COL. COPELAND.

"The King of the Platform" at Cass City April 6th.

After the recommendations which have been given this gentleman by others who have lectured here this winter, all that is necessary to secure a crowded house is to mention his name and give the date of his appearance. The date is Thursday, April 6th, and the lecture will be given in the M. E. Church.

Col. L. F. Copeland was born in Rochester, N. Y., and is in the prime of a vigorous manhood. He is one of the very foremost of the orators of the day, has been an extensive traveler in both our own and foreign lands and brings to the platform a thorough acquaintance with social life and institutions in all countries. We give a couple of press notices which are selected from many of a similar nature:

Lawrence (Mass.) American: Few, if any, of the audience that turned out to hear Col. L. F. Copeland last evening seemed to take any note of time, as two mortal hours went by, unnoticed, into the unreturning past. No report of the lecture can be made, for it would have been as difficult to photograph the Scripture drove of foxes in full run with firebrands between each pair of tails as to condense and epitomize the Colonel's breezy, intellectual blizzard. The speaker evidently enjoys his work, and the audience showed by earnest attention and hearty laughter, breaking often into a roar, that they also were individually and collectively in a satisfactory frame of mind.

Lowell (Mass.) Mail: Col. Copeland likes a joke above all things, and he insists on having fun all the time. His delivery is rapid, energetic, and explosive. It is with the homely topics of every day life that he deals, and as much by sentimental frankness as by his strong sense of humor, he succeeds in impressing upon his hearers the importance of the truths he speaks. He has much of John B. Gough's facility for stating and illustrating commonplace truths with such freshness and vivacity that one surprise follows another too rapidly to admit of weariness.

PNEUMONIA is the quick agent of death. Fully one-third of recent deaths have been from pneumonia following LaGrippe. Pneumonia cannot follow the use of Foley's Honey and Tar. T. H. Fritz.

Township Nominations.

The Union-Silver caucus for the township of Elkland was held at the Town Hall Saturday afternoon. The storm probably affected the attendance some and not only thirty-two votes were cast. I. K. Reid was unanimously chosen as the nominee for supervisor, showing that during the several years he has held that position he has discharged the duties in a highly satisfactory manner.

The ticket nominated was as follows: Supervisor, I. K. Reid. Clerk, Jas. B. McGillivray. Treasurer, W. H. Hebblewhite. Highway Commissioner, Sol. Striffler. Justices of the Peace, Travis Schenck. School Inspector, O. C. Wood. Member of Board of Review, P. S. McGregory.

Constables, D. M. Houghton, J. D. Tuckey, Elmer Yakes, John Muma. At the conclusion of the balloting the following gentlemen were elected as the township committee: W. H. Hebblewhite, George E. Perkins and O. C. Wood.

The Republican caucus for this township was held at the Town Hall Monday afternoon with about forty present.

After several ballots were taken Geo. W. Helwig was nominated for supervisor. He was not present however, and upon being interviewed after the caucus, explained that having recently bought the Heffelbower farm, that together with other business matters would require all of his attention and he believed it would be to the interests of the party to place the name of Christian Schwaderer at the head of the ticket. Acting upon this suggestion the committee interviewed about fifty Republicans and decided to act upon the suggestion. The remaining nominees were made without any further delay and were as follows:

Clerk, F. Klump. Treasurer, O. K. Janes. Highway Commissioner, Ed. Brotherton.

Justice of the Peace, Jas. Brooker. School Inspector, J. A. Karr. Member of Board of Review, J. D. Withey.

Constables, Henry Ball, Wm. Jeffery, Richard Fancher, Geo. A. Karr. Andrew Campbell was chosen as a member of the township committee, vice H. S. Wickware whose term expired.

