown over the "Sibley idea" of making the silver question an issue independent of old party lines. A number of speakers denounced the scheme and claimed the question could be settled with the present party organizations. This conservative element prevailed in the resolutions, which were adopted, as they did not go beyond a strong presentation of the free silver views of the gathering. But the convention adjourned with a scism in it. One faction advocates the "Sibley idea" and the capture of the Democratic convention, and failing in that, independent political action, while others were sighting the issue strictly within party

REVIEW OF TRADE.

Dun's says: It is no longer a question whether business improves. Not for a long time have reports from all parts of the country been so uniformly favorable. The daily average of bank niformly favorable. The daily average of bank clearings in June is 21.8 per cent larger than last year, though 11.4 per cent less than in 1892. The most potent influence has been the receipt of more favorable advices regarding growing crops. Labor troubles are getting out of the way, wages in many establishments are rising, and with the iron industry just now leading, there is general improvement in manufactures. The monetary condition also helps. The time draws near when, with good crops exports will bring gold hither, and though foreign operations in stocks and bonds have been insignificant this week the effect of previous transactions has not been exhausted. The diminished receipts of money from the interior indicate better business, especially at the west, and the volume of commercial loads steadily rises and is now fair for this season even in a good year.

THE BULL MOOSE.

An Adventure with One of These Animals When It Hunted the Hunter.

From the Montreal Witness. A correspondent writing from Mecunoma. Muskoka, gives an interesting account of an adventure he had with a moose a few weeks ago, while employed in making a toboggan trail through one of the pine forests in that section of the country. While engaged at work he came across a moose yard and on looking around saw one of the "giants of the forest" about fifty yards distant. The story of his encounter is, perhaps, best told in the correspondent's own words:

"After a moment," he writes, "the moose turned and walked behind a hill, which, though not high, was steep. I ran to the top with all speed, hoping to get a view of the lordly creature as he made his way through the bush. I could not see him at first, but on looking down the steep incline there he was not ten yards away. He turned to make off, but striking his ribs against the projecting limb of a small hemlock he was thrown down and around the tree and as he rose he faced me. It was now my turn to run, for the moose charged at me with erected mane, expressing his rage by a fierce bellow. In turning I stumbled, the ground being very uneven, and his feet nearly came down on me as I dodged among some trees. I tried to strike with my hatchet, the only weapon I had, but did not succeed in injuring my pursuer. With some difficulty I at last got out into the deep snow where my snow shoes were of more use to me. The moose still pursued me, roaring at intervals, and one who has not heard a moose roar can form but little idea of the terrible bellowing noise. After several attempts to strike me with his front feet he balked and stood about twenty yards away pawing and roaring. I eagerly seized this opportunity to climb a tree and soon after the animal turned and made off. Of all my adventures in the bush, and they number a few, the one I have just related came the nearest to being my death."

A BRIDE'S TERROR.

Exciting Scenes in Church During the Brinckman-Linton Marriage.

Apropos of weddings, the scene in a fashionable London church when Mr. Theodore Brinckman, eldest son of Sir Theodore Brinckman, baronet, was married to Miss Linton, stendaughter of Lord Aylesford, is likely to lead to a remarkable action in law. Mr. Brinckman was only divorced from his first wife a few months ago, and it was the wife who divorced the husband. There are many clergymen of the church of England who are of the opinion that Mr. Brinckman's second marriage, if permitted at all, should have been free from religious observance, and the Rev. William Black, who is one of the Cowley Brotherhood, made a formal protest against the wedding proceeding. There was awful excitement in the church, which was filled with people of fashionable and aristocratic position. Mr. Black was suported by the Duke of Newc 20 years of age, who was charged with another clergyman, and the church for having poisoned her babe with paris a few minutes resounded with excited green, pleaded guilty to manslaughter voices. The poor little bride turned as white as death, but the officiating clergyman, Rev. Mr. Ker Gray, declined to accept the protest and continued reading the service that made the two one during the whole of the Harlem was arrested for swindling disturbance. On leaving the church a friend of Mr. Brinckman called Rev. Mr. Black a scoundrel and threatened to thrash the little Duke of Newcastle. A policeman was called and cards were exchanged and Mr. Black drove away from the procession of wedding carriages after saying he intended to ventilate his grievance and the insult to his church by bringing action against the gentleman who in his indignation had called him by an offensive name.

