13 Unlucky?

MANY PEOPLE are superstitious as to the number thirteen and yet why should they be. The original states of the union were thirteen as everybody knows, and no one would be considered unlucky because he had a duarter of a dollar in his pocket, and yet that coin is impressed with thirteen all over its two sides. Count the letters in quarter dollar and you have thirteen. Count the stars over eagles head-thirteen. The eagle holds in his beak a scroll count the letters in

E Pluribus Unum impressed thereon—thirteen. In one talon the eagle grasps a quiver full of dates—thirteen. In the other a bunch in which there are thirteen leaves. In each of the eagles wings there are thirteen feathers and the tail feathers number the same. Count the crossbars in the shield on the eagle's breast-thirteen. Turn the quarter over, there are thirteen stars surrounding liberties head and thirteen leaves in her wreath. If this is unlucky who would not have a barrel

Wedding Bells.

We copy the following from the Ridgetown (Ont.) Dominion, pertaining to the marriage of Wm. Paul and Miss P. Guyett, both well known here: "On Monday evening, the 18th inst., at the residence of the bride's father, Miss Persis Guyett, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Guyett, Talbot Street, and Mr. Wm. Paul, of Novesta Township, Mich., were united in marriage by the Rev. Mr. Hooper, assisted by Rev. Mr. Downie, a former pastor of St. John's Church, Morpeth. The wedding march was played by Miss Annie Freel and the bride was beautifully attired in blue silk, the trimming being white silk, she carrying a lovely bouquet of roses and China asters. After the ceremony the best wishes and congratulations of over one hundred friends were extended to the happy couple. Then all partook of a bountiful repast of modern luxuries, 'till the innermost man was filled to the fullest extent. The Palmyra band, being present, gave many selections suitable to the occasion. The bride was the recipient of a very large number of beautiful and costly presents, which are a slight manifestation of the high respect in which she is Success and prosperity to them." Mr. and Mrs. Paul arrived at Cass City on Wednesday evening of last week and were given a most hearty reception at the home of the groom's mother, two miles south of town, between sixty and seventy friends being present. Many more presents were given and a most enjoyable evening spent by all. They will make lheir home in Pontiac, for which place they will leave next Saturday. May joy go with them.

Do Girls Lack Honor?

Many men there are who insist that the majority of girls of today are lack ty. One man, who is well to do in the world and does not care a rush for a dollar and is continually loaning small sums to his young women friends, asserts that he has seldom if ever been repaid, and fears that he would be attacked with heart palpitation if a tender of payment of these loans should be made. But men are not the only victims of the borrowing girl She frequently mulcts those of her own sex. Clever Idea. It has been a mystery and a conundrum to the average man for some little time how women did without pockets, and also a wonder to the aforesaid man why women did not lose more of these flimsy creations called handkerchiefs than they did, for it was a marvel to them how the women managed handkerchiefs, pocketbooks and bundles, held up their skirts, carried oftentimes an umbrella, and only had the one pair of hands for this rather complicated performance. EASY DIVORCES, LAST SUN-

DAY'S SUBJECT.

What Therefore God Hath Joined To gether Let Not Man Put Asunder! Matt. 19: 6-Skeletons All Over the House as Well as in the Closet. That there are hundreds and thousands of infelicitous home in America no one will doubt. If there were only one skeleton in the closet, that might be locked up and abandoned: but in many a home there is a skeleton in the hallway and a skeleton in all the apartments. "Unhappily married" are two words descriptive of many a homestead. It needs no orthodox minister to prove to a badly mated pair that there is a hell: they are there now. Sometimes a grand and gracious woman will be thus incarcerated, and her life will be a crucifixion, as was the case with Mrs. Sigourney, the great poetess and the great soul. Sometimes a consecrated man will be united to a fury, as was John Wesley, or united to a vixen, as was John Milton. Sometimes, and generally, both parties are to blame, and Thomas Carlyle is an intolerable grumbler, and his wife has a pungent retort always ready, and Froude, the historian, pledged to tell the plain truth, has to pull aside the curtain from the lifelong squabble at Craigenputtock and 5 Chevne row.

Some say that for the alleviation of all these domestic disorders of which we hear, easy divorce is a good prescription. God sometimes authorizes divorce as certainly as he authorizes marriage. I have just as much regard for one lawfully divorced as I have for one lawfully married. But you know and I know that wholesale divorce is one of our national scourges. I am not surprised at this when I think of the influences which have been abroad militating against the marriage relation. For many years the platforms of the country rang with talk about a free-love millennium. There were meetings of this kind held in the Academy of Music, Brooklyn; Cooper institute, New York: Tremont temple, Boston, and all over the land. Some of the women who were most prominent in that movement have since been distinguished for great promiscuity of affection. Popular themes for such occasions were the tyranny of man, the oppression of the marriage relation. women's rights, and the affinities short curls and short dress and very long tongue, everlastingly at war with with soft accent and cowed demeanor apologetic for masculinity, and holding the parasols while the termagant orators went on preaching the gospel of free love. That campaign of about twenty years set more devils into the marriage relation than will be exorised in the next fifty. Men and wom en went home from such meetings so permanently confused as to who were their wives and husbands that they never got out of the perplexity, and the criminal and the civil courts tried to disentangle the Iliad of woes, and and those went into insane asylums.

and sometimes under another. polygamy in Utah. That is a stereotyped caricature of the marriage relation, and has poisoned the whole land. You might as well think that you can and yet the whole body not be sickened as to have any territories or states polygamized and yet the body of the nation not feel the putrefaction. Hear it, good men and women of law was passed by congress forbidding polygamy in the territories and in all the places where they had jurisdiction.

puissant, more bragart and more in- less unfavorable circumstances. the whole land being affected by it.

me that there are any decencies or any common sense left on the subject of marriage. One-half of the news stands of our great cities reek with the filth.