Anthony Hope's New Romance which he has just finished, is called "The Countess Emilia", and has been purchased by The Ladies' Home Journal, in which periodical it will immediately begin. The story is about a beautiful countess. She has quarreled with her husband, and they have decided to live in seclusion in separate wings of the castle. This they do until Captain Dieppe, who becomes a member of the household, inadvertently opens a door, through which are revealed to him the apartments of the exiled Countess, with the beautiful occupant standing in a doorway. The Captain falls in love with the young woman, and from this point there is not a moment's cessation in the romantic adventures which ensue in the castle its gardens and neighboring places of rendezvous.

ST. PETER.

GOOD FRIDAY, 1899.

The coward's heart that many times
With Christ's good sayings had been fed
Shut in the holy truth. He ground between his teeth

What Christ had said.
Those feet that walked in brighter days
The very paths his Master trod,
Stamped in hot anger as he swore
He never knew the Son of God.
That Holy one his poor soul loved.

My Lord, my God! How can it be
That one who once had known thy love
Can hold his suffering soul from Thee?
But truth came back as pride went out
From his cold, lonely, cheerless heart
In ashes, by his unburned vows

His soul mused on the dreadful part
That he had borne in time of need.
Nothing had he to give but shame—
Repentant shame! God took the gift
And made the dying spark a flame.
He sent him out to preach his truth
For that kind Master loved him still.
Why does he send such heralds forth
When sinless angels wait his will?

The grace of God, O, glorious flame,
Brightened in Peter's life from then
It fired his soul, his eye, his speech,
It brought him to be judged of men.
Then rose the man that once had failed
Before a sneering maiden's nod,
Fighting assembled hate and death,
Eager to speak the truth of God.

Then to those haters strong and proud
Spoke that unlettered fisherman
And every smile of scorn died down
As through the throng God's hot truth ran.
Convicted hearts quailed in that fire
And hundreds from it did arise
Strong to confess the fearful thought
Jesus had been their sacrifice.

And after, as this same man stood
Beside his cross to suffer death;
"I am not worthy thus to die
So like my master" Peter said;
"For I denied him while he died,
Let my dead body own its sin,
Confession end my mortal life,
As sinless safety shall begin,
With head upright I cannot leave
The cross my Savior sanctified;
No, let me die stretched toward the earth."
And thus, they tell us, Peter died.

O God of grace! In all Thy works
Nothing can change its nature so
As man's strange soul, for loving thee
From sin to strength like that we grow.
O grace of God! What hast Thou done
For sinners like this man and me
To save the soul! And Thou canst take
Our sin to prove Thy victory.

Triumph is Thine forevermore
Dear, risen Lord! And Thou hast said
That all may triumph over sin
If by Thy spirit we are led.
At last made right in Thy pure sight,
This is the task to each one given
And great the work, for character
Through Christ alone can enter Heaven.

Sold by T. H. Fritz, Druggist.

"One Swallow Does Not Make a Spring."

Myriads of birds announce the opening of bright days and bring promise of renewed health and strength. They teach us a lesson—to set our human house in order by thoroughly cleansing our blood, making it new, pure and bright.

The one specific with which to accomplish this is Hood's Sarsaparilla, America's Greatest Spring Medicine. Its work is thorough, and good health is sure to follow.

Rheumatism—"Inflammatory rheumatism caused me suffering so that I could not sleep or walk. Had no appetite and medicine seemed useless. Finally used Hood's Sarsaparilla which took away all pain." Mrs. STELLA NORRIS, Marion, Ohio.

Malaria—"I was a soldier, and after typhoid fever I had fever and ague, rheumatism and nervous prostration so that I could not work. Nothing helped until Hood's Sarsaparilla cured me completely so that I lose no time now." J. H. STRELMAN, Cheltenham, Pa.

A MATTER OF FAITH.

Many of the Clergy in Michigan Endorse the Little Conqueror.