He tells the following story of a wonderful escape, and the incidents con-nected with the dangerous position in which he was placed. He says, some months ago my attention was attracted by a swelling of my groins, which began to increase in size to such an extent that I was alarmed. It spread down my legs to my feet, and I was bloated from my waist down, so badly that I could not pull my pants, over my legs, and I had to open my shoes fully two inches before I could get them on. Even my face became puffed up; and my whole system seemed affected. I could hardly drag myself upstairs to unlock my men. I consulted a physician, one of the best in the city. He said the swelling was caused by an irritation of the kidneys, and I commenced treatment with him. But I seemed to be getting worse. I was strongly urged by a friend to try Doan's Kidney Pills, and I finally consented. After the first week I commenced to see a change, and felt much better. This was encouraging, and I continued their use. I took five boxes in all, with the happy result that I was completely cured. ve never heard of any medicine which had such a pronounced and radical effect, and yet not affect the system generally and leave it in such a good condition. I feel better now than I ever did. After the effect was once established the swelling gradually disappeared until it was entirely gone. LIFE STORY OF EX-SECRETARY OF THE TREASURY.

the Country from Much Trouble Immediately After the Close of the ex-secretary of the treasury, was bornat Kennebunk. Me. in 1808. He entered Bowdoin college, but ill-health comnelled him to leave it before completing his sophomore year. Then he studied law, and on being admitted to he bar in 1833 removed to Fort Wayne, Ind. In 1835 he was chosen cashier and manager of the Fort Wayne branch of the State Bank of Indiana, and rehe was elected president of the state bank. He was still in that position when President Lincoln, by the advice of Mr. Chase, who was then secretary of the treasury, made Mr. McCulloch comptroller of the currency. In this position re assisted in organizing the newly grandfather, who was a great employcreated bureau and settled many of the details of the new banking system. He also promoted the conversion of the leading financial institutions of the country into national banks.

In March, 1865, he entered Lincoln's cabinet as secretary of the treasury, and held that position throughout Johnson's troubled administration until General Grant appointed his successor in 1869. At that time the government was in great financial straits. The treasury was nearly empty and the exenses were enormous. McCulloch's first work was to raise money with which to pay the half million soldiers who were about to quit the service for private life. In less than six months this money was raised, all the national obligations met at maturity and the work of a debt reluction was begun. The conversion of $1,000,000,000 short-time bonds into a funded debt was also accomplished on highly favorable terms, and in less than two years the debt of the country was placed on a satisfactory basis.

The four annual reports which Mr. McCulloch made to congress as secretary of the treasury might deserve to be published together as a text book of mational finance, just as several of Mr. Gladstone's budgets have been resurrected from public documents and published in a volume by themselves. Mr. McCulloch did not deem a contraction of the currency, which was vastly inflated at the close of the war, as the only thing necessary to bring about a resumption of specie payments, but he leemed it the most important thing,

HUGH M'CULLOCH. and in his first report urged strenuous ly that immediate steps be taken for a low and steady contraction. Congress did not authorize as much contraction as he asked for, but it authorized the retirement of $10,000,000 of greenbacks in six months, and the retirement of $4,- 000,000 a month thereafter.

A couple of years after, however, the nflationists got the upper hand, and this act was repealed, and the era of inflation prolonged. Mr. McCulloch urged fiscal, political and constitutional reasons against the maintenance of a legal tender currency in time of peace. He argued the necessity of giving a pledge that the 5-20s would be paid in coin. He urged the reduction of the debt as fast as possible. In his report of 1866 he said that specie payments might be brought. about by July 1, 1868. The strength of the inflationists in congress defeated the means whereby this was to be prought about, but in his report of 1868 he recommended that the greenbacks be deprived of their legal tender quality after 1871. In all his reports he urged the immediate rehabilitation of the south for economic reasons. After Grant's election and the appointment of Boutwell as his succes sor, Mr. McCulloch established in London the banking house of Jay Cooke & Co., in 1873, when the London house reorganized under the name of McCulloch & Co. A year afterward he returned to the United States and retired from business for a few years. In 1884, however, on the resignation of Walter Q. Gresham, President Arthur called on Mr. McCulloch to resume his post at Washington as secretary of the treasury. He has lived since his retirement from public life at the natfilional capital.

