It is very singular how the fact of a man's death often seems to give people a truer idea of his character, whether for good or for evil, than they have ever possessed while he was living and acting among men. Death is so genuine a fact that it excludes falsehood, or betrays its emptiness; it is a touchdown that proves the gold, and dishonors the baser metal. Could the departed, whoever he may be, return in a week after his decease, he would almost invariably find himself at a higher or a lower point than he has formerly occupied on the scale of public appreciation.

According to the latest official report the Japanese navy consists of two firstclass battle ships and six projected; one second-class battle ship, captured from the Chinese; five armored cruisers, ten second-class cruisers and six building or projected, and seventeen vessels which may be ranked as thirdclass cruisers. Spain has one firstclass battle ship and one building, one port-defense ship, eight first-class cruisers and three building, six secondclass cruisers, one building; ninetynine third-class cruisers, three building; thirty-six first-class torpedo craft, two building, and two second-class torpedo craft. The United States has twelve sea-going battle ships, two armored cruisers in commission, one ram, six double-turret monitors, fourteen single-turret monitors, besides a considerable number of other vessels.

The value of the pearls found during 1896 on the coast of the gulf of Lower California amounted to $350,000. Besides, there were, however, also exported 5,000 tons of mussel shells, the value of which was estimated at a further $1,250,000. The pearl-fishing with appurtenances forms the entire occupation of the natives, and La Paz, the capital for this trade in the peninsula, exists exclusively upon this industry. Until a few years ago only native divers had been employed, and the greatest depth to which they could dive was thirty-five feet. Upon the introduction of the modern diving anparatus a depth of 180 feet was accomplished, and while formerly the best divers could not remain longer than two minutes under water, a modern diver thinks nothing of staying for two hours at a depth of 100 feet, although at a still greater depth the stay is necessarily shortened on account of the enormous volume of water above.

In most houses there is a picture of Christ. Sometimes it represents him with face effeminate; sometimes with a face despotic. I have seen West's grand sketch of the rejection of Christ; I have seen the face of Christ as cut on an emerald, said to be by command of Tiberius Caesar; and yet I am convinced that I shall never know how Jesus looked until, on that sweet Sabbath morning, I shall wash the last sleep from my eyes in the cool river of heaven. I take up this book of divine photographs, and I look at Luke's sketch, and at Paul's sketch, and I say, with Isaiah, "Wonderful!"

You want things logical and consistent, and you say, "How could Christ be God and man at the same time?" John says Christ was the Creator: "All things were made by him, and without him was not anything made." Matthew says that he was omnipresent: "Where two or three are met together in my name, there am I in the midst of them." Christ declares his own eternity: "I am Alpha and Omega." How can he be a lion, under his foot crushing kingdoms, and yet a lamb licking the hand that slays him? At what point do the throne and the manger touch? If Christ was God, why flee into Egypt? Why not stand his ground? Why, instead of bearing a cross, not lift up his right hand and crush his assassins? Why stand and be spat upon? First-over the forces of nature. The sea is a crystal sepulchre. It swallowed the Central America, the President, and the Spanish Armada as easily as any fly that ever floated on it. The inland lakes are fully as terrible in their wrath. Galilee, when aroused in a storm is overwhelming, and yet that sea crouched in his presence and licked his feet. He knew all the waves and winds. When he beckoned they came. When he frowned, they fled. The heel of his foot made no indentation on the solidified water. Medical science has wrought great changes in rheumatic limbs and diseased blood, but when the muscles are entirely withered no human power can restore them, and when a limb is once dead, it is dead. But here is a paralytic-his hand lifeless. Christ says to him, "Stretch forth thy hand!" and he stretches it forth.

In the Eye Infirmary, how many diseases of that delicate organ have been cured! But Jesus says to one born blind, "Be open!" and the light of heaven rushes through gates that have never before been opened. The frost or an axe may kill a tree, but Jesus smites one dead with a word.