Our religious opinions are, as a whole, a matter of faith. Whatever denomination or sect we follow we pin our faith on the words and teachings of our pastor. His sincerity is never doubted; that he thoroughly believes his adopted creed is unquestioned. The opinion of the clergy on any subject carry well-deserved weight with all classes of people. Many reverend gentlemen in Michigan are testifying for the little conqueror. Their praise is not given lightly and only after personal experience. Gratitude and a desire to promote the welfare of the public brings forth such testimony as follows:

The Rev. F. A. Smith, of 829 First street, Kalamazoo, Mich., says: "When I procured Doan's Kidney Pills I was, at the time, and had been considerably troubled with my kidneys. Backache was quite pronounced, being especially severe when I sat or stood in a stooping position for any length of time. Other symptoms usually attending disordered kidneys plainly indicated what caused the difficulty. Doan's Kidney Pills corrected the annoyance in a very short time, and I have not noticed, up to date, any indication of a recurrence. As I took no other medicine there can be no doubt but Doan's Kidney Pills were the direct means of curing me. I am most favorably impressed with them."

Doan's Kidney Pills for sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Mailed by Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the U. S. Remember the name Doan's and take no substitute.

He is Risen.

He is Risen! from the bosom Sweetest harbingers of peace Are proclaiming to the nations That mankind has his release.
He is risen! faith the angel, Standing near the vacant tomb, Where a superhuman hero Has absorbed the solemn gloom.
He is risen! and the flowers Send their fragrance from the earth To the throne where he is reigning— Where of pain there's utter dearth.
He is risen! and creation With its thousand varied creeds, Blows as one vast congregation Like a field of bending reeds.

ETHEL'S EASTER.

ETHEL lived on the seashore—that part of the Alabama coast which the Mobilians call "Over the Bay"—and she visited Mobile rarely except during Christmas and Easter. She was a busy little girl, with lessons and piano practice, and asked so many questions that an old sea captain who lived near her home gave her the name of Little Conundrum.

Some days before Easter she went with her governess into the city, and saw a woman attired in a black gown, a black bonnet and black veil. Inside the bonnet she wore a closely fitting cap, not at all like a widow's cap.

"Oh! I wish I was a sister of mercy!"
arm of her governess. "Who is that, Miss Mary? What makes her dress so? She has a chain at her side, too!"
"That is a sister of mercy," answered Miss Mary.
"Whose sister?" asked Ethel.
"A sister of mercy—a sister to all who need her."
"A sister to everybody?" echoed Ethel, looking puzzled.
"Yes. She spends her life in acts of mercy to the poor and the rich, too, if they need her."
"Does everybody love her?" asked Ethel, looking after the black gown.
"Oh, yes. People send for her when they are in distress. A sister of mercy nursed your Uncle Frank when he was ill of yellow fever."
The audacity to tell them that he adored "Oh, I wish I was a sister of mercy!" said Ethel, as they left the carriage and entered a shop, "but I wouldn't like to wear that dress."
"You need not wear it to be a good nurse."

"Well, but I want to be a sure enough sister of mercy. Can't I have a mark so people will know it?"
"Oh, yes," said Miss Mary, laughing, "if you insist upon a mark, you can wear a badge on your sleeve. I can easily make one for you."
On Easter morning Ethel put on the badge which Miss Mary had made for her of beautiful white ribbon. As she returned from church she found a bird with a broken leg, which she bandaged. Then she put the little invalid in a box, which Tom called the hospital. Easter Monday her first act of mercy was to carry a dinner to old Uncle Ebenezer, who was a cripple from rheumatism. He had been her grandfather's slave, and now lived with her father at the old homestead, the Maples.

"Look here, Uncle Ebby," said she, pointing to her shoulder. "You can't guess what that is, can you?"
"No, honey," answered Uncle Ebby, already beginning to eat.
"It means I'm a sister of mercy," replied Ethel. "I began this Easter. That is my Easter resolution."
"Dat, indeed!" said Uncle Ebby, absorbed in his dinner. "Is you gwine 'bout nussin' fokes?" he added.
"No-c," drawled Ethel. "Mamma won't let me do that. Maybe I'll do something after a while for that poor woman at the wharf; but I'm going to help everybody here. I'm going to help Aunt Melindy feed the chickens, and now I will help you scrape lint for your lame foot."