"Now," say some, "we admit all these evils, and the only way to clear them out or to correct them is by easy divorce." Well, before we yield to that cry, let us find out how easy it is now. I have looked over the laws of all the states, and I find that while in some states it is easier than in others, in every state it is easy. The state of Illinois, through its legislature, recites a long list of proper causes for divorce. and then closes up by giving to the courts the right to make a decree of divorce in any case where they deem it expensent. After that you are not surprised at the announcement that in one county of the state of Illinois, in one year, there were 833 divorces. If you want to know how easy it is, you have only to look over the records of the states. In Massachusetts, 600 divorces in one year: in Maine, 478 in one year: in Connecticut, 401 divorces in one year; in the city of San Francisco, 333 divorces in one year; in New England. in one year, 2,113 divorces, and in twenty years in New England, 20,000. Is that not easy enough? If the same ratio continue, the ratio of multiplied divorce and multiplied causes of divorce, we are not far from the time when our courts will have to set apart whole days for application, and all you will have to prove against a man will be that he left his slippers in the middle of the floor, and all you will have her husband's overcoat was buttonless. Causes of divorce doubled in a few years, doubled in France, doubled in England, and uoubled in the United States. To show how very easy it is, I have to tell you that in Western Reserve, Ohio, the proportion of divorces to marriages celebrated was in one year one to eleven; in Rhode Island, one to thirteen; in Vermont, one to fourteen. Is not that easy enough? I want you to notice that frequency years had not one case of divorce. Those were her days of glory and virtue. Then the reign of vice began, want to know how rapidly the empire how the Reign of Terror was introduced in France? By 20,000 cases of divorce in one year in Paris. What we want in this country, and in all lands, is that divorce be made more and more difficult. Then people before they enter that relation will be persuaded that there will probably be no escape from it, except through the door of the sepulchre. Then they will pause on the verge of that relation, until they are fully satisfied that it is best, and that it is right, and that it is happiest. Then we shall have no more marriages in fun. Then men and women will not enter the relation with the idea it is only a trial trip, and if they do not like it they can get out at the first landing. Then this whole question will be taken out of the frivolous into the tremendous, and there will be no more joking about the blosoms in a bride's hair than about the cypress on a coffin.

What we want, is that the congress of the United States move for the this one got alimony, and that one got | changing the national constitution so a limited divorce, and this mother kept | that a law can be passed which shall be the children on condition that the fa- uniform all over the country, and what ther could sometimes come and look at | shall be right in one state shall be them, and these went into poorhouses, right in all the states, and what is wrong in one state will be wrong in all and those went into dissolute public | the states. pose a man understood, as he ought to understand, that if he goes into that relation there is no possibility of his getting out, or no probability, he would be more slow to put his neck in the yoke. He should say to himself, 'Rather than a Caribbean whirlwind with a whole fleet of shipping in its arms, give me a zephyr off fields of sunshine and gardens of peace."

Rigorous divorce law will also hinder women from the fatal mistake of marrying men to reform them. If a young man, by 25 years of age or 30 years of age, have the habit of strong drink fixed on him, he is as certainly bound for a drunkard's grave as that a train starting out from Grand Central depot at 8 o'clock tomorrow morning is bound for Albany. The train may not reach Albany, for it may be thrown from the track. The young man may not reach a drunkard's grave, for something may throw him off the iron track of evil habit, but the probability is that the train that starts tomorrow morning at 8 o'clock for Albany will get there, and the probability is that the young man who has the habit of strong drink fixed on him before 25 or 30 years of age will arrive at a drunkard's grave. She knows he drinks, although he tries to hide it by chewing cloves. Everybody knows he drinks. Parents warn, neighbors and friends warn. She will marry him; she will reform him. If she is unsuccessful in the experiment, why then the divorce law will emancipate her, because habitual drunkenness is a cause for divorce to prove against a woman will be that in Indiana, Kentucky, Florida, Connecticut and nearly all the states. So the poor thing goes to the altar of sacrifice. If you will show me the poverty-struck streets in any city, I will show you the homes of the women who married men to reform them. In one case out of ten thousand it may be a successful experiment. I never saw the successful experiment. But have a rigorous divorce law and that woman will say: "If I am affianced to that man it is for life, and if now in the of divorce always goes along with the ardor of his young love, and I the dissoluteness of society. Rome for 500 | prize to be won, he will not give up his cups, when he has won the prize surely he will not give up his cups." And so that woman will say to the man: "No, and divorce became epidemic. If you sir, you are already married to the club, and you are married to that evil went down, ask Gibbon. Do you know habit, and so you are married twice, and you are a bigamist. Go!"

UNIQUE SCHEME.

By Which a Clever Man Made a Living by Eating Oysters.

New Orleans Times-Democrat: "I used to know a young man here who made a living by eating oysters," said one of a little group about the counter of the Grunewald. "Ate them on a wager, eh?" asked an Englishman in the party. "No," replied the first speaker, "he had a much better scheme than that. He would stroll into an oyster bar-you know how many there are in New Orleans-and order a dozen on the deep shell, always selecting a time when several customers were After swallowing two or three he"- "Two or three customers?" interrupted the Englishman. "Naw!" said the story-teller, frowning, "two or three oysters. After he put them away he would stop all of a sudden and feel in his mouth. 'Look here!' he would sing out to the bartender, 'what kind of things do you keep in your oysters, anyhow? I've nearly broken a tooth!" With that he would take a beautiful big pearl from between his lips. Of course, there was no questioning the genuineness of a gem in that way, and everybody in the crowd would look envious. Some one was morally certain to make a guess as to its value. 'Oh, well,' the oyster-eater would say, 'I don't know anything about pearls, and I'd be glad to sell this one for $5.' I don't think he ever failed to make a trade on the spot, and as soon as he got the five in his inside pocket he would saunter out and work another bar. He used to find about four pearls a week, and as long as he kept it down to that game was perfectly safe. But he grew avaricious at last, and found so many that folks got suspicious and he considered it healthy to leave for another fishery. He bought the pearls by the gross from a house in New Jersey. They were very pretty pearls, and cost him about 61/2 cents apiece net. I have one in a scarf-pin now.