WONDERFUL ESCAPE.

Related by a Keeper of the Michigan State Prison at Jackson.

Mr. A. E. Wing resides at 612 N. Jackson Street, Jackson, Mich. He is a keeper in the Michigan State Prison, a man of sterling integrity, and whose word is beyond dispute. He tells the following story of a wonderful escape, and the incidents connected with the dangerous position in which he was placed. He says, some months ago my attention was attracted by a swelling of my groins, which began to increase in size to such an extent that I was alarmed. It spread down my legs to my feet, and I was bloated from my waist down, so badly that I could not pull my pants, over my legs, and I had to open my shoes fully two inches before I could get them on. Even my face became puffed up; and my whole system seemed affected. I could hardly drag myself upstairs to unlock my men. I consulted a physician, one of the best in the city. He said the swelling was caused by an irritation of the kidneys, and I commenced treatment with But I seemed to be getting worse. I was strongly urged by a friend to try Doan's Kidney Pills, and I finally consented. After the first week I commenced to see a change, and felt much better. She glides back, ghostlike, over the lawn. Mrs. Crayford rises and puts down the volume that she has been reading. It is a record of explorations in the Arctic seas. The time has gone by when the two lonely women could take an interest in subjects not connected with their own anxieties. Now, when hope is fast failing them-now, when their last news of the Wanderer and the Sea-Mew is news that is more than two years old-they can read of nothing, but dangers and discoveries, losses and rescues, in the terrible Polar Unwillingly, Mrs. Crayford puts her bcok aside and goes to the piano-Mozart's "Air in A, with Variations," lies open on the instrument. One after another she plays the lovely melodies, so simply, so purely beautiful, of that unpretending and unrivalled work. At the close of the ninth variation (Clara's favorite) she pauses, and turns toward the garden.

"Shall I stop there?" she asks. There is no answer. Has Clara wandered away out of hearing of the music that she loves—the music that harmonizes so subtly with the tender beauty of the night? Mrs. Crayford rises and advances to the window.

No! there is the white figure standing alone on the slope of the lawnthe head turned away from the house; the face looking out over the calm sea, whose gently rippling waters end in the dim line on the horizon, which is the line of the Hampshire coast.

Mrs. Crayford advances as far as the path before the window and calls to her. "Clara!" Again there is no answer. The white figure still stands immovably in its place. With signs of distress in her face, but with no appearance of alarm, Mrs. Crayford returns to the room. Her own sad experience tells her what has happened. She summons the servants, and directs them to wait in the drawing room until she calls to them. This done, she returns to the garden, the engines, told from time to time of and approaches the mysterious figure

No! Mrs. Crayford removed the cover from her newspaper as usual. Clara laid her newspaper aside unopened, on the garden seat.

In silence Mrs. Crayford looked where she always looked, at the column devoted to the latest intelligence from foreign parts. The instant her eye fell on the page she started with a loud cry of joy. The newspaper fell from her trembling hand. She caught that I love you. Richard Wardour's Clara in her arms. "Oh, my darling! my darling! news of them at last." Without answering, without the slightest change in look or manner, Clara took the newspaper from the

She waited and looked at Mrs. Cray-"Can you bear it, Lucy?" she asked, "if I read it aloud?"

Mrs. Crayford was too agitated to answer in words. She signed impatiently to Clara to go on. Clara read the news which followed the heading in capital letters. Thus it ran:

"The following intelligence from St John's, Newfoundland, has reached us for publication: The whaling vessel Blythewood is reported to have met with the surviving officers and men of the Expedition in Davis Strait. Many are stated to be dead, and some are supposed to be missing. The list of the saved, as collected by the people of the with their play. Nebraska a Greet Wheat State.