While Uncle Ebby was eating, Ethel filled a basket with lint and set it on the chimney shelf.
"Now, Uncle Ebby, listen to me," said Ethel, "when you are sick in bed you mustn't call Jake or Tiddy or any of your grandchildren. I'm to do the nursing on this plantation, and I want to call Jake and make him tie a string to your bedpost, and the other end to my bedpost, so that you can ring a bell right over my head when you are sick. You understand?"
"Jake! Jake!" called Ethel. Jake came when called, and after many trials arranged an unsightly contrivance, so that the pulling of the string did ring a bell just over Ethel's bed. Her brother Tom ridiculed it, but mamma said Sisters of Mercy must be patient under ridicule.
Every night Ethel hung her cloak near her bedside, ready to rush out at the sound of the bell. One night Tom played a practical joke by ringing the bell, but papa's sharp reprimand prevented a repetition of his mischief.
Suddenly one night the bell did ring, long and loud. Ethel jumped out of bed and in a few minutes stood at Uncle Ebby's bedside. The moonlight fell on the black face and white head. Shaking his arm with all her might, she called out, "Uncle Ebby, wake up!"
The old man opened his eyes and sat up in bed.
"Didn't you ring the bell? What is the matter?"
"Nuthin' tall," said Uncle Ebby, at last recognizing the little sister.
Suddenly Ethel turned and perceived a curl of smoke in the corner of the cabin.
"What's that, Uncle Ebby? Look! Look!"
"Sump'n a-flah, sho!"
And so it was. Uncle Ebby screamed for help. Black and white rushed to the rescue. Jake and the other men led the cattle out of danger, and the mystery of the bell was solved when old Brindle's horns were seen struggling with the string, which, in order to reach up to Ethel's chamber, had been passed through the cow shed. The smoke had driven her to the open door, and in making her way she had caught her horns in the string. Fortunately nothing was burned except the corner of the shed.
Next morning at breakfast Tom, who had been very brave in putting out the fire, said, "Well, Ethel, which is the sister of mercy, you or old Brindle?"
"But papa said, 'If she had not been a sister of mercy, there is no telling what a fire we might have had, and perhaps poor old Uncle Ebby would have been burned in his bed. Ethel's Easter resolution was a noble one, and I hope it will last until next Easter.'"

"AN EASTER GARTER."
garter—must not be forgotten. In pairs for real use, singly, in yellow, for luck, the garter is perennial. This year it is most gorgeous, being covered with puffs of chiffon or ribbon in Easter colors and further decorated with bows composed of chiffon, satin ribbon an inch or more wide, baby ribbon in satin or velvet and narrow lace, the latter also being intermingled.
Buckles are also added to many of the bows, with puffs covering the elastic. This sounds elaborate, and the garter thus decorated looks it, but a short study of the arrangement and a bit of mental arithmetic proves that the method is really simple, and the expense inconsiderable, and the effect a flat contradiction of both deductions.
The single garter is presented for luck. It will call Cupid to aid the spinster, young or old, in attaining within the year that "other half" ever and eagerly expected. Three conditions are necessary, however. It must be yellow, it must be worn on the left leg and it must be—well, the third condition is only traditional, anyway, and is better not mentioned.
Aluminum is made up into all sorts of boxes, trays, cups, baskets, crosses, frames, etc., and these may be prettily hand painted. Sheets of aluminum, like those of celluloid, may be cut into cards, bookmarks, crosses and other articles and similarly decorated.
A rich-looking gift, costing really very little, is a work bag of brocaded satin, decorated with painted clusters of violets. It is lined with plain satin of the same color and is supplied with an encircling row of small pockets.
A souvenir book for the use of the amateur photographer is easily made as follows: Through one end of each of twelve of the cards upon which photographs are mounted punch two holes. In one end of each of two sections of heavy water color paper cut half an inch larger each way than the cards, punch two corresponding holes, lay the cards between these covers and fasten all of the parts together with ribbon drawn through the holes and tied in a pretty bow. On the front cover paste a photograph of some locality in which there is mutual interest, or make a pretty wash drawing of some familiar spot. Underneath designate the purpose of the book by the inscription: "Camera Gems" or "Summer Wanderings," "Through the Lens" or something equally appropriate. The possessor of a camera will greatly appreciate such a gift, especially if on the cards are or can be mounted some of his or her own pet work.