How They Rewarded Madame Sterling. Madame Antoinette Sterling, the contralto singer and evangelist, had an experience in the Bombay presidency, India, which is as quaint as any of Kipling's tales of the hills. She was campaigning with Pundita Ramabai, and through her magnificent voice was drawing thousands of natives to her meetings. They had never seen that kind of a missionery before, and had never heard a voice like hers. They were so pleased with her work that they said to themselves: "This is a foreign woman guru, and for fear of giving offense to us she has omitted to put her begging-bowl outside of her door for us to put in the customary contributions." In India, every guru or holy person carries a brass, wood or clay begging-bowl into which the deyout put some small sum of money. Madame Sterling walked out upon the veranda of her bungalow one morning. and there, to her amazement, found two begging-bowls. One, a little one, with a few annas in it intended for the Pundita, and one, an enormous affair, containing a handsome sum of annas and rupees for herself. The only explanation she could ever extract from the servant was this: "Little bowllittle money for the little Pundita with little voice. Big bowl-big money for big Missahib with big voice." Madame Sterling was one of the principal speakers among the American women at the International council recently held in London.

A MAMMOTH INSTITUTION.

To those who are accustomed to sending away from home for their goods it is of the greatest importance to know the character and reliability of the establishments selling goods to families from catalogues. The great emporium of the John M. Smyth Co., located at 150 to 166 West Madison street, Chicago, has been established for a third of a century, and has furnished over a half a million homes in Chicago and vicinity alone. This firm enjoys the confidence of the public by its many years of fair dealing. It issues an immense illustrated catalogue that should be in every family, as it describes and gives the price of every article required for household use. A sample of the extraordinary values offered by this firm is shown in the illustration of the lady's ulster in another column of this paper. These garments are indeed wonderful values, and yet they are but a sample of the thousand and one useful articles illustrated and described in the beautiful catalogue of the John M. Smyth Company.

CHAPTER III.—(Continued.) "What is the matter, Kitty?" he asked, in a grave, kindly tone, when he had looked at me for some minutes. "Nothing," I returned quickly. "Do I look as though something was the matter?"

"Yes, very much," he answered quietly, after a moment's pause. I threw my work away from me, and looked across at him defiantly, desperately, with a sudden passionate impulse to pour out in bitter words all

"I knew that," he replied, in his quiet, kindly tone. I looked at him quickly, my breath coming and going in little excited, angry gasps. And in a moment, as I looked, my flash of courage vanished. My heart was beating fast still, but beating in a frightened, fluttering way. "I ought to understand your moods by this time, Kitty," he continued gently. "I knew in a moment that something had worried you. Tell me all about it." Tell him all about it! I had suddenly realized that nothing could induce me to tell him a word about it. I could only wonder at myself for my own temerity for having said so much I looked away hastily out of the window at the organ-man and his monkey and the growing troop of ragged chil-

"Oh, it was nothing!" I returned hurriedly. "Something vexed me. It was nothing-not important."

It surprised me that he did not urge me any further. He sat regarding me in August. She had forgotten me and gravely and thoughtfully. There was something of anxiety in his eyes when I turned my head again and surprised his glance.

"Oh, Mr. Mortimer!"

The exclamation came from the doorway. Meg stood there, her hand on the him with a half-deprecating, half- timer?" laughing glance, her blue eyes twinkling even as she mutely apologized. She

'Meg, don't!" I cried helplessly. "Mr. Mortimer doesn't want to hear."

Now, what would you say was going to happen? You don't know, of course?" "I wish I did!"

CHAPTER IV.

Looking up, I found John Mortimer's eyes still fixed upon me with a steady glance, half puzzled, half troubled. He made a hasty, resolute attempt to change the conversation, and succeeded; in a few minutes Meg was gaily describing our plans for summer holidays the pleasure of tormenting me.

"We are going to Cornwall," and she "Cornwall's quiet-that suits sighed. father; and Cornwall's cheap-that suits mamma. It doesn't suit us at all. stood in the middle of the room for a minute, as though hesitating whether to go or stay. She took off her pretty, shady straw hat, and shook her hair free into loose, airy, pretty waves and curls; then suddenly she banished the thought of retreating, sat down beside me on the sofa and gave herself up to the pastime of tormenting us.

Bending forward a little, with one elbow on her knee, and her pretty chin on her little pink palm, she could face us both. Now her eyes glanced mischievously into mine, now suddenly, with a swift smile, into his. And how bewitchingly pretty she looked all the while! I found myself wondering with a sudden eagerness, and a strange sickness of heart, what John Mortimer thought of her prettiness.

Kitty's to leave school, Mr. Mortimer, she told him presently, in an admirably simple, natural tone. "Did you know? of the

I bowed my head lower over my work, conscious that my face was growing crimson, and that two pairs of eyes were watching me.

"Is that true?" he asked. "Mamma says so. For some newly arisen and mysterious reason, Mr. Mortimer, Kitty is to blossom forth at once into a grown-up lady-aren't you, Kitty? She's to turn up her hair and learn how to make jams instead of Latin prose. Mamma, you must know, awoke this morning-or, rather, this afternoon-in a most astonishingly domestic mood. She descended upon us less frivolous, as well as less independin our sitting-room and took our ent; they thought less about their hats breath away. "That's where your sister lives?"

"Yes." "I don't think I would go to Brittany to see my sister if I were you."