This year Nebraska has come to the very front rank as a wheat producing state, with her splendid crop of 35,000,000 bushels of spring wheat, averaging over 22 bushels to the acre, and 5,000,000 bushels of winter wheat, which will average 21 bushels to the acre. The table given below, which has been carefully compiled, shows what will surprise many, that Nebraska stands third among the states as a wheat producer, and it must be bourne in mind that the states that outrank her are almost ex-clusively wheat states, whereas Nebraska is a country of diversified crops, corn being her principal product.

rom Farm Poultry.

Poultry breeders will read with interbeen recently collected for the French department of agriculture. The income derived by French people who rear fowls, according to octroi and market returns, is 337,100,000 francs, of which 153,000,000 francs represent the value of the flesh, and 183,600,000 francs that of the eggs. These astounding figures show the importance of poultry breeding as a source of profit, and the following article upon eggs will no doubt prove interesting. Eggs are the one article of agricultural produce for which the demand is unlimited. They not only mean money, but they command prices that admit of profit compared with which beef and mutton are of little account, and wheat arely worth mentioning. Hens. for those who know how to utilize them, lay eggs which, if not made of gold, are quite capable of being turned into that metal, when they are retailable all the year around, one month with nother.

The masters of French cookery however, affirm that it is easy to dress them in more than five hundred different ways, each method not only economical, but salutatory in the highest degree. No honest appetite ever yet rejected an egg in some guise. It is and in the most concentrated shape. any other animal food. Kings eat them plain as readily as do the human tribesmen. After the victory of Muhdorf, when the Kaiser Ludwig sat at meat with his burggrafs and great captains, he determined on a piece of luxury---"one egg to every man, and two to the excellently valiant Schwep- and scrape over. The merits of eggs do not end here. In France alone the wine clarifiers use more than eighty millions a year, and the Alsatians consume fully thirtyeight millions in calico printing and for dressing the leather used in making the finest of French kid gloves. Final ly, not to mention various employments for eggs in the arts, they may, the farmers' part, be converted into ouyer. This supply, prodigious as it seems, is, however, a mere trifle compared with the quantity required.

For if the egg eaters of England are put at twenty-five millions, the number mentioned would not admit of each of them consuming more than about est the following statistics, which have twenty four per annum. This, of course is far below the mark. Many middleclass families use for the breakfast table and for cooking fully a hundred per week, while confectioners, hotels, restaurants and others must consume every day four or five times as many, to say nothing of the cratefuls absorbed by the various arts and manufactures. In one photographic establishment alone two millions are used every year; while the amount required for various processes in calico printing, leather dressing, and in book binding must exceed the number employed as food. From what quarter then, are the wants of Britain supplied? English eggs are not manufactured in American, as an ingenious myth, circu. lated some years ago, affirmed to be the case. The simple truth is, that the eggs are imported. The extent to which they are brought across the sea is proved by the fact that last year England paid fifteen million dollars to the foreign farmers for eggs. Farmer Secures a Wife by Correspond ence, but Jealousy Leads to Murder and Suicide-Pearl Morrison's Murderer Confesses.

Bloody Tragedy Near Grand Rapids. H. A. Dailey, a well-to-do Jennison man, shot his wife and then took poison and died while in the charge of the officers. The woman may possibly

Last April Dailey sent a letter to Mayor Swift, of Chicago, saying he wanted a woman of mature years as a wife, and could give her a good home. The letter was published and Dailey received nearly 500 answers, and out of the lot selected Mrs. Hattie Newton, a Chicago widow. Three months ago they were married. Dailey was 70 vears old and his bride 45. Dailey knew nothing of his wife's antecedents, and their life was unhappy owing to Dailey's jealousy. After a bitter quarrel the woman refused to occupy the same room with Dailey. He gave her three days to resume wifely relations, but she refused and said she was going back to Chicago. On the third morning he forced his way into her bedroom and, pressing a musket against her right side, fired. She fled from the house in her nightdress and fell bleeding on the doorstep where she was found. Dailey was at once arrested, but before taking the train for Grand Rapids he was allowed to enter a saloon and drink several glasses of beer. He managed to slip some strychmine into one glass and in a few moments was dead. Dailey had a fine farm and considerable money and drew $30 a month pension. Nothing is known of Mrs. Dailey's past life.