"DIDN'T YOU RING THE BELL?"
Tom looked at his sister with admiring eyes, and Ethel still wore her badge.
ZITELLA COCKE.
Wonderful Easter Hats.
An inquisitive person in New York city has been examining the Easter hats, and she says the women of that city spend $500,000 each Easter for hats. As for this year's variety, she says:
"I give you my word some of them measured two by three feet. If size is what you are looking for, you will find it in the April extravaganza—and you will pay for it. In fact, the hat seems to be in direct ratio to its traditional bill. Humility has a way of showing itself in blouses that cost $14 a bunch. Clever French roses they are, with such a natural look that the Fifth avenue bee pauses to sip of their painted honey. The price of a single hat, to be really swell, must be at least $35. After that, anywhere into the hundreds. Fifty dollars is by no means an uncommon price for a New York woman to pay for a hat that takes her fancy.

GIFT-GIVING AT EASTER.
Practice Still Prevails and a Very Pretty Custom.

The old habit of gift-giving at Easter is still alive and it is the correct thing that such gifts should be made by the hands of the donor. Some of these are pretty and comparatively inexpensive.

Book and magazine covers made of water color paper or art linen are among the pretty and useful gifts. A cover for a dictionary will serve as a model. It was made of white water-color paper of a light grade and used on a paper covered edition that was about five inches wide by six long. The paper was first fitted to the covers of the dictionary and folded and creased so that the surface to be decorated was plainly indicated. On one side was painted a full cluster of forget-me-nots. On the other was a smaller spray, which occupied two-thirds of the space; the remaining third—just in front of the back—was tinted a delicate gray, on which, in gilt, in fancy lettering, was the word "Dictionary." Then the cover was again folded over the volume and this time secured with mucilage or photographer's paste.

Violets or any other blossom preferred could be used in place of the forget-me-nots as a decoration. When linen is used in making book or magazine covers embroidery is a better, more satisfactory condition than painting.
Book marks are favorite Easter gifts and generally hand painted on water-color paper, celluloid or ribbon. A pretty one of the first material is composed of two strips of the paper cut exactly alike—about an inch and three-quarters wide and five long. On the center of the under one is a dainty little wash drawing; in the center of the upper one is cut an oblong opening to fit the drawing, and on the uncut surface is delicately painted a bit of red and yellow foliage, such as appears in early spring on some varieties of trees and shrubs. From between the ends of the pasted strips extend bits of fringed ribbon in either of the Easter colors—white, yellow or lavender.
The special talisman of Easter—

THE BEST SPRING TONIC.

As winter passes away it leaves many people feeling weak, depressed and easily tired. This means that the blood needs attention and sensible people always take a tonic at this time of year. Purgatives are not the right medicine—they weaken instead of strengthening.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are the best tonic medicine in the world and do not act on the bowels. They stimulate the appetite, enrich the blood, strengthen the nerves and make people feel bright, active and strong.

No one is better able to speak of this fact than Miss Hazel Snider, a charming young woman of Arlington, Ind. To-day she has rosy cheeks, sparkling eyes and a plump form, which prove that she is in good health. A year ago Miss Snider was very thin, her cheeks pale, eyes sunken and dull. She was troubled with nervousness and general debility. She says: "After several months' treatment from the family physician we saw he could do no good. I was discouraged and did not know what to do. One day I read an item in a paper of the wonderful curative qualities of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. I tried the medicine, and when nearly through with the second box noticed a change for the better. After I had taken eight boxes I was cured, and have had no occasion to take any kind of medicine since. I owe much to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, probably my life, and I advise any one suffering with troubles similar to mine, to take these pills."