"Why not?" "Oh, she don't deserve it. I don't like your sister, Mr. Mortimer-you don't mind my saying so, do you?" Mr. Mortimer smiled quickly, yet half reluctantly. "How did you come to know my sis-

We both laughed at the long-drawn out pity of Meg's tone.

"At thirty-six I can imagine that one may feel a hundred!" she said feelingly. "Still one may feel a hundred without feeling so superior about it. Father gave me the article to read; he thought it would do me good, and it didn't!" "No; you don't seem to have been Meg was tapping the ground softly with her little pointed shoe, and looking down at it with an absorbed, puzzled air, her brows knit in thought. "Madame Arnaud - Madame Ar-

"And does she belong to this century?" she asked, after a pause, her blue eyes looking at him seriously. "Yes-she belongs to this century, he said, smiling. But again, in spite of his smile, i struck me that the conversation vexed him. He was impatient, not at ease. I had not spoken, but now I felt a sudden need to ask one question-the same question which indirectly Meg had asked.

"Is she young?" I asked quickly, looking at him.

"Not what you would call young Kitty," he returned gently, in a different tone. "She is 30-perhaps a little more than 30. I have not seen much of her these last ten years, but I saw her for an hour or two last summer; she was as young then as she was at 20. She is one of those women who will never grow old. When she comes to London, Kitty, you must know her. You and she will be good friends-I think so."

"I don't envy Kitty," said Meg, in a stage whisper to her pointed toe. "Is she a French woman?" she asked in a different tone, looking up again. "No-English."

"And she married a Frenchman," said Meg. "How horrid! Was he like the Frenchman one sees upon the stage-always rubbing his hands and bowing? Why did she marry him?" "Because she loved him, I suppose

I never asked her." Very few people marry for love-except in books-or so mamma says. All the same, all neonle don't marry for love-for instance, I heard today of a person who Narada. thinks of marrying for a very different motive." He showed no curiosity, nor did he show much signs of confusion. Perhaps he had not heard what Meg said. He did not seem, indeed, to be heeding her; he was rising now to go.

"If one wanted to fall in love," said Meg, "one would never choose a Frenchman. Madame Arnaud-Madame Arnaud? I wonder where I have heard and what I have heard of Ma dame Arnaud."

Strange Duel. Letters from Buenos Ayres give de tails of a remarkable duel of which the famous Italian fencing master, Chevalier Pini, was the hero. Pini recently opened a school of arms, in the Argentine republic, and, having been subjected to some criticism by a local journal, told the scribe in his own frank, pleasant way what he thought of him. Reparation was demanded and pistols were the weapons selected. The conditions of meeting were singular. The adversaries were to be placed back to back, and at the word of command were each to take fifteen steps forward and then turn around and fire simultaneously. On the ground the men were placed as arranged, and, at the given signal, began to march forward, one of the seconds counting the steps. Pini had only made five strides when he heard a report and the whistle of a bullet past his ear. He turned and saw his adversary with the smoking pistol in his hand. Pini, in a furious rage, dropped his weapon, rushed at his man and gave him a sound threshing with his fists. The seconds took sides for their respective principals and a general melee went forward until some gendarmes arrived. Pini's adversary then took to his heels, and has not been seen since.-Pall Mall Gazette.

A reception followed the wedding ceremony at the Palmer residence, and late this afternoon the prince and princess left for New York and St. Petersburg.

All Saints' chapel, which seats not quite 500, was filled half an hour before the time set for the ceremony and the guests as they waited, viewed a wealth of decoration in green and white. The walls and ceiling of the chapel were hung with vines, wreaths and white flowers, while the entire altar rail was covered with white roses. On the altar and chancel were suspended a large number of baskets filled with orchids, intermingled with a chime of snowy floral wedding bells. Large gardands of bride's roses depended from the bells to two Italian columns, forming a bower which almost hid from view the bridal party, as it stood at the altar. The only music was that of the organ, which gave out the notes of the "Lohengrin Wedding March" as the procession entered the church doors.

The bridal procession included only Miss Grant and her escort and the ushers, as there were no bridesmaids nor any maid of honor.

Yes, brother Deford, you had the first word and tho' the train has left the depot and the parting words all spoken, yet still you blaze away at the telegraph poles as the train speeds onward. Wait 'till the train returns, Mack; wait 'till the train returns. Died, on the 20th inst. Christian, Fiast, young son of Mr. and Mrs Samuel Frost. The child was attendedb by a farmer, who having the homeopathic outfit puts himself up as a doctor. For six days the little one suffered from cholera infantum under his skill (?) and being so weak then that swallowing was almost impossible they and he became alarmed and summoned a doctor, but it proved to be too late and the child rapidly sank till death closed the scene and left a childless home. 'Tis sad indeed that some are so thoughtless as to run the risk of the lives of precious ones because they fore described for less money. Their many friends sympathize with them in their sorrow.

It has been known for some time that Ian Maclaren has been critically tudying modern church methods, and the results are now to be made public in the Ladies' Home Journal. His first article is called "The Candy-Pull System in the Church," and in this he frankly states what many have felt but have scarcely ventured to publicly assert with regard to social tendencies of the church. The great English au thor will then handle "The Mutineer in the Church," and after that answer the somewhat startling question, Should the Old Minister be Shot?"

Got Em on the Hip. It looks as if the county treasurers and registers of deeds have the state tax commission on the hip. The statute creating the commission is silent regarding compensation for information furnished by these officials, and the law does not compel them to furnish it gratis. Many have already struck, and it seems as though the tax commissions must either have to do without the information or dig it out for themselves. The supreme court has passed upon this question in the case of County Clerk Gardner, of Newaygo vs. the county supervisors. WEDS HER PROSECUTOR.

That's What a Charlotte Woman Done After Serving 23 Years.