FROM A FOUR STORY WINDOW. Woman Then Walks Upstairs Again

Unhurt by Her Header. Mrs. John Henry, who is big and stout and who lives on the fourth floor of No. 265 Adams street, Brooklyn, was enjoying a rest after her household labors the other day, and while looking out of a window fell asleep. A few moments later something dropped on the roof of a news stand underneath the window, startling the newsman out of his dreams and causing the knot of playing children to scatter in affright. That something was Mrs. Henry. She rolled off the news stand roof to the midewalk, rose to her feet, calmly brushed off her clothes, walked up the stoop, and disappeared through the doorway The startled vender of newspapers drew his hand across his eyes as if to dispel the illusion of a dream. Awakened to the reality of the thing he walked to the Adams Street Police station and reported the remarkable occurrence to the sergeant at the desk, beieving that Mrs, Henry must be dying from the effects of her fall. An officer found Mrs. Henry sitting on the side of leave of absence.

a bed calmly engaged in combing her DAIRY AND POULTRY hair. She seemed utterly unconcerned as to the trifling matter of her fourstory fall and was astonished at the presence of the officer. "Where is the woman who fell from the window a few minutes ago?" inquired the policeman. "That's me," was the laconic re joinder. "What of it?"

"Ain't you hurt in any way?" "O, jarred my teeth a little, but I lon't think any of them are loosened, said Mrs. Henry. "I ain't hurt any, but I'm afraid I may have a headache to-night.'

The Sun is evidently designed to attract the Although the principal part of the reading matter is Japanese, there are several pages of English notes, and the first page, containing the title and the table of contents of the entire magazine, is in English. The notes in that language principally relate to incidents in the late war. Nearly all the Japaese articles are based on or refer to the war. It is natural that the minds of Japanese writers should be filled with that event. The leading articles in the third issue are: "On the Conquest of China," by Ki Merkai; "A New Field in the Literary World," by Iwai Onishi; "Education, after the Invasion," by Nangaku Fujisawa; " On War," by Kijoomi Chikami; "International Law, and the Safety of the Army," by Sankura Husakabe. Some other subjects dealt with are "The Relation of Buddhism and the Fine Arts," "A Line of Demarcation between Belles-Letters and History," and "The No Dance." Poetry, the drama, law, religion, medicine and fiction are dis-cussed. The Sun evidently aspires to be as serious a magazine as any which this country possesses. Its class would be that of the North American Review and Nineteenth Century. Judging by the list of contents, it contains an enormous quantity of matter. The publisher appears to be Hakubunkwin of Honcho Sanchome, Tokio.

Disregard of this rule is being seen every day in the number of dead hogs strewn along the unloading chutes. As the weather gets warm hogs must be loaded to prevent crowding. As high as twenty dead hogs have been taken from a single car this week, because of carelessness in loading. Give the hogs room. Give them also some good clean straw to lie in.

The government force began its rigid inspection May 1. They will throw out all animals considered not fit for human food. This will include calfy cows, piggy sows, and lamby ewes that are pretty far advanced; scabby sheep, shelly canners, cholera pigs, lumpyjaws, badly bruised stock of all kinds; thin, wasted sheep, "busted pigs," etc. Everything on this order will be held out, passed upon by veterinarians, and if not passed or condemned may be sent back to the country. Condemned stock will be at once tanked.—Live Stock Report. Chicago.

Grain in the Cow's Rations. In the report of a New York farmers' neeting notice the following: "Prof. Robinson of Ontario is reported as saying that no cow should be fed more than eight pounds of cotton seed meal a day. The cow will not respond to more than that. If the digestive organs of the cow are strained, she is injured permanently. I have visited several stables in Orange county, recently, and in every one I detected a smell that show-ed plainly to me that the cows were being fed too much grain. It had passed undigested and had fermented. One should watch the droppings to see if the grain is all being digested. Very many dollars are lost by over-feeding. Then, too, one cow pays for her food in the milk pail; another one, turns her foods into fat. One cow will eat, digest and assimilate a certain amount of grain, another will not, while another will eat and pay for more. Individuality of the animal must be studied by the feeder, in order to rationally feed a herd of dairy cows. All these conditions must be considered when ered in calculating the worth of a food for the dairy cow." Now, while the conclusions drawn are quite correct, yet farmers must use care