Dailey left a note, indicating that he had already planned suicide, in which he said: "Too many railroad men on my plate for my good health."

Grand Rapids Concern in Trouble.

Chas. A. Thayer, vice president, treasurer and manager of the Kenwood-Hamilton Bicycle Co., at Grand Rapids, was arrested for the alleged embezzlement of $4,000 of the funds of the company. The plant was recently assigned on a mortgage and was to have been sold, but Thayer began a counter suit against President Charles R. Sligh and Secretary J. D. Case, and at his instance an injunction was granted forbidding the sale. He alleges that Sligh and Case mismanaged the concern and that the mortgage foreclosure is a scheme to force him out. The company was organized one year ago with $200,000 capital, with Thayer as manager, and the inventory shows assets $170,000 and liabilities $101,070.

Costly Mill Fire at South Hartford. 'The largest and most disastrous fire ever witnessed at South Hartford completely destroyed the large double sawmill of the Crane Lumber Co, and the millions of feet of lumber in the yard. In 20 minutes after the fire broke out the will was burned to the ground. South Frankfort has no fire protection and dispatches were sent to Traverse City, Manistee and Copemish for fire engines, which arrived in time to save the town. The loss is a serious one to signed to accept a position in the gov-South Hartford, as the company employed a great many men and was the only mill in the town. The loss on the mill is $20,000; on the lumber, $50,000; fully insured.

Two Girls Drowned Near Grand Ranids. Clara Hall, aged 19, and Ethel Herrick, aged 18, both of Grand Rapids, were drowned in Lake Michigan at Ottawa beach. They were bathing north of the pier and were on the spring board when Miss Hall was swept off by a wave and Miss Herrick dove in to save her. Both screamed frantically for help. A row boat quickly went to the rescue, but was too late, as the young ladies were caught by a wave and thrown into the undertow which sucked them under and out of sight. The young ladies belonged to well-known families, their fathers being prominent business men.

Miss Morrison's Murderer Confesses. Peter Bons, tramp charged with the murder of Pearl Morrison, at Crystal Falls, has made a complete confession, acknowledging that he first assaulted the girl and then strangled her to death. The confession was secured by a detective, who visited Bons in his cell in the robe of a Catholic priest. The confession was heard by two reliable citizens, who had been placed in adjoining cells on the ostensible charge of drunkenness. The confession has created intense excitement, and Bons may be lynched.

The Striking Miners in Pennsylvania Continue to Increase in Numbers and May Soon Close DeArmit's Mines -Women Doing Good Work-

Striking Miners Gaining Ground. The wives of the miners who continue at work in the Plum Creek and Turtle Creek mines in the Pittsburg district are becoming a strong factor in bringing about the success of the coal miners' strike in that section. A big mass meeting held by the camping strikers near Plum Creek mine was attended on Sunday by 1,000 miners who had persisted in working the previous week and nearly every one was accompanied by his wife as a result of mis sionary work among the women by the strikers. The meeting was inaugurated by religious services conducted by Rev. Lincoln Lash, assisted by a choir of 20 colored jubilee singers, after which Mrs. Mary Jones, the Chicago agitator, spoke for about an hour, putting the case very plainly to her women auditors. She placed the responsibility for the success or failure of the strike on the wives. The result of the meeting was the assurance from nearly a thousand men that they would join the strikers and it is now thought that it will only be question of a very short time until the De Armit mines are tied up completely.

Miners' Strike News.

The strikers about the De Armit mines are continuing orderly and are gaining accessions to their ranks constantly. The 150 men employed at the Horner & Roberts coal mine at Elizabeth refused to go to work; about 75 miners at the Equitable mine in the same locality also struck. The Bunola men who were persuaded to come out all remained away from the pit and no coal was mined.