Mrs. Mary H. Brooks, of Charlotte, the first woman ever convicted of murder in Michigan, has married D. H. Stewart, the complaining witness whose testimony was largely responsible for her spending 23 years in Jackson prison. Simon Brooks, a wealthy resident of the western portion of Eaton county, died March 15, 1876, under mysterious circumstances. His widow, Mary Brooks, was arrested, charged with the murder on complaint of D. H. Stewart, a neighbor. At a special session of the grand jury to investigate the crime Mr. Stewart swore that he purchased a vial of arsenic, properly labeled poison. Mrs. Brooks, who was at his home, inquired as to the contents of the bottle, and he told her it was arsenic. Not having any occasion to use the poison on that day, he put it away. Mr. Brooks died soon afterward, and it was proved that his death was caused by arsenic poison. The bottle containing the poison was missing from Stewart's house, and he reported his loss to the county officials After a thorough search the empty vial was found in the Brooks residence. convicted Mrs. Brooks of murder in the first degree and she was sentenced to Jackson for life, but was pardoned after she had served 23 years.

There were 20,138 marriages returned by the county clerks to Secretary of State Stearns for the year 1898. This is the largest number ever recorded for a single year and represents a marriage rate of 16.9 per 1,000 population. The largest number of marriages took place in November, 2,264; while the smallest number, 1,302, was in February. Next to November, June and then October, seem to be the favorite months for marriage. The favorite ages were between 20 and 25 for both brides and grooms. Probably the oldest age at marriage on record occurred in a case reported from Washtenaw county, in which the age of the groom was given as 110 years, while the bride was 57.

It is estimated that Mason county fruit growers cut down 100,000 peach believing them to have been killed by the cold snap. It now develops that those trees remaining are bearing a fair crop, the value of which is $2 per bushel. The farmers claim they were induced to sacrifice the trees at the solicitation of nurserymen who thereby obtained an active market for young peach trees. There is wailing and gnashing of teeth in Mason county.

Fought Battles Between the Mexicans and Vaquis-An Earthquake in Asia Minor Killed 200 People.

Two Sharp Engagements.

Official reports of two battles beween Mexicans and Yaquis have been eccived. Gen. Luis Torres had declared the campaign suspended until October, but the Yaquis were not consulted on that point. Lorenzo Torres also appears to have made different arrangements. On Sept. 14 Lorenzo Torres crossed the river to Vicam, a own supposed to have been captured by Luis Torres in August, and found the Indians. They attacked his rear guard and a running fight ensued. The eport says the Indians were dispersed and nine killed. The Mexican loss was five killed and nine wounded, among the latter Lieut.-Col. Navarro officers on the Mexican side. On Sept. 18th another engagement was fought and it is officially announced that the Indians left 67 dead on the field, while the Mexican loss was 14 killed and 36. vounded.

The United States cruiser Charleston; the monitor Monterey and the gunboats Concord and Zafiro, with marines and blue jackets from the cruiser Baltimore, left Cavite Sept. 18 and proceeded to Subig Bay to destroy an insurgent cannon there. Owing to the bad weather the operation was postponed until Sept. 23d, when the warships for three hours bombarded the town of Olangapo and the entrenchments where the gun was situated. Men on the Charleston, Concord and Zafiro were then landed under a heavy insurgent fire, proceeding to the cannon they destroyed it with gun cotton and then returned to the warships. The Americans had one man woulded during the engagement. The number of Filipinos who took part could not be ascertained and no dead were seen. The Monterey fired for four hours 21 shots from her 10-inch guns and 17 from her 12-inch guns. The town, which was riddled with shells, took fire at several points.

The insurgents captured the United States gunboat Urdaneta, in the Orani river, on the nothwest side of Manila bay, where she was patrolling. One officer and nine of her crew are missing. The Urdaneta is beached opposite of the 11th battalion, one of the best the town of Orani, on the Orani river. Word has reached the war department that Gen. Otis has sought to imitate the policy employed in Cuba of buying Filipino arms. The natives were given to understand that on surrender of a gun the military authorities would pay $40 and guarantee immunity from arrest for previous armed opposition to the United States and protection for the future. Notwithstanding this tempting offer, but one bona fide surrender of a gun is reported.

Recently Commander Davidson of the little gunboat Paragua, had a sharp engagement at San Fabian, Lingayen gulf, with about 300 insurgents heavily intrenched at a distance of from 1,100 to 700 yards. The insurgents fled, their fire being weak and ineffective. On the Paragua there were no casualities. The Paragua is one of the little gunboats turned over to the army by Admiral Watson, and Davidson, the commander, is a young ensign.

A party of insurgents ditched a railroad train a mile and a half south of Angeles on the 22d and then opened fire on the derailed cars from a bamboo thicket close to the track. killing two Americans and wounding five others. Lieut. Lome and five of his scouts, who were on the train, made a vigorous defense and caused the enemy to flee. Six dead rebels were afterward found in the thicket from which the rebel fire came.

The war department has information concerning the escape from Aguinaldo of Dr. Gonzalez and Sr. Ronifacio Arcvalo. A GIRL'S STRATAGEM.

"Kate," said Levia Winslow, looking half-defiantly at her cousin, "I won't stand papa's opposition to Harry any longer. You know Harry is a perfect gentleman honorable and industrious. and it is only because he is comparatively poor that papa objects to my marrying him."

"But what can you do, Levia? Your father is as determined that you and Harry shall not marry as you seem to be contrary-minded," Kate Winslow said, smiling at her cousin's desperate air. Levia came closer and whispered in Kate's ear:

"We're going to elope! And you must help us-won't you, dear?"

"Don't, darling; don't think of such a thing. Wait and try persuasion with your father. When he finds out that your heart is really set on Harry he surely will relent," pleaded Kate earnestly, for she knew how hot-headed her Kentucky uncle was and feared the result of an elopement.