answering the question just as the price of milk is considered. The manurial value of a food must also be consid-

they paid half price for (pretending were to be used as soap grease etc.). This statement of the old man called the attention of western men present, who were disposed to take issue with him on the fact. In other words, his veracity was assailed, which seemed to mortify him greatly, and he publicly asserted that all that he had said to me was true, and he thought he could substantiate it in the city. I said to the party of gentlemen present, if this fact was known to our farmers they would raise their own meat rather than eat meat that had died or was sick with cholera when butchered. I know from observation, that when a og dies of the cholera he turns perfectly red, and I further know that I have taken large sides of bacon out (the boxes of bacon we buy) that was perfectly red, which makes me believe every word the old Iowa man said was true, and such meat as I described died of cholera.

I have diverged a little from my story: The old Iowa man was stirred up considerably. In a short time he came back to me with a gentleman of his acquaintance, who said he had bought thousands of hogs in Chicago and that every word he said was true, and intimated that the dead hogs bought for soap grease went through the same channel that the live ones did and eventually landed in the bacon box with the others. Now, I appeal to the farmers of Fort Bend county to know if you are still going to buy such bacon as I have described when you have a country far superior to the West to raise your own meat in. We must wake up to our own interest, and sell instead of buy bacon.

Anything on the "Bob" or "Deacon" or-der—that is, less than one week old or weighing under 75 pounds-is sure to be thrown out and find its way into the tank. Don't ship any scabby sheep to market, as they are very liable to be con-demned. Lamby ewes should also be held back, as where they are pretty far advanced they cannot be sold, under the new inspection rules, and will either have to go back into the country or be slaughtered, and in all probability condemned here.

Don't load too many hogs in one car.

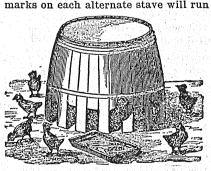

Barrels for Chicken Coops Every poultry raiser has used old barrels as coops. But most of them have employed them merely for nests at night, laying the barrel down on its side, putting in a handful of straw, and a brick on each side to keep it from rolling. This plan is good enough when there are no rats or cats around, or when the fowls are allowed the range of the farm. In fact in the east it is common practice to fix up such a barrel, drive down a stake twenty or more feet from it, and tie a string to the hen, protecting the leg with a piece of cloth. The fowls soon get used to being tied, and thus the hen and her brood are kept off the gardens. But this is not an ideal way, nor do ve wish to recommend it. The illustration here given shows a barrel ar-mit her chicks to run at will. The barrel is separated into two parts by nailing down the hoops onto the staves where the separation is to be made. Then sawing the hoops gives two coops. Care should be taken to The average weight of each beast be make this separation at a point on the barrel where the bottom will split lengthwise of the grain. OUR MOTTO: PERSEVERANCE PROGRESS AND PATRIOTISM.

Three Books For a Penny.

The Experiment Station connected with the State Agricultural College has ecently issued several bulletins upon orticultural topics that are of value to every person that has a garden or a fruit tree. These bulletins are sent by mail postpaid, to all persons who desire

The following outline will give an dea of the ground they cover. Bulletin 119 gives the results in 1894 with potatoes. In addition to a variety test of over one hundred varieties. which included all of the new kinds, it gives a method of preventing scab, and dis cusses such practical questions as heavy versus light seeding, sprouted and unsprouted seed and the loss in several years. In Bulletin 120, the Vegtable Novelties and Notions are discussed. A careful perusal will give one a good idea of | for a couple of weeks. the varieties best suited for planting either for home use or market, and will enable him to avoid the worthless kinds that are often placed in the market

Our readers will find Bulletin 121 of even more general importance, as it treats of the Insects and Diseases of the fruit and Vegetables. All of the more have a half dozen or more insects and cottage. He will build at the Mosher deseases to contend against and the owner is often at a loss to know what remedy to apply. In this bulletin the formulas for preparing the various inefficides and fungicides are given and the time and method of applying them attending the funeral of C. Oesterles please as often as you like, but not to is considered. A chapter is only devot- child, held at the house at ten o'clock ed to the various pumps and other a. m. The sermon was preached by spraying machines now on the market. Rev. G. E. Manley. Bulletin 122 gives the Small Fruit esults are given in this bulletin, togeth-

r with brief cultural notes. The Native Plums and Russian Cherries receive attention in Bulletin 123 While these fruits are not recommended for the general planting where the good points are noted and some of the better varieties are mentioned that have value where other sorts fail.