The mine company leased the ground where the strikers were camped and ousted them, but another field has been secured by the strikers which the owner refused to lease to the company, and a permanent camp established.

A special from West Newton, Pa., says: "The sympathy of this entire community is with the striking coal miners. The use of a large building has been given free for a commissary, and the townspeople and farmers have contributed provisions liberally. Several hundred dollars have also been contributed." The output of the De Armit mines was still further reduced by no coal being taken from the Oakhill mine. The three men at Sandy Creek mine mined one gondola car in three days. Counsel for the New York & Cleveland Gas Coal Co. (De Armit's mines) has prepared a bill to be presented to Judge M. W. Acheson, of the U.S. circuit court at Pittsburg, on behalf Col. Fred Schneider, as guardian of of the non-resident stockholders of the coal company, asking for an injunction posited $3,300 of their money in the to restrain the striking miners from congregating near the mines at Turtle sing seven months before it failed. CANOVAS ASSASSINATED

Premier of Spain Shot Three Times by an Anarchist.

Senor Canovas del Castillo, prime minister of Spain, was assassinated by an anarchist, at Santa, Aqueda, where he was taking a course of baths. The murderer fired three shots, two of which struck the premier in the head, and another in the chest. The wounded man fell dving at the feet of his wife, lingering in agony for two hours, and then passing away with the cry of "Long live Spain!"

The assassin was immediately arrested. He is a Neapolitan and gives the name of Rinaldi, but it is believed that this is an assumed name and that his real name is Michele Angino Golli. He declared that he killed Senor Canovas "in accomplishment of a just vengeance," and that the deed is the outcome of a vast anarchistic con-

REVIEW OF TRADE.

The statement of failures by classes of ousiness for July shows that in manufacturing failures have been smaller than in any oranches of each department smaller n most months of which records exist. in most months of which records exist. The pessimists who pronounced reports of business gain fictitious and misrepresenting have grown weary of their dismals and begin to see the dawn of better days. Last month was the first for four years of which the volume of business reported by clearing houses was larger than in the same month of 1892, and the telegraphic dispatches from all parts of the country show a gratifying improvement. This is due to the large yield of wheat and good prices. Other farm products bring good prices, and the possible decrease in the yield of corn may help to market the surplus from last year.

OUR SMALLER COLLEGES.

In Many Respects They Are Doing Better Work Than the Larger Ones. "There are a few striking facts about the small American college," writes Edward W. Bok in the Ladies' Home Journal. "One striking fact is that 60 per cent of the brainiest Americans who have risen to prominence and success are graduates of colleges whose names are scarcely known outside of their own states. It is a fact, also, that during the past ten years the majority of the new and best methods of learning have emanated from the smaller colleges, and have been adopted such velocity above that our men had less severe but the snow was drifting later by the larger ones. Because a college happens to be unknown two hundred miles from the place of its location does not always mean that the college is not worthy of wider repute. LIVING UP A TREE.

Years ago a Lousiana planter, aptly named Wildeson, went to establish himself on the Rama river in Nicaragua, where he raises bananas and rubber trees with profit. A Mr. Drew. who visited him on business, describes his three-story house as literally built in a tree—a sturdy eboe-tree—sixtythree feet from the ground.

To get up and down between the ground and the house an elevator is tackle that the person using it raises himself or controls his descent by means of a rope.

Meaning of Town Names. The meaning of various names of cities is suggested by the discussion concerning the proper orthography of Pittsburg, inasmuch as the "h" has much to do with it. AN ELECTRICK.

of the smoking room was president of a large electric lighting company in America. He was somewhat confident individual, as most successful and wealthy men get to be in time, and there was no question but he knew a good deal about electricity, as well as about a number of other things. There is always somebody in the steamer smoking room who pretends to universal knowledge, and on this particular trip this particular aroused. man seemed to fill the office of general instructor. This is a very useful function to perform, and it results in the spreading of knowledge, so that the others who take an expensive steamship trip get more for their money than mere board and lodging and the consciousness of traveling so many hundred miles a day; yet such is the ingratitude of humanity that some people resent the instruction thus flung abroad, and the man who knows absolutely everything is rarely popular with his fellow-passengers, especially if he is a little strenuous in his selfassertion.