"Pshaw! Kate, I've tried persuasion and everything else until I'm tired, and I promised Harry last night that you and I would go to Louisville Thursday on the morning train. He and Phil Lee will get on at La Grange and we will go over to Jeffersonville and get that famous squire to marry us. Then Harry and I will begin life together on his little farm and be happy ever afterward," she ended, with a delighted laugh

Kate argued with her for some time, but finding that her cousin had fully determined upon the elopement she at last gave a reluctant assent to accompany her, hoping that all would be for the best.

Had it not been that she knew that Harry Carroll was all that Levia fondly pictured him, she would never have consented; but she knew that it was which caused Judge Winslow's objection to the match, and she believed that Harry would make her cousin happier than any one whom the judge might choose.

The plan worked smoothly, and Thursday, at noon, two young men, accompanied by two charming, pretty girls, stepped off the train at the Louisville & Nashville depot in Louisville. As they did so they noticed a policeman among the crowd, holding a telegram in his hand. When he saw the little group he started toward them. "It's all up with us, Levia," groaned

"WHERE IS LEVIA?"

Harry; "your father has found us out and telegraphed them to stop us." Levia began to cry, but Kate, speak ing very rapidly, said:

'No, it's not all up. Keep quiet and I believe I can manage it. Don't any of you show surprise no matter what

T do." The policeman came up at this moment and, touching his hat politely

"Very sorry to interrupt you, but I am ordered to stop an eloping party and take Miss Levia Winslow into custody until her father arrives to take her home. Now, which of these young ladies is it, for I'm sure this is the party? 'Shirt waist, dark skirt, sailor hat, dark hair and eyes; 19 years old." he read from his telegram. "The description suits either of you ladies," he said, with a twinkle in his this state during the last half century. eyes, "so you'll have to help me out."

At these words Kate sprang forward, and throwing her arms around Harry's claimed: "You shan't take me away from him! How dare you interfere!'

"Come, Miss Winslow," he said, coolly, "I am authorized to arrest you and must do my duty. Your friends may go ployes of the farm owners, working free, as they are not included in the order."

Kate fell back and spoke a few words whispered to Levia and Kate turned reluctantly to the officer.

"I suppose I can't escape you," she said, laughing ruefully, "but I warn you I will accomplish my object yet." She kissed Harry good-by very affectionately, promising to be true to him forever, bade Levia and Philip good-by, and went to the station house with the officer. The latter was much relieved for he had expected trouble, as he feared the prospective groom would be armed. "I don't believe he deserved her, after all," he said to himself. "She's a mighty handsome girl, but he made ful.-Joseph D. Sayers, Governor of very little fuss about having her torn Texas, in Collier's Weekly. away from him."

Two hours later Judge Winslow, red and angry-for he had nursed his foin the girls on the train at La tion. Grange, disclosed the elopementrushed into the room at the station house to upbraid his undutiful daughter. He found only his niece, Kate, in the room, coolly reading a paper. "Where is Levia?" he gasped in dis-

"Well, my dear uncle," said Kate, calmly, "I am not sure, but I think that Mr. and Mrs. Harry Carroll are just leaving the city for their country home. At least," looking at her watch, "it is just train time."

"What do you mean, girl?" cried the judge, redder and angrier than ever. "I mean this, uncle," Kate answered bravely, "that, as the policeman could not tell us apart, I assumed Levia's name and came to the station house as a prisoner and left her and Harry to carry out their plans. Now, uncle, be angry if you want to, but be angry with me, and do not destroy Levia's happiness by uttering words you will some day repent."

The judge was so astonished at Kate's stratagem that he cooled down a little and she took advantage of this to plead powerfully for the young couple, pointing out the good points in Harry's character, and depicting the love he bore for Levia so skillfully that Judge Winston finally said:

"You should have been a man, Kate, and studied law, for I think you would have made a success. At least you have made me suspend judgment upon these young culprits, and I will punish Levia only by receiving you into the place she formerly occupied in my heart."

Kate smiled happily as she prepared to return home with her uncle, for she well knew that no human being could ever take the place in his affections which belonged to his only child. And she was correct in her judgment, for her uncle allowed his natural generosity to triumph over his offended pride and received Mr. and Mrs. Harry Carroll kindly when they came the next day to beg for his forgiveness. Kate, who insisted that she was the real culonly a lack of riches in the suitor | prit, was as freely forgiven on condition that she would take part in no more elopements.

SUCCESS IN FICTION.

gard it as Their Chief Mission.

The Best Writers Are Those Who Re-

Mr. James Bryce, who has achieved fame as an essayist on economic problems and as a political analyist, contemplates devoting his pen to fiction, says a writer in the St. Louis Republic. It is not stated whether his motive is amusement or profit. Perhaps it is a mixture of both. If he achieves popular applause, he will disclose a versatility unsuspected by those who have perused his efforts along the more serious lines of literature. It appears that nearly all literary men at some time in their lives have been attracted toward the task of making novels. The tuneful and witty Dr. Holmes yielded to the temptation, and Lowell was credited with a strong hankering. The erudite and didactic George Willtious regard for the reading public by not repeating the offense. Bayard Taylor also invaded the field with much promise of success, but wisely concluded that the novelists' vocation did not fit his talents. There have been several noted writers of English who might have proved shining successes as novelists. Among them might be classed the brilliant and meteoric Macaulay, whose thrilling prose and inspiring verse indicate the possession of those qualities of narration and imagination which are perhaps the most effective weapons in the armory of the novel writer. Yet, Macaulay's luster as a historian was so great that he might have dimmed it by essaying fiction. Froude, who was a master of prose, failed in the domain of novel writing. The general consensus of critics seems to be that, while the novelist's faculty is not altogether denied to men great in other departments of literature, its best rewards come to those who feel it to be their chief mission.