The apple is the fruit that is perhaps nost commonly grown in Michigan and its importance is recognized in Bulletin 124. It discusses such important questions as soil and location; preparation of the land and drainage; selection of varieties and trees; season, distance and method of planting; the care of the orchard including pruning, cultivating, manuring and spraying. Our readers will also find in this bulletin the compulsory spraying law passed by the last legislature, requiring under certain conditions, the spraying of trees infested with insects or contageous diseases As the penalty for non-compliance with the law is fine or imprisonment, every one should be posted as to its requirements.

If any of our readers desire these bulletins, write to I. H. Butterfield, Agricultural College, Mich., and request hat they should be mailed to you.

in this city and in that. Why should this be, any more in the women's case than in the man's? In every case it is evident there are more fallen men than women. Why make so much of the lesser number than the statistics? Why so much talk about the wronged and so little about the wronger? Why so much effort to save the one and so little to hinder her fall? Why establish an equal law of morality protecting one, and stigmatizing the other. Is it not time to focus light on this thing? The Geo. W. The trolley dirge, which has just band breaks out in the wildest, most time, is like an ordinary dirge except that the clang of the trolley car bell is a part of it, and at one point the whole band breaks out in the wildest, most blood-curdling shriek, which suggests deadly wheels cutting people to pieces.

As 108 persons have been killed and 500 maimed by the Brooklyn trolley, this is not inappropriate music.

American school children have just as much spirit now as they had in the old days, when they waited on the British general in Boston to protest against the petty annoyances from his soldiers. The fakirs who tried to cheat $00 school children in New York with a show that did not come up to the advertisement came to this conclusion when they had to take refuge in the cellar and call for police protection.

It is a wise merchant who learns from the ad-smith to have his advertising in type, days, if not weeks, ahead of the time he intends to use it. All Statutes requiring judges of probate in certain cases to give notice to foreign consults on an application for administration of the estates of deceased persons; ap-large city firms, especially in furniture, clothing and jewelry lines, have their ads written, set up, and in proof from a week to six months ahead. Thus the clothing house is ready with a mackintosh ad on rainy days and an ulster ad on blizzard days. This affords opportunity to revise and correct to a point of perfection impossible in eleventh-hour work.

According to the St. Paul Dispatch another effort is now being made to secure the pardon of the Younger brothers. These men invaded the state of Minnesota with a gang of bandits on a mission of robbery and murder. They accomplished a murder at Northfield, but failed to carry off any booty. They deserved hanging for the murder of the bank cashier. Their good conduct in prison is no atonement for that crime. Exact justice and good example require that they serve out the term of their imprisonment. No governor can pardon them without subjecting him and the situes of deceased persons; approved April 4.

known names of "Food for Infants," with a notice printed on the wrapper to the effect that somebody else's food for infants was better. The justice declined to grant any injunction, and dismissed the suit on the ground that the defendant had not committed any wrong in using the plaintiff's wrapper as a vehicle for praising his own or other wares so long as the addition to the wrapper contained no direct disparagement of the compound which the plaintiff manufactured. The case was taken to the court of appeal, in which a decision has now been rendered reversing the action and ordering a new trial.

The meeting of artist and patron could not be more charming and cordial. Both had much to say, new plans to discuss,—the one to consider robes, the other to evolve new schemes of extravagance and—revenge.

The making up of that piece of Surah absorbed all Mrs. Judge Gearing's attention the next day. Several ladies in the hotel were greatly disturbed that Mademoiselle Rochet should give all her time to the Judge's wife; and Mademoiselle. with the sweetest smile possible, answered them that Madame the Judge's wife was an old patron, the first, indeed, she had found in

The Judge, left thus to himself, found time to wander alone along the shore. Naturally enough, the quaint tower of the light-house attracted his attention, and, after visiting the little village to get letters and to see if any one knew when Mr. Manning's yacht would return, he set out along the shore-path towards the light. On the way he met a sturdy young fellow in fishing-costume. His blue eyes seemed intelligent and open, and he ventured to stop and ask him if there was any one about there who might know the whereabouts of the yacht.