The electrical expert had little patience with any one who did not believe that electricity was not shortly gcing to run the whole world. If anyone ventured an opinion to the contrary, the expert promptly floored him with statistics and scientific assertions that not many, at the moment, were able to controvert, and as there was no library of electrical books on board it was difficult to hold one's own against the president of the electric lighting company.

"In a very few years," said the president loudly one evening, "the man who has no electricity in his house will be accounted a fool."

"When you monopolists succeed in supplying it cheaper than gas," put in one of the listeners, "then it will be time for the rest of us to consider it." "It's cheaper than gas now," said the president. "If you take into account the candle power it gives and the absence of the many disadvantages of gas. Perhaps you may not know that a gas jet consumes as much oxygen in a room as fifteen persons. The moment gas is lighted in a room everyone begins to breathe vitiated air which becomes more and more vitiated as time goes on. Then there is the heat. ours is very important: gas jets raise the temperature in a room to an unbearable extent. while electricity is absolutely cool."

> On the last night of the voyage, when after dinner the Boston man came into the smoking room and lit his cigar as usual the New Yorker could stand it no longer.

"I beg your pardon, sir," he said, 'but I'll give you a hundred dollars to know how you do that."

"How I do what?" asked the Bostonian, coldly. "How you light your cigar."

"I light my cigar, sir," replied the Bostonian, calmly, "in any way that seems to me handiest. If I have a match in my pocket I strike it and light my cigar, if there is an electric globe handy I light it there. Why do you ask?"

"Would you mind lighting one of my cigars at that globe?" asked the electrician.

"Thank you: I never smoke any cigars but my own."

"Well, what I want to know is," said the other, "how you manage to light it at the electric globe?"

"Oh, that is very simple," said the man from Boston. "As is well known by every intelligent person, electricity gives out a great deal of heat, and added to that vitiates the atmosphere in a way that a gas jet would never condescend to do. Electricity has many objectionable qualities, but has one good point; you can always light your cigar at it."

"Oh, that's all very well," replied the other. "but you've had your fun, and now if you'll let us have the sccret of it I'll stand the champagne for the crowd."

"Done," said the Bostonian, so taking a cigar from his case, he, with a penknife, made a deep cavity in the business end of it, preserving the powdered tobacco that came out of the hole. Then he struck one of those fuses which smokers use out of doors which in a warm summer climate like in windy weather and after it flamed out and left a red hot globe he inserted this burning cinder in the cavity in the end of the cigar, and broke off the stem, covering it up with the powdered tobacco so that the cigar looked to all

> > Artichoke an Edible Thistle.

The globe artichoke is no food to set before a hungry person, but it is still a delicious morsel on the table of an epicure. It is rarely seen, however, among the numerous articles which are at the command of an English cook. In California, however, they can be readily enjoyed, being rather common in the markets of their larger cities. Their rarity in the east is probably owing to the fact that they are not very hardy and are easily killed by our severe winters. The part used is the flower head and it is the art of the gardener in the old world to get these heads as large as possible. For this purpose they are planted in particularly rich earth; nothing is considered too good for the artichoke. They are frequently raised in the old world six nches in diameter. They belong to the thistle family, and it is the outher scales of these thistle-like heads that are used. The lower portions of the scale are the edible parts. The scales are torn apart and the lower portions eaten.-Meehan's Magazine.

A Great Naval Demonstration.