Only Twelve Deaths Last Week Among 30,000 Men.

LOWEST RATE EVER KNOWN.

The Record Is Unprecedented for Large Body of Men in Tropical Service -Forces in Good Condition for the Coming Campaign.

Washington, Sept. 26.—The reports alleging that an appalling number of the American soldiers in the Philippines are sick are without foundation. the weekly death reports from Gen. Otis having shown a remarkably low rate of disease among the men. The report for the week just closed was received by telegraph from Gen. Otis Sunday. It contains only twelve names, all that were reported for the seven days ended Saturday, and one of the deaths was due to accidental drowning.

With more than 30,000 soldiers in the field during a season marked by an almost unprecedented fall of rain, the small number of deaths has encouraged the war department officials to believe that the army in the Philippines will be in fine shape for the fall campaign. The death rate of the American army in the Philippines is the lowest, for so large a body of men, ever made in tropical service.

The alleged friction between the army and navy at Manila has been happily ended, according to the understanding here. The first sign of a resumption of most cordial relations between the two branches of the military service has been the action of Major-Gen. Otis in placing under control of the navy military operations in this has been followed by the purely naval expedition to Subig bay, where a battalion of marines was landed to drive back the insurgents, who had attempted to fortify that splendid har-

If any serious trouble existed between the army and the navy, it came from the failure of the navy to secure a more active part in the operations around Manila, and it is known that there was some feeling displayed by naval men from the belief that an attempt was made to rob the navy of its proper credit in the assault on Iloilo. Everything is apparently running and naval men are very much gratified, No further friction is anticipated.

In view of the decision of Gen. Otis to let the navy look after most of Cavite province, Brig.-Gen. Haywood, commandant of the marine corps, has recommended to the navy department that the garrison of marines at the Cavite naval station be increased by another battalion. This will give a force of about 1,000 marines. CAPTURED BY INSURGENTS.

American Boat Urdaneta Beached in Orani River.

CREW DEAD OR PRISONERS.

Vessel Found Burned and Her Guns and Ammunition Taken-Inhabitants of Negros Announce Their Willingness to Surrender.

Manila, Sept. 26.—The insurgents have captured the United States gunboat Urdaneta in the Orani river, on the northwest side of Manila bay, where she was patroling. One officer and nine of her crew are missing.

The United States gunboat Petrel, sent to investigate the matter, returned and reported that the Urdaneta is beached opposite the town of Orani, on the Orani river. She was riddled with known as Juan Maldonda, is not dead. bullets and burned, and the following be unable to preside over the next guns, with their ammunition, were captured: A 1-pounder, one Colt automatic gun and one Nordenfeldt 25- millimeter gun.

The crew of the Urganeta are prisoners, or have been killed.

Washington, Sept. 26.-The gunboat Urdanet, which was captured with her crew at Orani, about twenty-five miles from Manila on the bay of Manila, is a little craft of only forty tons displacement, not much larger than a small tug. She was captured by the navy early in the war and has been on nolice duty in the bay for months past. The records of the navy department show that she was one of the boats of which the Oregon is the parent ship. That is, she was supposed to draw all of her supplies from the battleship, to be manned from the Oregon's crew, and to act under the instructions of the Oregon's commander. According to the last reports to the department, the little boat was last May under the command of Naval Cadet Welborn C. Wood, but the personnel of the crew is not a matter of record, being subject to frequent changes. Wood was appointed to the naval academy from Oregon, had passed his academic course and was performing two years' sea service at the time of his capture.

Naturally the department officials are vexed that the difficulties of the negotiations looking to the release of Lieut. Gilmore of the Yorktown and his men should be added to by this last misfortune. Still there is no disposition unnecessarily to curb the junior officers of the navy, who are rendering such gallant service in the Philippines.

Two important dispatches from Gen. Otis at Manila were made public by the war department to-day. The first indicates that the insurgents on the island of Negros are about to recognize the authority of the United States. An ing him to continue to resist Great election in Negros will be held Oct. 2. Britain's covetous policy. The dispatch follows:

"Manila Sent 23 --- Ad Washington: Hugnes, Iloilo, reports that Lopez and sixty-four armed men surrendered to Byrne at Castellano, Negros. An election will be held in that island Oct. 2. Sought conference. The chief insurgents of Panay wished to know what promise could be given them in case of formal submission. Were told that no arrangements were possible until they surrendered and their force disbanded. OTIS." The second dispatch says the American flag will be raised in Sulu island. The chief insurgents in Zamboanga are reported willing to accept the authority of the United States, but desire to name conditions, which Gen. Otis would not accept. The second dispatch follows: "Manila, Sept. 24.—Aujutant-General, Washington: - Bates returned from Jolo 21st inst., having placed garrisons at Siassi and Bungam, Tawai Tawi group; one company at each place. Affairs in the archipelago are satisfactory. Bates saw the chief insurgents at Zamboanga, who are still anxious to receive the United States garrison on condition of withdrawal should Aguinaldo succeed in Luzon. The proposition was not entertained. Zamboanga is having trouble with more Datos in the vicinity who have raised the United States flag. Dato Cagayan of Sulu island visited Jolo and gave adhesion and desired to raise the American flag instead of the Spanish flag on the island. The American flag will be raised there. Ready to give six months' notice in order to establish in the archipelago customs regulations under the protocol between Spain, Germany and Great Britain of 1885. Bates' report by mail. OTIS."

To Carry Their Guns in Parade. San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 26.-The Minnesota volunteers now at the Presidio have turned over their guns to Gen. Lind of Minnesota. They will be kept under guard and forwarded with the troops, so that they may carry them when they parade on their arrival in St. Paul and Minneapolis. The arms will then be returned to the United States government at the Rock Island arsenal.