SORROWS OF STERILITY

MOTHERHOOD is woman's natural destiny. Many women are denied the happiness of children through some derangement of the generative organs. Actual barrenness is rare. Among the many triumphs of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the overcoming of cases of supposed barrenness. This great medicine is so well calculated to regulate every function of the generative organs that its efficiency is vouched for by multitudes of women.
Mrs. ED. WOLFORDE, of Lone Tree, Iowa, writes:
"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM—Before taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I had one child which lived only six hours. The doctor said it did not have the proper nourishment while I was carrying it. I did not feel at all well during pregnancy. In time I conceived again, and thought I would write to you for advice. Words cannot express the gratitude I feel towards you for the help that your medicine was to me during this time. I felt like a new person; did my work up to the last, and was sick only a short time. My baby weighed ten pounds. He is a fine boy, the joy of our home. He is now six weeks old and weighs sixteen pounds. Your medicine is certainly a boon in pregnancy."
Mrs. FLORA COOPER, of Doyle, S. Dak., writes:
"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM—Ever since my last child I suffered with inflammation of the womb, pains in back, left side, abdomen and groins. My head ached all the time. I could not walk across the floor without suffering intense pain. I kept getting worse, until two years ago I wrote to you for advice, and began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I had not finished the first bottle before I felt better. I took four bottles, and have been strong and perfectly healthy ever since, and now have two of the nicest little girls."

In the bulletin for March, Dairy and Food Commissioner Grosvenor warns all agents against the preparations of Crofts & Reed, Chicago, who advertise in the daily papers for men and women to sell their products direct to the consumer. This house is one of those concerns which cannot find reputable merchants to handle the goods and who resort to this method of foisting their stuff upon the public. Mr. Grosvenor declares that the samples sold by the firm and examined by his staff proved to be impure and unwholesome in the extreme.

The only train to pass here Wednesday was the morning train going south. The trials and tribulations of the train crews last week were nothing to what they had to contend with this time. At some points the snow reached the top of the smokestack and every train had a serious time working its way through. At an early hour this morning the freight and evening passenger trains reached here, bringing the delayed mails. The snow plow has been stalled somewhere near Pigeon. Probably all will be straightened out to-day and trains again run on schedule time.

We are pleased to believe that our retiring township officers have managed the affairs of the township in a thoroughly conscientious and generally satisfactory manner. While there may be some minor criticisms made, we know of nothing of any particular import, and a certain amount of criticism is always made of men who hold positions of trust. We trust that the coming election may give us a body of men who will perform the duties as well as did the township board of last year, and we believe it will as the nominees on both tickets are tried men, well qualified to fill the positions for which they are nominated.

Dr. M. M. Wickware received a call on Wednesday to hasten to Deford. He and his hostler, with to horses and cutter succeeded in getting through the snow drifts about three miles and then became stalled. The doctor unhooked the horses and attempted to get them out of the drifts. In so doing one of the animals cut a severe gash in one of its feet, became nervous, and in plunging struck the doctor a blow in the left ankle, spraining it badly. The assistance of a farmer was procured and he returned home. Dr. H. C. Edwards was called and gave the necessary attention and the doctor will probably be around again in a few days.

M. Huxman, representing the Rochester beet sugar factory, was in town on Tuesday, with the purpose of securing some acreage in this section for this year. A freight rate has been secured of eighty-five cents per ton has been granted and five cents per ton will be charged for unloading. This is a very good rate and is altogether likely that quite an acreage will be secured as the experience will be of considerable advantage to the farmers when our own factory is established. Mr. Huxman is an expert, having been associated with the industry for many years in Germany, and having established the first factory in Nebraska. He also installed one in Minnesota last year. He recommends that no one contract more than five acres the first year, believing that they will be able to care better for a small acreage than for a large and consequently get a better percentage.