One of the most impressive spectacles in connection with the queen's recent jubilee was the review of the British fleet at Spithead. There were assembled about one hundred and sixty vessels of all classes, in six lines, each five miles in length. They represented an aggregate tonnage of six hundred thousand tons, and were manned by forty-five thousand men. Yet this display included only the Channel squadron and the coast defense fleet, with a few additions, and could have been duplicated from other British fleets. The rapid growth of the British navy is indicated by the fact that of the twentyone battleships in line only four were gar, a puff of smoke came out of the present at the naval review at the gold-The German marine is only half a Bostonian's mouth, and he forthwith sat en jubilee ten years ago; and of the entury old, the first naval officer quietly down as if he had done the forty-three cruisers not one then exmost ordinary thing in the world; isted. #### Crop Report.

Lansing, Aug. 7, 1897. The average yield of wheat per acre, as estimated by correspondents this month, is for the state 13.81 bushels; southern counties, 14.85 bushels; central counties 11.18 bushels, and northern counties 13.05 bushels. Compared with the estimate of July 1 there is an increase in the State and southern counties of about one and one-half bushels, in the central of 0.88, and in the northern 0.65 bushels.

Comparatively little threshing had been done when the reports were forwarded, but correspondents very generally report wheat turning out better than expected. A few exceptionally high yields are noted, but these at the most indicate no more than that a panied by Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Spedding good crop has been harvested. A few visited friends at Peck Saturday and such yields are always obtained in good wheat years. Actual threshings of more than single jobs are reported

Berrien county, 842 acres, yield 11,378 bushels, average per acre, 13.51 bushels. Branch county, 105 acres, yield 2,103 bushels, average per acre, 20.03 bushthat his son, John, is very sick in Buf-

> Cass county, 858 acres, yield 14,460 bushels, average per acre, 16.85 bushels. Van Buren county, 118 acres, yield 1,537 bushels, average per acre, 13.03

The crop has generally been secured in fine condition and is of good qualpart of the State just at the close of harvest did some damage but it is not extensive. In a few fields the grain sprouted. In answer to question as to 342 correspondents in the southern counties report it good, 70 average, and 3 bad; in the central counties 86 report it good, 44 average, and 4 bad, and in the northern counties 43 report it good, 21 average, and 1

The number of bushels of wheat reported marketed in July is 665,294 as compared with 580,622 reported marketed in July, 1196, and the amount marketed in the twelve months, August-July is 10,130,876 bushels as compared with 9.250,104 bushels in the same months last year.

The average condition of corn in the State is 97, comparison being with average years. In the southern counties it is 86, central 90, and northern 88. Corn made rapid growth in July. July 1 the figures for the State and southern and northern counties were 75. One year ago the average condi tion in the southern counties was 104. Oats are estimated to yield about 26 bushels per acre. This crop is not yet all secured, and the work has been

Something to Know.

It may be worth something to know that the very best medicine for restoring the tired out nervous system to a healthy vigor is Electric Bitters. This medicine is purely vegetable, acts by giving tone to the nerve centres in the tomach, gently stimulates the Liver and Kidneys, and aids these organs in throwing off impurities in the blood. Electric Bitters improves the appetite, aids digestion, and is pronounced by those who have tried it as the very best blood purifier and nerve tonic. Try it. Sold for 50c or $1.00 per bottle at T. #### LINCOLN'S CHIDING.

His Gentle Reproof In Reply to General Hunter's Ugly Letter.

Another remarkable evidence of the great kindliness of heart of Abraham Lincoln has been brought to light in the form of a long lost letter which the martyred president wrote to General Daniel Hunter in 1861.

General Hunter was in command of the department of Kansas at the time this particular letter was written. It seems he considered himself dishonored by an appointment to the rather obscure military post, and he wrote to the president protesting against it. Lincoln's characteristic reply was as fol-

EXECUTIVE MANSION, WASHINGTON, Dec. 81, 1861.