"Yes, sir: I'm her skipper. She's expected back here to-day. I think I sighted her 'bout half an hour ago from the light. I'm going to the vil-

PRINCE OF NAPLES LOOKING FOR A WIFE.

Princess Alexandra Is Named-She To the Prettiest of the Unmarried Descendants of Queen Victoria of England-Now Too Young.

(Special Correspondence.)

RINCESS Alexandra Louise Olga Victoria was born on Sept. 1, 1878, and is therefore only a little over sixteen and a half years very likely that her marriage to anybody will be cele brated for a good while yet, though the Prince of Naples and Prince Ernest of Hohenlohe have been mentioned as betrothed to her, for the reason that the education of the princess will not be completed for some time. She is the fourth child of the Duke of Edinburgh, now the reigning duke of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha. and she is altogether the prettiest of the unmarried young women who are descendants of Queen Victoria. s, however, no prettier than her eldest sister, Marie, who was married in 1893 to Prince Ferdinand of Roumania.

Distinct tides in the atmosphere, corresponding to those of the sea, and produced twice daily by lunar attraction, have been traced by M. Bouquet de la Grye in the barometric records of stations removed from powerful local disturbances. The bottom of the Atlantic forms a sort of terrace along the continent, sloping gradually for several miles, then suddenly descending to a far greater depth. In general, about 100 miles from the shore there is a depth of 100 fathoms, but in ten miles the depth exceeds 1,000 fathoms. Advertising without a well-defined plan is as foolish as going to sea without a compass. It is an apparent fact that advertising space on the stations and in the cars of the New York elevated railroads is not in use by advertisers to the extent it was six months ago. Although advertising pays, and pays well, yet not one advertisement in six brings back its cost to the advertiser. It is out of repeated failure that the greatest advertising successes are evolved.

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 50c and $1 bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

gave rise to an amusing comedy of contion to restrain it.

The Flatbush and Flatlands line runs away out into the region of cornfields, truck farms and forests, lately gathered into Brooklyn's municipal area. When the car started from the end of the route it had aboard one passenger, a pleasant faced young man who carried a large leather handbag. He was well dressed, but his clothes were covered with dust and his shoes with mud, suggesting that he had been roaming across lots in the rural wards. As the car approached and passed Prospect park it filled up with Sunday strollers.

The young man sat beside the stove with his bag on his knees. After awhile he opened the bag a trifle, shook it Then he put his hand in and seemed to gans of the body, taking up the work of be gently stirring up its contents. The passengers sitting directly opposite to him became interested in his doings, but he didn't look up. After shaking the bag from side to side for a little while he bent over and became interested in some mysterious business which for the rest of the trip absorbed his entire attention and also that of his fellow passengers.

He reached down into the bag with carefully in the hollow of his palm, weighed it carefully, held it to his ear, shook it, held it to his ear again and it into his overcoat pocket. Then he reached into the bag again and went through the same motions, except that this time he placed the something carefully in one corner of the bag. First one and then another of the passengers became interested in the young man and his performance until very soon every one was peering closely, some almost painfully, over at him and his bag. But he never looked up. By and by the conductor came in and walked nervously the length of the car several times, peering into the young man's bag as he passed. But the bag was open only a trifle, and he could see nothing of its the matter with a man who stood on

"There are vital objections," was the reply. "The skin, it is acknowledged, bears a most important relation to the body. First, it acts as a protective agent, covering the sensitive tissues of the flesh. Second, it acts as the agent of the mind, conveying all sensations of heat, cold, friction and the like. Third, it directly aids all the other orbecome unable to perform their functions. The skin assists all the organs of secretion and excretion in the entire ystem, and for that reason great attention should be paid to keeping it in a healthy condition. Although realizing its important functions, people, instead of protecting this wonderful covering of theirs, try by every means in their power to destroy it. Soap does not cleanse the skin. When the skin is dirty, his right hand, lifted out something it is unhealthy, and the organs within the body can never be cleansed by all the soaps in the world. The only stains, blots, etc., on the surface of the skin then decisively reached around and put that people need to get rid of cannot be removed by soap. Some other chemical ointment or fluid has to be resorted to to obliterate them. As far as regards the dust and dirt which naturally adhere to the body, dust and dirt, being earthly and material, are much better brushed off than washed off, and soap does not aid in the process."-Philadelphia Press