OTIS TO STAY WHERE HE IS.

No Likelihood of a Change.

Washington, Sept. 26.—The president has decided to retain Gen. Otis in command in the Philippines. A member of the cabinet said Saturday that there was not the slightest possibility that the president would supersede him or curtail his duties. The same cabinet member added that Gen. Miles could go to the Philippines if he desired. The general stated some time ago that he was anxious to go, but has not communicated his wishes to the president. The same authority said that the commanding general could arrange his own plans, and while the president did not propose to order him to the Philippines, he would not interfere if he decided to go.

HOBART MAY NOT PRESIDE.

Vice-President Will Perhaps Have to Stay Away from the Senate. Paterson, N. J., Sept. 26 .- It is possible that Vice-President Hobart may session of the United States senate. More than that, it now is recognized as a serious probability that he will not be in physical condition to accept a renomination as the running mate of President McKinley in the next national campaign.

This will be news of serious importance to the members of the republican committee and to the delegates to the next national convention of the Illinois Bankers to Meet. Chicago, Sept. 26.—Arrangements for the ninth annual convention of the Bankers' association of the state of Illinois has been practically completed by the local committee. It will be held in this city Oct. 5 and 6, and it is expected that nearly 1,500 bankers from all parts of the state will be present to attend the convention and remain for the subsequent festivities of Chicago day and the fall fete.

Peace Meeting a Failure.

London, Sept. 26.-Fifty thousand Londoners at the peace demonstration in Trafalgar square Sunday to a man yelled for war, and it took a hundred mounted police and a battalion of foot to prevent a foretaste of actual hostilities.

The leaders of the peace party only saved their lives by abrupt flight under police escort. The remarkable scene cannot fail to influence the Transvaal negotiations.

Germans Demand Intervention Berlin, Sept. 26.—At a nationalistic meeting in Berlin Sunday a telegram to the emperor, demanding Germany's intervention in behalf of the Transvaal, was voted unanimously. By another unanimous vote a telegram was ordered sent to President Kruger urg-

Berlin, Sept. 26.—Semi-official articles in the newspapers consistently insist that although Germany sympathizes with the Boers this feeling must not be allowed to interfere with or influence the policy of the government, which undoubtedly does not contemplate the slightest interference on behalf of the Transvaal.

McGovern Signs to Meet Dixon. New York, Sept. 26.-The Lenox Athletic club has secured the twentyfive-round bout between Terry Mc-Govern and George Dixon, for which the club will hang up a purse of $10,-000. WARSHIPS NEED REPAIRS.

The Work Will Cost Several Million Dollars.

ADMIRAL DEWEY'S VESSELS.

Secretary Long Has Approved the Making of the Repairs to the Cruiser Raleigh-Olympia Will Cost $500,000 for Needed Changes.

New York, Sept. 26.—A special to the Herald from Washington says: "It is already apparent to naval experts that the government will have to spend several million dollars in refitting for active service the vessels which comprised Admiral Dewey's fleet when it destroyed Spain's naval power in the far east. Secretary Long has approved the making of repairs to the cruiser Raleigh, which will cost approximately $500,000. The report of the board of survey which inspected the cruiser Boston, lately returned to the United States and now out of commission at Mare island, shows that another $500,-000 will have to be spent upon that vessel in order to put her in condition for recommission. Reports received at the department regarding the condition of the cruiser Olympia show that she will have to be laid up for some time, and naval experts estimate that before she is again in service she will have cost the government not less than $500,000 to repair. "The repairs to the Boston will be thorough, and when completed she will be a modern ship. The repairs contemplated will cause her reconstruction, as in the case of her sister ship, the Atlanta. She will be equipped with water tube boilers and be supplied with a new battery of the latest eight-inch and six-inch guns. "It is understood that before final action is taken in the matter of the Boston's repairs Rear-Admiral Hichborn will bring the report of the board of survey to the attention of the board of construction. The board of survey estimates that a year's time will be necessary to reconstruct the Boston, but it is the belief of the department officials that two years will have passed before she is again ready for serv-When the Olympia arrives in port a board of survey will be appointed and its report will be considered by the department."

President Lockwood Calls on Opponents of Monopolies to Unite. Zelienople, Pa., Sept. 26.—President M. L. Lockwood of the American Anti-Trust league has issued a call to the friends of the anti-trust movement to organize local leagues and send to him names from which to select vice presidents to represent their states in a proposed national convention. In his circular Mr. Lockwood says:

The anti-trust league is nonpartisan. We call all American freemen to council: if a democrat or a populist or a republican public man has shown himself to be a subservient tool of this great corporate power, then all the united power of all the men of the American Anti-Trust league will be used to crush him and drive him from public life. We will adopt the tactics of our enemy until we have created a legislative, judicial and executive power in sympathy with the public welfare. And we call upon every American citizen who loves his country and the great principles of popular government better than he does his party to join us in the work of re-establishing the equal rights and equal opportunities of American citizenship."

Plumbers at Peoria.

Peoria, Ill., Sept. 26.—Delegates from many parts of the United States and Canada filled the council chamber of the city hall at 10 o'clock this morning when the tenth international convention of the United Association of Journeymen Plumbers, Gas and Steam Fitters was called to order by the president, John S. Kelly of Chicago. The delegates were cordially welcomed by Mayor Henry W. Lynch. The pumpkin pie social given by the Epworth League at the home of A. Randall, west of town, last Friday evening, was a decided success as to attendance and the young peoble had an enjoyable time. A few young stripling youths carried hilarity too far and should be treated to a liberal dose of their mother's slipper until they can conduct themselves in a little more gentlemanly manner. When anyone throws open their home for such a gathering it is certainly very belittling for anyone to do that which injures or mars the furnishings. The League treasury was enriched by about $10.