Major General Hunter:
DEAR SIR—Yours of the 28d is received, and I am constrained to say it is difficult to answer so ugly a letter in good temper. I am, as you the time you were sent to Leavenworth but from the flood of grumbling dispatches and letters I have seen from you since. I knew you were being ordered to Leavenworth at the time it was done, and I aver that, with as tendor a regard for your honor and your sensibilities as I had for my own, it never occurred to me that you were being "humiliated, in-sulted and disgraced," nor have I up to this day heard any intimation that you have been wronged coming from any one but yourself. No one has blamed you for the retrograde movement from Springfield, nor for the infor-mation you gave General Cameron, and this you could readily understand if it were not for your unwarranted assumption that the ordering to Leavenworth must necessarily have been done as a punishment for some fault. I thought then, and I think yet, the position as signed to you is as responsible and as honorable as that assigned to Buell—I know that General McClellan expected more important results from it. My impression is that at the time you were assigned to the new westerr department it had not been determined to re place General Sherman in Kentucky, but of this I am not certain, because the idea that a command in Kentucky was very desirable, and one in the farther west undesirable, had nover occurred to me. You constantly speak of be-ing placed in command of only 8,000. Now, tell me, is not this mer. impatience? Have you not known all the while that you are to comnand four or five times that many?

I have been and am sincerely your friend, and if as such I dare to make a suggestion I would say you are adopting the best possible way to ruin yourself. "Act well your part There all the honor lies." He who does some thing at the head of one regiment will celips him who does nothing at the head of 100. Your

Nothing could have been better calculated to allay the feelings of personal wrong which must have possessed Hunter at the time. That he thought so himself is shown by the following words, written by the dissatisfied general on the big yellow envelope in which the letter had been sent:

"The president's reply to my 'ugly letter.' This lay on his table a month after it was written, and when finally sent was by a special conveyance, with the direction that it was only to be given to me when I was in a good humor."-New York Sun.

A Novel Bridge at Rouen.

This novel engineering work is called a "pont transbordeur" and is designed to fulfill all the purposes of a bridge. while it will offer no obstruction to the passage of ships with towering masts. On each side of the river will be erected which motion did prevail by a yea a small Eiffel tower, about 170 feet in and nay vote as follows: Yeas-Trus height, and these towers will be joined tees Deming, Dew Heller, Keating and at the top by a latticework bridge upon which lines of rails will be laid. On these rails will run a skeleton platform, which can be pulled from side to side by the agency of steam or electricity. From this platform, which will be 160 feet above the quays, will depend steel wire ropes, which will support at the level of the river banks a slung carriage large enough to accommodate a tram car full of passengers, besides other vehicles. It is intended that this novel form of bridge shall be in connection with the tram system at both sides of the river, so that passengers can be carried across the river without leaving their seats in the cars. The work of building the towers has already been commenced, and it is expected that the bridge will be open for traffic in 18 months' time. It is said that the only contrivance bearing any resemblance to this "pont transbordeur" is in operation at Bilbao. - Chambers' Journal.

ONE OF TWO WAYS.

The bladder was created for one puroose, namely, a receptacle for the urine, and as such it is not liable to any form of disease except by one of two ways. The first way is from imperfect action of il of the village of Cass City.

Meeting called to order by President the kidneys. The second way is from careless local treatment of other diseases.

CHERRY CAUSE.

Unhealthy urine from unhealthy, kid neys is the chief cause of bladder troubles. So the womb, like the bladder, was created for one purpose, and if not doctored too much is not liable to weakness or disease, except in rare cases. situated back of and very close to the bladder, therefore any pain, disease or inconvenience manifested in the kidneys, back, bladder, or urinary passage is often, by mistake, attributed to female weakness or womb trouble of some sort. The error is easily made and may be as easily avoided. To find out correctly, set your urine aside for twenty four hours; a sediment or settling indicates kidney or bladder trouble. The mild and the ex-traordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, and bladder remedy is soon -ealized If you need a medicine you should have the best.
